CANADIAN WOMAN IS HELD AS SOVIET SPY

SECRET TRIAL TO HOLD FATE OF 30 OTHERS

PARIS, March 15.—Benjamin Bercowitz, 42, Rumanian-born naturalized Canadian, formerly of Montreal, and his wife Clara, 30, were indicted with 30 others today as members of an alleged Soviet spy ring. The others include Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gordon Switz of East Orange, New York.

Magistrate Michel Benon, the examiner, sent the cases to the correctional court expected to begin early in April. The prosecution may order secret trials. Some of the accused have been held in prison for examination as long as 15 months.

MARJORIE SWITZ

After a year's imprisonment in France, Marjorie Tilley Switz, the 22-year-old American girl and Vassar graduate, and her husband now face trial also on espionage charges. Their Paris apartment was raided by French police, who found suspicious documents behind a bureau, and unexplained sums of cash in their possession.

After the couple's imprisonment, French secret police gave out information purporting to connect them with an elaborate international plot to steal French military secrets. A movie film from Switzerland, falling into the hands of French police, was found to bear Robert Gordon Switz's fingerprints, but the American claimed he knew nothing of the military content of the film or of the papers found in his apartment.

The mysterious movements of himself and Mrs. Switz, and their money, he explained as incident to his job as salesman for American aviation equipment.

After numerous examinations by French judges, during one of which the Switzes were reported to have confessed having acted as "go-betweens" among known spies, both approached final trial with complete denials of any part in espionage.

Princess Ingrid Will Become Winsome Bride Of Prince Frederik

May Be Queen Of Denmark Some Day

PRINCESS INGRID.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, March 15.—The "love match" engagement of Princess Ingrid, second daughter of Crown Prince Gustaf Adolf of Sweden, and Crown Prince Frederik of Denmark and Iceland, was officially announced today.

The date for the wedding was not immediately announced.

Prince Frederik arrived from Copenhagen yesterday.

Although rumors were widespread that his engagement was imminent, court circles refused to confirm the reports "until the proper moment," even requesting Swedish newspapers not to drop any hint of the romantic tidings.

Outstanding in her charm and beauty in a family noted for many beautiful princesses, the golden haired Ingrid is 24 years old.

She inherits from her grandfather, King Gustav, a keen love of sports. Brought up with four brothers, she always has been fond of tennis, motoring, dancing and riding.

Frederik, at 36, is tall and handsome. He is great-nephew of the late Queen Alexandra and a second cousin of the Prince of Wales.

The Crown Prince had been engaged in 1922 to Princess Olga of Greece, a sister of the Duchess of Kent, but the match was broken off after six months.

The engagement is regarded in political circles as of unique importance since the marriage will serve to bind the royal families of Sweden and Denmark even more closely.

End Seen In Special Price Cuts

By THOS. WAYLING
Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

OTTAWA, March 15—Specific and drastic steps to eliminate the evils revealed by the mass buying and price spreads investigation are being recommended by Hon. H. H. Stevens to the commission for inclusion in its report to parliament.

Among the measures suggested by Mr. Stevens are:

1—Abolition of all discounts.

2—Abolition of all rebates and discounts in excess of 5 per cent. in total.

3—Application of special domestic dumping duties to eliminate special prices to mass buyers.

4—Application of income tax regulations to compel holding companies to pay tax on the individual earnings of the unit companies, instead of on a consolidated balance sheet.

The commission will study the suggestions over the week end.

Mr. Stevens believes their adoption would go far to remedy the existing situation and establish fair and just practices in the marketing and distributions systems of Canada.

DUMP DUTIES

The most drastic provisions in Mr. Stevens' suggestions is the one providing for domestic dump duties. It provided that where any articles sold at less than its fair market value in normal commercial practice, the difference shall be assessed as a tax. This practice is followed with imported commodities.

Mr. Stevens' objective in this respect is to put an end to special price cuts on quantity purchases. He would eliminate all rebates, special discounts, advertising and display allowances either in goods or cash by making them illegal if they represent more than 5 per cent. of the fair market value of the goods.

This would recognize the prin-

Admiralty Lord Brands War Idea Base, Senseless

Hope Expressed Spirit Of Washington Naval Treaty Can in Some Way be Perpetuated.

LONDON, March 15.—The British House of Commons early today voted its approval, 158 to 48, of naval estimates for 1935 amounting to £60,050,000 ($291,843,000 at par), an increase of £3,500,000 over last year.

The vote came after Sir Bolton Eyres-Monsell, first lord of the admiralty, expressed the hope that the principle of the Washington treaty in some manner could be perpetuated in order that the navies of the great powers may continue regulated by international agreement.

Introducing the naval estimates for the coming fiscal year Sir Bolton also stressed Britain's desire to see the size of battleships, cruisers, and their respective guns reduced by joint agreement.

STILL HOLDS HOPE

He announced the preliminary conversations with other naval powers to prepare the ground for "the approaching naval conference" had been of good service, establishing the friendliest contact with all

MYSTERY VEILS DEATH OF GIRL IN CHICKEN PEN

15-Year-Old Elsie Dyer is Found With Gaping Wound in Head

SASKATOON, March 15—With an open wound in her forehead and her body half covered with feathers, Elsie Dyer, 15-year-old Separate school pupil, was found dead in the poultry killing pen of a local packing building at 10 o'clock this morning. The girl disappeared when she was sent by her father to a corner grocery, a block from home, last night for a package of tobacco.

She obtained the tobacco but failed to return home and her disappearance was reported to the police at midnight.

Coroner A. H. Armitage ordered the corpse removed to a morgue, where he followed to continue his examination. Dr. W. S. Lindsay, dean of medicine at the University of Saskatchewan and the pathologist in many police investigations, is being called in to assist.

Armitage said there was sufficient injury from the wound in the head to cause death.

CHANGE DATES HOCKEY SERIES

HALIFAX, March 15—Changes in the playing dates of semi-final and final games for the Canadian amateur hockey championship were announced today by Manager Jack Conn of the Halifax Wolverines.

The Allan cup games, all in Halifax, will be played on these dates.

Eastern semi-finals: April 4 and 6. Finals: April 8 and 10.

Previously, the Canadian Amateur Hockey association had set March 30 and April 1 as the semi-finals dates and April 4 and 6 as the days for the final games.

The eastern semi-finals will be between the Maritime champions and the Ontari-Quebec titlists, and the winners of the total-goal series will go up against the western champions.

The Maritime crown lies between the Wolverines, Class "A" champions, and Edmundston, N.B., Eskimos, who will meet in their first game at Edmundston next Tuesday. The second will be played here on Thursday.

CAPONE IN BLACK HOLE OF ALCATRAZ

SAN FRANCISCO, March 15.—A prison official at grim Alcatraz Island disclosed yesterday that Al Capone recently was sent to solitary confinement for four days because of a fistic encounter with another convict.

The official said Capone struck at a fellow prisoner after an argument. Guards separated the prisoners and consigned them both to dungeons.

KIDNAP CASE PROVES HOAX

WILMINGTON, Del., March 15.—Public Safety Superintendent Geo. Black today said that Chester Hyde, found bound and gagged here after being reported kidnapped, has admitted the abduction story he told was a "fake."

"The boy has admitted it was a fake," Black stated. "He said he had been writing letters to his stepfather asking for money."

BIG AIRPLANE ON WAY HERE

WINNIPEG, March 15.—Piloted by W. Leigh Brintnell, president of Mackenzie Air Service, and carrying a number of passengers, one of Canada's largest and fastest air cruisers took off from here shortly after noon today for Edmonton.

Named the "Eldorado Radium-Silver Express," the huge Bellanco airplane is destined for service in the mining areas of Northern Alberta. It arrived here Tuesday, after a flight from the factory in New Jersey.

Mr. Brintnell said he did not plan a non-stop direct flight to the Alberta capital, but was uncertain where he would land enroute. He favored Regina as a refuelling point. The plane had been held here by unfavorable weather,

MACMILLAN APPEAL WILL GO TO COURT

Neil D. Maclean Says Formalities Ensue Next Week

Neil D. Maclean, K.C., announced on Thursday that final arrangements have been made for appealing the February 2 decision of the Alberta Appeal court in the MacMillan Brownlee seduction case to the Supreme Court of Canada. The appeal formalities will be complied with during the ensuing week.

On February 2, by a majority judgment the provincial appeal court set aside damage awards assessed by the jury which tried the case, awarding Vivian MacMillan $10,000 seduction damage. This was effected by the appeal court finding in favor of ex-Premier J. E. Brownlee, who appealed against the verdict—and in addition, the appeal court assessed the costs of appeal against the girl.

Since the appeal court ruling, The Bulletin sponsored a public subscription "appeal fund" in behalf of the MacMillans. This is followed by the announcement of Mr. Maclean that an appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada has been assured—and will be entered next week.

TODAY'S ODDEST NEWS

MAN KILLED AS MULE ATTACKS CAR ON ROAD

BOURBON, Mo., March 15—Fred Harman was killed and Ray Johnson was critically injured when a mule attacked their car on a road near here. The mule was walking down the road and as the automobile came along the animal jumped on the machine and pawed the two occupants, crushing Harman's skull. Johnson suffered several broken bones and lacerations. Harman died en route to a hospital.

MONEY FOR EARLY BIRDS FOUND IN CITY GUTTERS

MILLARSBURG, O., March 15—If you watch the street gutters, you may find quite a bit of money. Ben Johnson does.

Last year Johnson found $96.83 and so far this year he's picked up another $7 during early morning tours along the town's principal streets.

FOUR KILLED IN NUPTIAL MARCH

AJMER, Rajputana, India, March 15.—Four persons were killed and 150 injured in the stampede of a marriage procession today at Rupaneli Thikani, in the state of Udapiur, when the guests were thrown into a panic by the premature explosion of fireworks which were to have been used in the course of the wedding ceremony.

Five Tiny Baby Girls To Become Wards Of His Majesty The King

TORONTO, March 15 — Five little girls squirmed and tossed in their hospital-home at Callander today completely unaware they were about to become "special wards of His Majesty the King."

Action of Ontario's legislators was to place the babies, quintuplet daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Oliva Dionne, under special guardianships of minister of welfare David A. Croll.

Third reading of the government bill, designed to establish the guardianships was scheduled for today and after royal assent has been received the wardship will be a reality.

For two hours yesterday the legislature discussed in committee the provisions of "the Dionne Quintuplet Guardianship Act of 1935" and despite opposition from the Conservative minority the bill passed through without amendment.

"This bill is going through in its present form without dotting an 'i' or crossing a 't'," the premier declared after Conservatives had assailed provisions which gave Mr. Croll power over the persons and estates of the babies until they are 18.

While the legislative battle raged, grey-haired Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe, the babies' physician, sat in the side-lines philosophically viewing the spectacle. He had no comment to make on it last night.

Oliva Dionne, father of the quintuplets, and Leo Kerwin, his manager, were in the city yesterday, reportedly intent on having the government reconsider its intention of placing the babies inder strict guardianship. Earlier in the week he had said his family would be split in two if the bill passed.

OTTAWA WILL PROBE ALBERTA COAL WEIGHTS

Shortweight Complaints Said Due to Railway Methods

OTTAWA, March 15—A full investigation into complaints that coal was being sold shortweight in the province of Alberta was promised last night by Hon. R. B. Hanson, minister of trade and commerce.

When Mr. Hanson's estimates were before the house of commons Robert Gardiner, United Farmer member for Acadia, said there was much dissatisfaction in the province over the method of weighing coal.

The coal, he said, was not weighed at the mines but weighed in the cars by the railway companies. He understood the cars were not stopped on the scales but moved slowly over them during weighing operations and that this caused the short weight. The dealers in turn had to give short weights to their customers in order not to lose money.

EXPORTS TAKE BIG INCREASE

OTTAWA, March 15.—The department of National Revenue today issued a statement showing Canadian exports in February were worth $46,719,461, compared with $37,842,403 in February, 1934, while imports for consumption were worth $37,053,287, compared with $33,591,884 in the corresponding month of 1934. The favorable trade balance for the month was $9,666,174.

Veniot Loads Gun For Mountie Probe In Ottawa House

OTTAWA, March 15—Hon. Peter Veniot, former postmaster-general, Thursday began collecting ammunition for the investigation into the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

He asked for a copy of the evidence and report on his earlier charges of third degree methods adopted by the red coats in Bathurst, N.B., and his charge that patrol boats lay at anchor in Shippegan harbor while smugglers were active a short distance away.

The former postmaster-general also sought a copy of the contract under which the R.C.M.P. took over law enforcement in New Brunswick.

24-Day Strike Underground Is Winning Factor

KATOWICE, Poland, March 15.—Thirty pallid, exhausted miners came up from the Louise mine at Katowice Thursday winners of a 24-day strike conducted underground.

Protesting against non-payment of salary arrears, the miners grimly barred themselves in the lower galleries in mid-February, announcing their intention of remaining until their demands were met.

ASSASSINATION IBN SAUD FAILS

MECCA, Kingdom of Saudi-Arabia, March 15.—Three men, said to be from Yemen, were shot and killed today while attempting, authorities said, to assassinate King Ibn Saud.

Police said the men, armed with daggers, attempted to stab the king, but his bodyguards shot them down before they could reach the monarch.

COAST COUNCIL FOR HOIST OF PART INTEREST

McGeer Plan Suspends All Over Three Per Cent. For Two Years

VANCOUVER, March 15.—Suspension of interest payments more than three per cent on Vancouver's bonded debt from March 31 of this year to March 31, 1937, was approved Thursday by the city council for presentation to the private bills committee of the British Columbia legislature.

Under the plan submitted by Mayor G. G. McGeer, the council would be given legal power to make the interest suspension without running the risk of court action, provided it agreed to pay off the balance of the interest at the expiration of two years.

Mr. McGeer contended the plan offered no grounds for charges of default or repudiation but was a mere postponement of interest payments.

Sweeping revisions to the city charter were approved by the council and will be submitted to the private bills committee by a council delegation Friday.

LOCAL AIRMAN STILL DELAYED

WINNIPEG, March 15—Canada's newest addition to her far north air fleet, the "Eldorado Radium-Silver Express," remained on the ground here today. W. L. Brintell, of Mackenzie Air Service, who will pilot the big air cruiser to Edmonton, was uncertain if weather conditions would permit a take-off today. The ship has been weather-bound here since Tuesday.

Month's Leave Given McGeer

VANCOUVER, March 15.—Mayor G. G. McGeer will leave here March 21 for Montreal to attend the mayors' conference in that city March 25. The city council Thursdaf granted the mayor a month's leave of absence, as he expects to deliver a series of addresses in eastern cities.

Girl Dead From Playmate's Shove

CHICAGO, March 15.—Gladys Vedrine, 10, pushed in play by a schoolmate, died of skull fracture suffered when she fell in the yard of the Anderson school.

She said she had first pushed John Mocka, 11, and that she struck her head on the ground when he playfully retaliated.

WILEY POST ON RECORD FLIGHT FOR NEW YORK

Courageous Flier Takes Off on His Second Air Epic

LOS ANGELES, March 15.—Wiley Post, noted round the world flier, took off from Union air terminal at Burbank today on his second attempt to span the continent in eight hours or less in a 2,447-mile flight through the stratosphere to New York City.

The Oklahoma pilot waved "so long" to a group of sleepy-eyed well-wishers at the field and roared away in his globe-girdling plane, the "Winnie Mae."

Post's first cross-country stratosphere dash several weeks ago ended abruptly when he set his motor-troubled ship down on the Mojave desert less than an hour away from Los Angeles.

He expected today to travel through less restricted regions of the upper air at a speed of around 350 miles an hour "or more"—something like six miles a minute.

Post dropped the "Winnie Mae's" retractable landing gear as the ship left the ground, and will land on the plane's belly when he reaches Floyd Bennett field in New York City.

PETER VERIGIN GOES TO JAIL

WINNIPEG, March 15. — Peter Verigin, head of Canada's Doukhobors, was safely lodged in jail today, but will serve only a two-months' sentence, and not three months as previously believed.

It was learned today Verigin was sentenced to two months in jail in police court here last December 15 on an assault charge, but the sentence was erroneously reported as three months.

Red Bullet Plane Builder Succumbs

VARESE, Italy, March 15—Guillio Marchi, aeronautical engineer who built the "Red Bullet" plane in which Lieut. Francesco Agello established a world speed record in April, 1933, died suddenly of a broken blood vessel.

Marchi built many Italian Schneider Cup entries.

SUPERVISED SWEEPSTAKES MEET FAVOR

Legislature Discusses Lotteries and Possibility of Authorization

Possibility of the legislature forwarding a resolution to the Dominion government suggesting administrative supervision of sweepstakes and lotteries, was indicated in a discussion held in the house on Thursday during the time members, in committee of the whole, dealt with amendments to the Summary Convictions Act.

While authorization of such supervision lies with the Dominion, the discussion indicated that many members favored such supervision.

The subject was brought up by Hugh J. Montgomery, Liberal, Wetaskiwin, who asked if the government was ready to make a declaration as to whether it would stand behind the Criminal Code ruling that "informers" on sweepstake winners kept the money.

Hon. J. F. Lymburn, K.C., attorney-general, said he would be glad

MINE ENVOYS WILL PAY VISIT TO FLIN FLON

Lake Athabasca Developments Told at Convention

WINNIPEG, March 15.—Canada's most successful mining convention closed today when a trainload of delegates left for Flin Flon to see a $32,000,000 mining and smelting investment which took over seven years to complete and which has already paid out over $12,000,000 in wages.

As a result of the mining development within its borders Manitoba is no longer worrying about wheat prices in order to balance its business budget, delegates were informed.

Saskatchewan had an active and intelligent delegation at the convention, headed by the minister of natural resources, which succeeded in putting their province on the mineral map of Canada, the developments at Lake Athabasca capturing the imagination of the mining men who predict great activity there this spring and summer.

The federal government delegation was headed by Deputy Minister of Mines Camsell and Dr. Kydd, who dealt with the geology of the North West Territories.

Southern Alberta was represented by a strong delegation from the coal mining districts and Col. J. K. Cornwall of Edmonton hammered home the advantages of Edmonton and McMurray as bases of operations for the mining companies who will be following up the developments in the Lake Athabasca and Great Bear Lake areas, pointing out the commercial and transportation facilities which were already available and fully capable of meeting all demands made upon them.

DOG DECIDES WHO'S OWNER

NEW YORK, March 15.—As two aviators disputed his ownership, Mike, an English wirehaired terrier, really decided the issue before Magistrate Brodsky in West Side court.

The dog sat contentedly in the lap of Robert G. Lyons, quietly munching cheese as Lyons asserted Mike, now ten years old, was his property.

At the bar of justice, too, stood James C. Mars, another aviator and engineer, making sounds and signs to which Mike paid no attention. There was more cheese in Lyon's hand.

Mars was in court on a summons taken out by Lyons. The latter asserted that, as he was walking the dog a stranger approached and handed him a bill for $999, said to be due Mars for care of the dog.

Lyons said that as he was reading the statement, Mrs. Mars approached and spirited Mike away in a taxi.

Flight Delayed

OAKLAND, Cal., March 15.—Adverse weather conditions today caused postponement of an ocean test flight by the United States government's robot-controlled radio compass plane after the ship had been loaded with sufficient gasoline to carry it the 2,400 miles to Honolulu.

The cocoon silk of spiders was used to make gloves and stockings as early as 1709 in France. Seven thousand spiders were required to weave a pound of the silk, and the experiment proved disappointing.

delegations. His statement indicated that officially Great Britain is not ready to admit no agreement can be reached on a substitute for the Washington naval treaty, limiting capital ships, or the London treaty limiting smaller vessels, both of which instruments expire on Dec. 31, 1936.

An "ideal" naval conference, Sir Bolton continued, would establish an equilibrium for defence among the naval powers whereby no power would be in a position easily to become an aggressor.

TONNAGE LIMITING

Britain, while recognizing that some form of quantitative limitation (by total tonnage) was necessary, attached the greatest importance to qualitative limitation (by sizes of classes and guns) Sir Bolton said.

He emphasized that the United Kingdom could not reduce the number of its naval vessels any further, but was anxious to get a joint international agreement for reduction of the sizes of vessels in the various classes.

ASSAILS LABOR

The First Lord assailed the Labor party for "trying to make the electorate think this government is a war-mongering government," saying this is "the most senseless, groundless and base charge ever made by a political party against its country."

George Hall, Labor member, charging the admiralty with "torpedoing the disarmament conference" and shattering any prospects of a conference with the United States and Japan, asked Sir Bolton whether "the fact of the putting down of the naval base at Singapore had something to do with the Japanese government's denouncing the Washington agreement."

What Price Title? Ask Musicians

CHICAGO, March 15.—Husk O'Hare's genial gentlemen of the air were playing "The Thief of Bagdad" at an exclusive party at the Zanesville (O.) Golf Club last night when "the thief of Zanesville" arrived.

When he left, he took with him Husk's $1,200 racoon coat.

Zanesville's police arrived and took a report on the theft.

Thousands Homeless As Levees Crumble Flooding Big Areas

CHICAGO, March 15. — Rampaging tributaries of the Mississippi spilled a vast lake over the lowlands of southern Illinois last night and battered through levees in Arkansas and Missouri. Six thousand refugees were counted by the Red Cross in a survey of the stricken counties of northern Arkansas and southern Missouri, and more thousands watched anxiously for the crest, fearing other levees would burst today.

Rescue craft plied the murky waters to remove marooned farmers from the homes they had refused to leave until too late.

Backwater of the Mississippi shoved through a levee Wednesday at McBride, Mo., and the Black river boiled over the protective wall at Moark, Ark., and engineers felt the levee at Newport, Md., would not last through today.

At Poplar Bluff, Mo., 3,000 refugees gathered, many of them billeted in the court house. Kennett, Mo., anticipated a break in the St. Francis river levee when the crest comes today.

More than 5,500 may be made homeless if the Newport levee breaks. Five hundred took to high land in Pemiscot country, Mo., when the Mississippi backed up over farmlands.

The flood was near a critical stage in the St. Francis and Black valleys of southeastern Missouri and northeastern Arkansas, and the Mingo basin district was a sheet of water 22 miles long and five miles wide.

ROSS DEFENDS VETERAN QUIZ

OTTAWA, March 15—The present enquiry into the unemployment situation among ex-service men was not "Another veterans' ramp or racket," Brigadier General Alex. Ross, Dominion president of the Canadian Legion, told the Hyndman commission here today. It was merely an effort on the part of the organized veterans to secure a scientific study of conditions as they exist and to contribute to that study the experience and wisdom of the veteran body of Canada.

Catholics Ask Radio "Ads" Be Banned Sunday

By THOS. WAYLING

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

OTTAWA, March 15—Hon. Chas. Marcil, the venerable member for Bonaventure, a former speaker of the house of commons, and a member for 35 years, has given notice that he will ask the government if it has received a request from the Federation of Catholic Workmen of Canada asking that advertising by radio be prohibited on Sundays in Canada.

The Lord's Day Alliance has from time to time also taken up the question of Sunday advertising on the radio but have not pressed the matter on the ground that listeners-in would tune in on American programs in any event.

The new protest has not yet reached the radio commission but the Catholic workmen have taken it up with the French-Canadian ministers in the cabinet.

Divorce Granted After 26 Years

MADRID, March 15.—A San Sebastian couple have just been divorced — after waiting for 26 years. They each filed petitions in 1908—but owing to legal difficulties the divorce has only just been granted. The man and his wife have been living peacefully together during the 26 years they have been waiting for the divorce.

202ND BATTALION REUNION DINNER

Saturday evening at the Corona hotel the ex-members of the 202nd Sportsmen's Battalion will meet for their first reunion dinner since 1919.

It was on February 6, 1916, that Lieut.-Col. P. E. Bowen received authority to raise the 202nd Battalion and recruiting began immediately. The name "Sportsmen" was selected as the distinguishing name of the unit and authority for its use was granted by headquarters of the department of national defence.

After spending the summer of 1916 in training at Sarcee Camp, the unit proceeded overseas in November of the same year. Upon the formation of the Fifth Canadian Division, this battalion was selected as the representative unit of Alberta and drafted into the Fifth division. Being somewhat short of strength, owing to casualties of various natures, several hundred picked men were sent from the 187th battalion, which was being broken up, to bring the 202nd up to strength, and intensive training became the order of the day, it being fully expected that the Fifth Division would be sent to France as a unit.

In the early spring of 1917 when it was found impossible to reinforce the four Alberta battalions in the line, from the small number of recruits then coming forward, orders came through for the breaking up of the 202nd and in the latter part of May, 1917, nearly nine hundred other ranks proceeded to France to reinforce the four Alberta battalions, the 10th, 31st, 49th and 50th. The officers were scattered among several different branches of the service, the Royal Air Force, Artillery, Infantry, Engineers and Railway troops, all sharing in the disposition of the officer personnel.

The selection of the name "Sportsmen" was very appropriate as the 202nd during their training carried off several divisional championships in athletics at Edmonton, Calgary and finally at Whitley camp, England, even after the orders had been given for the breaking up of the unit into reinforcing drafts.

The boys are all looking forward to their first real reunion and many friendships which had their inception in the recruiting days of the battalion, will be renewed at this function. It is understood that a battalion association will be formed for the purpose of maintaining connection with all the boys and continuing similar affairs every year.

Mislaying Keys Cause Of Death

CHICAGO, March 15.—Mislaying the keys to his room, H. Hanan, 56, fell from a ladder he had set to the sill of his window and was found dead either from the fall or by freezing while he lay unconscious. Hanan, a Spanish-American war veteran, was found by John Harris, a milkman.

ciple of lower selling costs on large orders and would also compensate the big buyer for any preferred position with respect to credit.

HUGE SALARIES

The question of the huge salaries paid to executives is also taken into account. Mr. Stevens has an idea that in many cases these abnormal salaries are just another way of paying dividends and dodging income tax thereon.

He suggests all salaries over $10,000 be taxed as earnings.

Mr. Stevens also suggests the creation of a national commission as a permanent body with powers wider than mere advisory functions; such commission to supervise trade and industry and the application of commercial and industrial laws and regulations.

DEFINITE REGULATION

In previous memoranda to the commission Mr. Stevens has also recommended definite regulation of the financial set-up of corporations, including payment of dividends only out of profits, payments of stock premiums into capital and not profit account, Limitation of stock issues to one common and one preferred, complete exposure of all reserves in balance sheets and annual statements that will show the true position of the company.

At previous sittings Mr. Stevens also suggested that $25 to $30 a week with the minimum wage on which a married man could maintain for his family a decent standard of living. He also suggested a 44-hour week. One risk about the $25-$30 minimum wage for married men was that employers would discriminate against married men.

HIGHLAND GAMES EXECUTIVE NAMED

The personnel of the executive which will direct the 1935 Highland Games at the South Side Athletic grounds next May 24, was released Friday by the Games association which named James A. MacKinnon president and Dr. John Steele Smith and W. J. Munro, vice-presidents.

Patrons are Lt. Gov. W. L. Walsh, Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, A. U. G. Bury, K.C., M.P., Hon. Charles Stewart, M.P., S. W. Hungerford, E. W. Beatty, K.C., Hon. R. G. Reid, Mayor Joe. Clarke, Col. Walter Scott of New York, J. H. Ogilvie, Col. H. R. Milner, Col. F. C. Jamieson, K.C., M.L.A.

T. H. Campbell was named honorary president, while the honorary vice-presidents include Mayne Reid, K.C., Lt. Col. George B. McLeod, Dougal McCallum, A. M. Matheson, M.L.A., J. S. Parke, and R. B. MacKenzie.

Woman Carries Ghastly Burden

Police admitted they were mystified by Mrs. Daisy Keeton's ghastly burden, which was found in a lonely wood and caused her arrest. Mrs. Keeton, about thirty years old and of respectable family, will be charged with murder, County Attorney Jack Deavours said.

Mrs. Keeton's mother has disappeared, but relatives were unable to identify the legs. Bloodstains were found in the bathroom of the Keeton home and there were similar stains in Mrs. Keeton's car.

LABOR CHIEF WOULD LOWER DEBT BURDEN

Advocates Immediate Palliative Measure During Budget Debate

Reduction of maturing interest to three per cent pending bringing about of a general refunding scheme was advocated in the legislature on Thursday by Fred J. White, provincial Labor leader, in the course of his address in the budget debate.

Mr. White crystallized his remarks by submitting an amendment to the motion to adopt the budget, an amendment calling for refunding of provincial, municipal and school districts debts.

"But, considering the plight of the people of this province, it is the opinion of the legislature that legislation should be enacted at this session to provide:

REFUNDING DEBT

"1. That there be a refunding of the public debts on behalf of the province, the municipalities and school districts covering the following:

"(a) The capital debt outstanding and covered by outstanding debentures;

"(b) Any capital debts owing to any financial institution and covered by unsold debentures;

"(c) Any amount necessary to be capitalized to restore the adverse cash position of each body.

"2. That all outstanding indebtedness as above of the province and of the municipalities and school districts of Alberta shall have a clause by statute imported into them, making such indebtedness callable upon 90 days' notice;

"3. That this legislature shall also enact the necessary legislation providing that pending any arrangement for refunding of the public indebtedness referred to above, it shall be legal to pay maturing interest at the rate of three per cent upon same, notwithstanding any other rate specified."

NEED REFORM

Mr. White recalled that all people were agreed that a lead had to be given in solving economic difficulties.

Dealing with refunding, he pointed out that a large gathering of municipalities had been held at Calgary and another was to be held in the near future.

He understood representations from that convention had been submitted to various governments, but so far had not seen any action taken.

A delegation interviewing the provincial government sought to have a callable feature in school bonds.

A drastic reduction in interest rates was vital, he declared and if the interest on Calgary's debt was reduced to three per cent. there would be an annual saving of $350,000.

REDUCED GRANTS

He declared that despite the fact that mothers and children dependent on legislative measures for support, had increased in the last year by a total of about 1,000, the money available for them had been reduced by $40,000.

The province, he declared, was not spending too much money on its social responsibilities.

The cost of money was the one thing that had not come down.

He ventured the assertion that in a bond issue maturing on April 1 next, payment would be demanded by the bondholders in New York funds, and even though the bonds were largely held in the Dominion

THREE MEN ON MISSING LIST

William Pat O'Donnell, believed to be in this city, is being sought by his sister, Mrs. John S. Miller of Basin, Wyoming; John Arthur Fester, last heard of in Edmonton, is wanted by his sister-in-law, Mrs. J. W. Fester of 26 Division street, St. Catharines, Ontario, and Mrs. Clara Levoi of Carwood, Saskatchewan, is looking for her son Arthur Lavoi, whose last letter carried an Edmonton postmark.

People having information which might lead to the location of these missing persons are asked to communicate with Detective William McDonald at city police headquarters.

C.C.F. Convert Resigns His Post

VICTORIA, March 15.—T. Guy Sheppard, who ran as a Co-Operative Commonwealth Federation candidate in Victoria in the last British Columbia general election, stated today that he had filed his resignation as a member of the organization and as the Victoria representative on the provincial executive.

He said "the policy of the C.C.F. movement shows neither courage nor conviction, and is permeated with party machine politics. Undoubtedly there are some good men among the leaders, but on the whole they are weak and not definite enough, and have allowed the movement to become a third distinctive political party."

ROAD REPORT

Roads in the northern section of the province are in the same condition as they have been during the past few days, according to the latest report issued by the Alberta Motor association.

A detailed report follows: Jasper-Edson, O.K.; Peace River, open to Athabasca only; Wainwright, open to Irma, closed from Irma to Wainwright; Hardisty, open to that point and Hughenden; Lloydminster, open to that point, closed from there to North Battleford; Edmonton to Onoway and Mayerthorpe, open.

Saskatchewan Gets Spring Seed

TORONTO, March 15. — Premier James G. Gardiner of Saskatchewan, speaking before the Dominion Mortgage and Investments Association here Thursday, announced that arrangements will soon be completed between the province of Saskatchewan and the loan companies to provide farmers of the western province with seed for the spring.

The fertile soil has not been blown away in the west, Premier Gardiner contended. With one good crop the deficits of the past five years could be wiped away and even today, if it were not for the mistakes committed in the past, the people could maintain themselves.

SUPERVISED SWEEPSTAKES MEET FAVOR

to have the feeling of the house on the matter.

Asked what his own feelings in the matter were, Mr. Montgomery replied he thought the winners should be allowed to keep the money.

George MacLachlan, U.F.A., Pembina, declared that for once he found himself in complete accord with Mr. Montgomery and described informing as "iniquitous" and that he was more against it than he was against gambling.

Mr. Montgomery:—"Premier Hepburn of Ontario has said he will not take action in the matter.

"Three cheers for Premier Hepburn," interjected Fred J. White, provincial Labor leader.

Hon. George Hoadley, minister of trade and industry reminded the house there were inconsistencies in the law, which permitted horse racing even with horses known to be doped and yet would not permit gambling on such outstanding races as the Grand National, known to be conducted above board.

POLICE PARADOX

Hugh C. Farthing, K.C., Conservative, Calgary recalled that on one occasion, coming out of the Calgary police court, after losing a case in defending a client on a lottery charge, had been accosted by a police officer and requested to buy a sweepstake ticket.

Hon. Mr. Lymburn stated the Dominion law on lotteries was quite definite. "There is no lottery where a winner's rights are determined by lot or chance, is legal," he said.

Continuing, he said administering this law was about the most difficult of all. In this case there was no enthusiastic support from the municipal police forces. In these days especially, charitable organizations realized they had practically no chance of raising money without lotteries or without contributors feeling they were getting a run for their money, or in getting something for nothing.

But the decision was not to the legislature. But the legislature could pass a resolution asking an amendment to the Criminal Code seeking supervision.

INCONSISTENCIES

It was inconsistent, he thought, that churches and agricultural societies should be able to carry on lotteries under the code and others could not.

In discussion of an act defining more clearly jurisdiction of certain magistrates, Mr. Montgomery protested that a debt should not be outlawed after six years, as provided in the bill.

"A debt is a debt," he said, "and should stand. "If a limit was to be placed on it, it should be 10 years, which he so moved.

W. R. Howson, K.C., declared that the Act was changing the law in amending the time from 12 to six years.

If the Act passed in its present form, he contended, all creditors would have to sue within six months and he urged that provision to get around this point be made.

During discussion on the theatres' Act amendment, George MacLachlan, U.F.A., Pembina, declared officials were too stringent in enforcing provisions. He urged giving the Minister more power to vary requirements according to needs and local conditions.

Premier Reid said this question was under consideration.

Edmonton Indebted to Extent of $1,250,000 at Dec. 31, 1934

The three Alberta cities of Edmonton, Calgary and Lethbridge are indebted to the provincial government to the extent of $2,210,860.59, according to information brought down in the legislature at the request of Hugh J. Montgomery, Liberal, Wetaskiwin.

As at December 31, 1934, Edmonton was indebted to the extent of $1,250,000, the largest amount of the three cities. Calgary owed $910,000 and Lethbridge $50,000.

At the same date guarantees implemented for municipal districts totalled $42,416.19.

During the fiscal year ended March 31, 1934, the provincial government paid to the three cities a total of $123,000 in lieu of service tax, $60,000 each to Edmonton and Calgary and $3,000 to Lethbridge.

During the fiscal year closing at the end of this month, the government has paid in lieu of service tax $92,400. Of this $45,000 was to this city and a like amount to Calgary and $2,400 to Lethbridge.

Court Actions Of Husband And Wife Dismissed Friday

Another round in one of the interminable legal actions between William Olynyk and his ex-wife No. 2, Waselena Olynyk, ended in a draw, according to a reserved decision handed down in supreme court, Friday, by Mr. Justice Frank Ford, when he dismissed both the action of the husband and the wife against each other. S. Bruce Smith acted for Olynyk, and J. N. McDonald represented the ex-wife.

Mrs. Waselena Olynyk sued William Olynyk and Mrs. Celia Julia Olynyk to have set aside the transfer of 665 shares in the New Edmonton Hotel, Ltd., from the husband to the wife, and sued her ex-husband alone for $660, which she claimed was due as unpaid back alimony over a term of several months.

Olynyk, on the other hand, sued his ex-wife for a total of $2,412, which he claimed to be the value of furniture removed from his home at the time they parted.

CENTRAL BANK FILES INITIAL WEEKLY REPORT

LANG SCORES HANDLING OF PUBLIC LAND

Liberal Member Denounces Administration of Natural Resources

Charges that the natural resources of this province were not being managed in the best interests of the people were hurled across the floor of the legislature on Thursday by Hector Lang, Liberal, Medicine Hat, in the course of the budget debate. "I would say," he stirringly contended, "to remedy the seeming impairment of our patrimony and place our province again on a sound financial basis, a vigorous and well directed development of our natural resources is essential."

Mr. Lang also came emphatically with the statement that "It would seem the time were at hand for the employment of an amount equal at least to $2,000,000 placed in the estimates for unemployment and agricultural relief, for the development of the McMurray tar sands. Roads would be constructed and men would be given useful employment."

Turning his attention specifically to consideration of the provincial financial solution, Mr. Lang said:

"It is an axiom of public finance that the patrimony of the state must not be impaired. This axiom rests upon the fact that the present government, yes even the present generation, is passing and temporary, whereas in contrast the life of the state is continuous and lasting.

"The government is called upon to manage the patrimony, the property, the natural resources and commonwealth of a people whose interests endure in perpetuity. It follows that the government must not dissipate or impair what it inherits but on the contrary must pass it on unimpaired to its successors.

"In view of these fundamental principles of government, and in the light of the facts disclosed in the address of the provincial treasurer, let us inquire into the financial standing of our province—as to the impairment or unimpairment of its patrimony.

"We are told that the gross funded and unfunded debt of the province is one hundred and forty-nine millions, five hundred thousand dollars ($149,500,000). This means that our province and all that this term province implies in a material sense, is mortgaged to the extent of $149,500,000. On this huge debt the people pay interest out of their business, the sum of some seven millions of dollars or a sum almost one half of the total revenue of the province. And furthermore, we must bear in mind that during the term of office of the present government, that this provincial debt has increased steadily on an average of more than five millions of dollars ($5,000,000) annually and it would appear that this debt would continue to increase so long as the province remains in their charge.

HUGE DEBT

"Another significant fact of the budget address is that it is estimated that in the financial year ending March 31, 1936, there will be a deficit of $700,000, with these rather startling figures before us, let us apply to the financial standing of the province the axiom of public finance just enunciated. And here I would say that I have no estimate of the value of this heritage of ours against which the huge debt of $149,500,000.00 is registered, hence I am unable to say to what extent the debt approaches the value of our heritage or patrimony.

"Then, allow me to approach it in another way. You will agree with me that all citizens of the province merit all the social services usual to the citizenship of a modern progressive state. And at the present moment, I believe it is evident from the facts set forth, that after taxation has been levied on the people of the province, sufficient to provide for the people the social services, referred to above, which are their right according to present day standards, then a further taxation on the people at the present interest rates to meet the demands of he bonded indebtedness of the province is more than the people can bear.

HEAVY MORTGAGE

"Hence from this standard of measurement, you will agree that the patrimony of the state is mortgaged beyond the present capacity to pay and to this extent it is impaired and since it is a sacred duty of a government to see that the patrimony is kept free from impairment then this present United Farmers of Alberta government has failed.

"And now, I would like to inquire into the cause or one of the causes for this failure on the part of the government. Professor Adams, an authority on public finance, states 'that a sound financial policy will not impair the patrimony of the state.' Wherein has the financial policy of the government been unsound? It has often been truly said that we have a province possessing a wealth of natural resources—developed and undeveloped.

"During the years that this government has been in office I do not believe that these resources have always been developed to the best advantage. I do not believe that any financial policy of a government is sound and complete that does not imply an intelligent management and a vigorous and well directed development of our natural resources, the common wealth of the people whose interest in them endure in perpetuity.

GAVE EVIDENCE

"Time will not permit me to examine in detail the government policies directed towards the development of our many and varied resources. We have had submitted much evidence by members of the house during the present session that would lead one to believe that the crown lands of the province were not being managed and developed in the best interests of the revenues of the province nor to the best happiness and well being of the people on these lands.

"We have heard from the member for Athabasca concerning the vast undeveloped McMurray bituminous sands. We are told that the province has in these beds in proximity to railway facilities material, suited by nature, for hard surfacing of our highways. Tourists are anxious to see our province and they, and our citizens in general, are demanding good roads. Many of our men are idle, on relief, and in the government camps for the unemployed."

INVESTED NEARLY $150,000,000 IN DOMINION BONDS

By THOS. WAYLING
Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

OTTAWA, March 15.—The Bank of Canada has $115,013,636 invested in Dominion government government and $34,846,294 in Dominion government short term securities, it was revealed in the first statement issued by the Bank of Canada Thursday.

Each Friday the executive of the bank will meet and each week a statement will be published of the bank's position, it was stated at bank headquarters, when the first statement was given out yesterday.

The statement showed that about 50 of the original shareholders of the bank had failed to pay the balance on their shares. They had paid $12.50 on each share, but had failed to pay up the remaining $37.50. A notice has been sent to the shareholders, giving them 30 days in which to take up the shares or the $12.50 a share deposit will be forfeited. The paid-up capital of the bank is therefore $4,991,640 instead of $5,000,000.

NEW NOTES CIRCULATE

The bank has $97,805,664 of its new notes in circulation. The chartered banks have turned back the notes they took out prior to the opening of the bank and are now using their own notes. The gold coin and bullion held by the bank amount to $106,584,355 and the silver bullion $986,363. In the reserve is also $192,250 in sterling funds held in London and $202,625 in U. S. funds held in New York. The bank is not allowed to hold reserves in countries which are off the gold standard, although Canada herself is not on the gold standard. The gold coin and bullion listed in the reserve has been taken in at the old valuation of $20.67 an ounce.

CANNOT INFLATE

It was learned that although the ratio of the net reserve to notes and liabilities (the banking of the currency) is 42.47 as against the world agreed 25 per cent, the Dominion government has no longer the power, since the establishment of the bank, to inflate the currency, as might have been done in order to provide the money for the new reform program (and as was done for the $40,000,000 needed last year for the building program). This power has been wiped out because the Bank of Canada controls the currency and the Bank of Canada is a private corporation.

The government must therefore borrow any money it needs for its reform program, paying interest thereof, instead of being able to take further advantage of the increased value of gold and the substantial margin it has over the world's 25 per cent reserve.

BANK DEPOSITS

The chartered banks have deposits with the Bank of Canada totaling $151,417,750 while the Dominion government has $4,212,199. This does not include the five per cent which the chartered banks must deposit with the ministry of finance to protect their note issues. The five per cent reduction in the chartered banks issue of their own notes does not go into effect until 1936.

No provincial nor municipal government has yet approached the bank to take advantage of the bank's power to act as banker for such authorities, nor are there any deposits.

IS REVENUE PRODUCER

The bank itself is already in the revenue producing class. It has invested in the Dominion short and long term securities mentioned, on which it will draw interest.

The statement leaves blank the item of bank premiums, the bank and its branches in the key cities of the Dominion being in rented quarters.

"PAY ON DEMAND"

It was noted that the new bank of Canada notes simply state that the bank will pay on demand the face value of the note, but do not state that such payment will be made in gold, nor is there any reference as to how it will be paid. It was stated that payment is in legal tender but if as and when the country goes on the gold standard, the payment would be in gold. Had legal tender been mentioned in the present bills they would have had to be recalled should Canada go on the gold standard.

As to Canada's return to the gold standard it was intimated that this was a matter of government policy and not for the Bank of Canada to decide. The revaluation of gold was also a matter of government policy.

Reopen Sealed Pit

WREXHAM, Wales, March 15.—Many miners are being trained in the use of rescue apparatus with a view to descending the Gresford pit, sealed since last September, when 265 men were killed in an explosion.

Two Dimples Winning Votes For Co-Ed

First co-ed in loveliness by a clear margin of two dimples, Hortense Callahan, above, was elected to wear beauty's crown for the third time at Louisiana Polytechnic Institute, Ruston, La., when she was chosen to reign over the students' own Mardi Gras, rivaling the New Orleans fiesta for pulchritude.

JURY CLEARS TAXI DRIVER AT INQUEST

But Police Will Press Manslaughter Charge in Woman's Death

Pathology and the common practice of medicine angled in a three-hour session during an inquest in city police court Thursday afternoon and after the court had heard the counsel of five experts, a jury of six pinned their faith in the post-mortem science, discounting the theories of the ante-mortem medical research.

The jury sat hearing evidence and deliberating on the case of Mrs. Katie Griesdorf, 65, injured in an auto crash, February 16, when the car in which she was riding collided with a taxi driven by Harry W. Gorden, who now faces a charge of manslaughter following her death, March 11.

Although the evidence of a pathologist cleared the taxi man of any blame, according to the finding of Coroner Dr. E. A. Braithwaite's jury, police say the manslaughter charge will be pressed, the preliminary hearing being set for Monday.

BLOOD CLOT ISSUE

The case resolved itself around the origin of a blood clot found in the main artery connecting the heart and lungs of Mrs. Griesdorf. Pathological evidence was that the clot was a "thrombus" being formed in the artery itself, due to inaction of the patient in bed lowering blood circulation; and in no way connected with any injuries sustained in the auto crash.

Evidence of medical practitioners was that the clot was an "aembolism," being formed in another part of the body close to a wound and travelling along the bloodstream to the artery and blocking blood from the lungs. Both sides agreed that injuries received by the woman in the accident had healed by the time the post mortem examination was held.

Even Coroner Braithwaite, a man of medicine who admitted knowing very little of pathology, took part in the argument.

The jury, after deliberating more than an hour, brought in the verdict: "Death as the result of thrombosis of the pulmonary artery with a break of circulation in the lungs. There is not sufficient evidence submitted to prove that death was caused by an aembolism brought by injuries sustained in the auto accident."

WAS EYEWITNESS

Eye-witness evidence was placed in the records in less than five minutes, Joan Robertson of 10732 96 street testifying that the taxi was "going to beat the band," and when pressed to be more definite, setting the speed at between 45 and 50 miles an hour.

Robert Aitcheson of 12016 86 street agreed that the speed of the taxi had been "high," the rate of the second car slow and the condition of the highway very poor.

Following the impact the taxi skidded north 96 feet, the other car 60 feet in the same direction, according to the evidence of Constable Jack Irvine of the traffic squad.

Early Langon, passenger in the taxi, denied he had told the driver to hurry. Instead, he said, he had ordered the taxi office to send him a car that could catch a train at North Edmonton.

SLASHING OF PRIVATE DEBT IS ADVOCATED

U.F.A. Member Delivers Attack on Farm Loan Board

Immediate reduction by as much as 50 per cent of all private debts as a means to economic rehabilitation, was urged in the legislature on Thursday by W. C. Smith, U.F.A., Empress, in taking part in the debate on the budget. He also advocated institution of some scheme of crop insurance as a means of protecting the farmer.

He delivered an assault on the Farm Loan Board and also lashed out at the governmental tax on gasoline as applied to farm trucks.

"There is no reason," he declared, "why a farm truck should have to pay an extra tax for carrying farm products when wagons conveying the same goods are not so taxed."

He also voiced his strong opposition to any movement to abolish the refund for gasoline used in farm work.

Taxes in the country as affecting ranchers and other parts of the dried out areas had been lowered, he said.

Dealing with seed grain he said preparations were under way for arranging for this necessity at an early date.

NO NEED FOR ALARM

He felt that there was no reason for undue alarm at the drought. There were records for many years back to show that there had been wet years and dry years and he was not apprehensive over the recuperative capabilities of the area.

Extensive tree-planting was not a solution to the dry area. Planting trees would not produce rain. On the other hand, where there were trees, there was tangible evidence of rain.

Establishing of water reservoirs would not alter climate.

There ought to be a camptign carried on for cheap transportation of feed from the north to the drought areas. He urged appointment of an agricultural agent in the drought areas.

All the work in the Tilley East area had not been done by the provincial government.

WOULD COME BACK

He felt it would not be many years before the Tilley East area would be carrying on and paying its way the same as other provincial areas.

It seemed apparent that all were disgusted with the capitalist system and favored monetary reform. He felt remarkable strides had been made in the last few years in debt adjustment.

He declared that, contrary to some allegations that had been made, a farmer was not inefficient if he had a radio, or if he tried to save a little of his crop to give his children a smattering of high school education.

There had to be some immediate action in the matter of debt adjustment.

Hospital facilities at Empress, he declared were totally inadequate. The nearest hospitals were many miles away. Some assistance was necessary for this hospital or else it might be closed.

DEFENDS GOVERNMENT

R. M. McCool, U.F.A., Cochrane, charged that there was much misrepresentation in presenting the affairs of the province.

"It is time public men and public press gave a true picture of the affairs of the province in which they were shareholders," he said.

It was alleged by Mr. McCool that there was a great difference between revenue and taxation. It had been charged taxation had gone up in the province. Actually, said Mr. McCool, revenue had been increased but not taxation.

Mr. McCool, in great detail went on to show wherein revenue had increased and outlined the sources of the increase, but he concluded this was not increased taxation.

He declared the supplementary revenue and wild lands taxes were $943,000 less now than in 1921. He challenged members to show wherein taxation had been increased, or else not endeavor to create a wrong impression in speeches in rural parts.

He contended that many new services had been instituted since 1921 and yet all were being given for $43,000 less than in 1921.

Every year but three when deficits had been reported, expenditures had been kept within appropriations, even including special warrants. The deficits had been accounted for by relief to the drought area.

He charged that all moves to reduce indemnities came from the city members.

Strong defence of ministerial salaries and use of government cars was entered by Mr. McCool, who said the salaries here were not out of line with those in other provinces.

U.S. REFUNDS ITS WAR DEBT

WASHINGTON, March 15.—The United States treasury undertook Thursday an operation that will leave unrefunded but a fraction of the government's tremendous war-time debt, and that fraction, it was revealed, is to be called for redemption shortly.

Calling in $1,933,000,000 in first Liberty bonds, the treasury, with the completion of this operation will have outstanding only $1,300,000,000 of the $25,000,000,000 in Liberty and Victory loan bonds issued during the war. It is this latter group upon which redemption action is expected shortly.

Seven-Times Bride Scorns Heart-Balm

CHICAGO, March 15.—When Mrs. Virginia Cogswell, who has had seven husbands since the time she was 16 and her present 28th birthday—and has none now—recently applauded legislators for their attempt to abolish breach-of-promise and alienation-of-affections suits, she sounded an authentic note. Mrs. Cogswell has never accepted one cent of alimony from the men who loved her although many of them were wealthy. "Suits like that are rackets," she states. "I've never sued anyone, except for divorce. Alimony's unnecessary, too."

Party-Free Torontonians League To Save Nation

TORONTO, March 15.—A hundred leaders in the business life of Toronto, at an organization dinner here Thursday began the formation of a Dominion-wide league to fight for a national government. They claim this to be "the only intelligent instrument to solve the present problems of Canada."

Presidents and general managers, who declared themselves as "acting entirely independently from any influence either from Montreal's St. James street or the powers behind the C.P.R.," unanimously backed the new undertaking nad pledged "to divorce themselves from all former party allegiance."

The league plans to commence its drive for a national government by moulding public opinion, first in Ontario, then spreading its doctrines throughout Canada.

A committee of thirteen has been named to form the nucleus of the league and to plan the first steps to be taken. Basil B. Campbell, the chief speaker, declared, "Bankruptcy stares us in the face.

Undersea Coal Deposits Of B.C. Found By Indian

WINNIPEG, March 15.—For a bottle of rum and free service on his rifle, an Indian revealed to authorities of the Hudson's Bay Company in 1849 the existence of rich coal deposits on Vancouver Island, near Nanaimo, B.C.

James Dickson, chief inspector of mines for British Columbia, told the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy Thursday, how early settlers of the island, under the authority of the Hudson's Bay Company, were asked one day by an Indian what were the "black stones" the blacksmith used.

They told him the stones were valuable and came from a far country (England). He said there was plenty of them where he lived, but little attention was paid the remark until he returned to Fort Victoria the next summer with his canoe laden with "black stones."

Chief Factor James Douglas sent men back with the Indian and since that time coal has been obtained from the land about Nanaimo. Deposits were found both near the sea shore and under the sea level, and Mr. Dickson's address dealt with the technical aspects of mining under water.

There is a total inflow of water from 4,000 acres of submarine workings of 1300 gallons per minute but, despite this, 18,000,000 tons of coal have been taken out and this year 900 men are employed in obtaining 1,500 tons per working day.

In recent years, more than 12,000,000 acres of forest land in the United States has reverted to public ownership through tax delinquency.

Production of crude oil in the United States totalled 905,656,000 barrels in 1933, showing a 15 per cent increase, of 120,497,000 barrels, over the 1932 figure.

IF IT WILL HELP ALBERTA THE EDMONTON BULLETIN IS FOR IT

FRIDAY, MARCH 15

NO DANGER OF THAT

The Bank of Canada is to signalize the King's Jubilee by issuing a special $25 bill.

If the Bank would issue four millions of those bills, call in $100,000,000 of Dominion bonds and hand the bills to the owners in full and final settlement of the debt, it would be doing something to make the Jubilee memorable for all time as marking the liberation of the Canadian people from monetary bondage.

The Bank, being a privately-owned institution, will of course do nothing of the kind.

POLITICS FIRST

Mayor Clarke has decided he will not go to Ottawa to join the representatives of other cities in presenting an appeal to the Government and parliament for action which would make possible a general refunding of municipal debenture indebtedness at lower rates of interest.

That is to be regretted, though the reasons given by the Mayor for his decision make it understandable. Refusal of the council to take anything resembling a firm stand on the question of interest rate reduction has undoubtedly discounted in advance anything he might say at the conference.

Perhaps that was what council aimed to do. There has been nothing in the conduct of the opposing aldermen to suggest that they will regret the necessary, and foreseeable, result of their refusal to put up a fight on behalf of the taxpayers. That they have strengthened the hands of the "sound" money and "sacred" contract crowd cannot be questioned.

And there need be no doubt that the forces opposed to rate-reduction will be on the job, or that they will make full use of the refusal of the Edmonton council to back up the Mayor. The Bradshaws and the Longs will descend on Ottawa in battalions about the time the conference gets under way. Eminent K.C.'s will flutter about the parliament buildings like magpies around a tannery—and for the same reason.

If anything comes of the conference it will be no fault of the talented representatives of the bond-dealers and bond-holders—nor of the city council of Edmonton.

THE PRIZE CHISELLER

The member for Camrose paid his respects, in fairly strong language, to certain gentlemen and corporations who and which came into the lime-light when their wage-chiselling operations were disclosed before the price-spreads commission. Since provincial revenues have suffered because of these operations, it is quite in order that members of a provincial legislature should give attention to them, and to their authors.

But in the interests of justice it should be noted that—so far as recalled—none of these private commercial wage-slashers succeeded in bringing the pay for an able-bodied man down to twenty cents a day plus board. It seems to have been left for the Government of Canada to attain the unenviable distinction of setting the lowest wage-scale in the country.

No doubt the Government had an advantage in its deflationary efforts, as against these private employers, in as much as the men with whom it was dealing had to take what was offered them or go hungry. Still, the fact that this advantage was pushed to the limit, and the private competitors beaten in the contest, deserves attention.

And it should also be noted that while some of the firms brought under survey have since raised wages more or less, the Government continues to enforce its twenty-cent-a-day scale of pay on public-improvement projects, all the way from the making of landing places in British Columbia and the building of roads in Alberta to the erection of a new munitions factory at Valcartier.

The price spreads commission—for whatever reason—did not see fit to call the Government on the carpet and ask why it was paying men this shameful pittance for the construction of needed and valuable public works. The legislature of Alberta should amend that oversight—if it is going to express any opinion on the subject of wage-suppression—and point out that however grasping the firms in question may have been, the Government of Canada has beaten them to a frazzle in the wage-chiselling line.

THE RIGHT TO RUN

Mr. F. J. White, Labor member for Calgary, has a bill before the legislature asserting the right of a member of the faculty of the University to participate as a candidate in a provincial or federal election, so long as his doing so does not interfere with the proper discharge of his duties as a member of the staff.

The bill is of course aimed at the recent ruling of the board of governors of the University which forbade professors and teachers to accept nomination for election to the legislature or parliament.

The obvious purpose of this ruling was to protect the rights of the University students and the institution itself to the full measure of service that may be reasonably required from members of the teaching staff, which rights might conceivably suffer if an instructor allowed his political ambitions to outrun his sense of responsibility as a teacher.

But in the situation which has developed that is a possible dereliction which will have to be dealt with if and when it arises. It is late in the day to make a general ruling to the effect that, since such a case might arise, no professor or teacher may run for public office.

The late Mr. C. L. Gibbs was a teacher on the staff of the city schools; and while holding that position secured election as a member of the council, which body collects the taxes which support the schools; and also as member of the legislature, which body decides what amount of assistance the schools shall receive from the provincial treasury. Having permitted him to do this, the legislature could not with consistency now refuse to allow a teacher in another institution, also in part supported by provincial funds, to do the same thing.

If any member of the University staff should plunge into politics, as a candidate or otherwise, in a way to prevent him doing the work for which he is paid, it will then become the duty of the governors to dispense with his reduced services, if he has not the grace to resign.

The legislature cannot with any show of fairness agree that the members of the staff should be disqualified on the presumption that some of them will neglect their duties for politics if not forbidden to seek office. The legislature should therefore approve the bill asserting their citizenship rights in the matter.

Forty Years Ago

From the Files of The Edmonton Bulletin

Lord Roseberry will have to leave British politics because of ill-health.

Two hundred thousand English boot makers are on strike.

Weler has confessed to the murder of Hendershott at St. Thomas, Ont.

The Calgary bicycle club has formed a committee to lease land and lay out a racing track.

A large and representative meeting of citizens took place at Macleod to protest against any further reduction of the Mounted Police.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

Mukden: The main Russian army has extricated itself from the rout and taken up a position at Tie Pass. The Japanese are making a slow advance in pursuit, perhaps attempting a wide flanking movement.

St. Petersburg: There is no talk of peace here as a result of the defeat at Mukden. Russian prestige must be redeemed before peace is restored.

Fire gongs are to be established in Edmonton schools and fire drill started at once.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

London: The submarine U29, one of the largest and fastest of Germany's underwater craft, had a successful three days off the Scilly isles and in the English channel, where on Thursday, Friday and Saturday she sank four British steamers and one French, damaging three others. The commander gave the crews of most of the steamers time to leave their vessels.

San Francisco: Beachey, the aviator, was killed in an exhibition flight here.

London: Among the casualties announced today is the death of Lieut.-Col. Du Maurier, author of "An Englishman's Home."

London: Submarines have sunk 88 British merchant vessels since the war started.

TEN YEARS AGO

The city of Edmonton is asking the legislature to amend the charter so as to provide for the election of the mayor for a two-year term. Another proposed amendment provides that no employee of the city would be eligible for a place on the city council or school board.

Ottawa: A resolution has been introduced in the House of Commons to prevent subjects of the King in Canada appealing to the Privy Council.

Victoria: Sir James Outram, a resident of Calgary, is dead. He was a grandson of the hero of the Indian mutiny.

Poems That Live

"O, LAY THINE HAND IN MINE, DEAR!"

O, lay thine hand in mine, dear!
We're growing old;
But Time hath brought no sign, dear,
That hearts grow cold.
'Tis long, long since our new love
Made life divine;
But age enricheth true love,
Like noble wine.

And lay thy cheek to mine, dear,
And take thy rest;
Mine arms around thee twine, dear,
And make thy nest.
A many cares are pressing
On this dear head;
But Sorrow's hands in blessing
Are surely laid.

O, lean thy life on mine, dear!
'Twill shelter thee.
Thou wert a winsome vine, dear,
On my young tree:
And so, till boughs are leafless,
And songbirds flown,
We'll twine, then lay us, griefless,
Together down.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COWPER

I'm really not in a fit state to work today. In a truly humane society I'd be released from bondage until I felt better.

The state of unrest comes from seeing a picture of Capt. E. P. Green's little topsail schooner Romance on which he is now sailing the Pacific with his son and daughter from Hong Kong to Vancouver.

J. S. Cowper

Readers with three-month memories may recall reading in this column about the ship of dreams built for Capt. Green to his own plans, in readiness for his superannuation from the C.P.R. Pacific service. After 44 years at sea Capt. Green hasn't had enough of it. For years, in anticipation of his official retirement, he planned and replanned the little dream ship. Built in Hong Kong of teak, and as beautifully fitted in her way as the great Empresses he had commanded, Capt. Green gave up command of a 600-foot liner to captain his own 45-foot pleasure schooner.

Topsail schooner I call her, not brigantine, as reports first had it. She has clipper bow and the lines of a sea-going yacht. Writing from Hong Kong to a friend telling of a trial trip, her owner says: "Just returned to port after a day spent in very rough China seas. The 'Romance' took them all with the grace of a real little lady. She is a perfect sea boat. I'm cutting out Manila in the voyage home. About the middle of March I shall have set my course for Yokohama and from there to good old British Columbia."

Hail the time when every man who has done his fair share of the world's work in middle life shall be able to spend the golden evening of his days following the hobby he loves best. There's no reason except the greed and ignorance of mankind why it couldn't be accomplished now for everyone.

* * *

This suggests another theme. In the B.C. legislature—which has several notable men—is a young research scientist, Dr. Allen Harris, M.L.A. for South Okanagan. The late Tory government in the coast province had fears lest men of education and knowledge should enter public life similar to those shared by the Board of Governors of the University of Alberta. Just as the Alberta board threatens Dr. Alexander of the department of classics with dismissal if he dares to run for the legislature—he is a Labor advocate—so the B. C. body fired young Dr. Harris from his position as instructor on the University summer course. The young chemist, who is credited with the discovery of one of the missing elements in the Periodic Law of Mendeleef—element 64, if my memory is good—didn't care tuppence for the threats of the University Solons. He is a bachelor and the threat had no fears for him. He ran for South Okanagan on the Liberal ticket and unseated a Tory minister. That's larnin' 'em!

In his speech on the Budget debate last week, the young scientist took the occasion to tell the House of some of the things that chemical research has in store to add to the wealth of B.C. so soon as the dead hand of the east is removed and British Columbia enters on its destiny as a manufacturing state.

First he told—and the message has equal or greater interest for Alberta—of the new rubber that can be made from coal. He had predicted the coming of rubber from coal a year before. Last week he announced it as an accomplished fact. He was able to announce that a former classmate of his had completed the process and that automobile tires made from synthetic rubber obtained from coal, are now on the market in United States.

Distillation of oils and gasoline from coal—another announcement of great interest to Alberta—he predicted as a commercial possibility within reach.

* * *

Another discovery of great interest to the coast province, which cans large quantities of fish, is the new method of making aluminum from clay. Hitherto, aluminum has been obtainable only from bauxite, which yielded up aluminum by electrolysis at great heats in the presence of cryolite, an earth imported from Greenland. The process, by which a great deal of the Mellon fortune has been made, is a patent monopoly.

A new and simpler method has been achieved whereby aluminum can be extracted from common clay at a price that will enable it to be used in place of tin-plate for food containers. It makes a lighter and more presentable container, that does not cut the fingers; that can be stamped on the metal, doing away with paper labels, and which when empty can be collected and shipped back to the factory, to be melted and used again, instead of defacing picnic grounds and garbage dumps.

British Columbia imports from the tinplate monopoly 11,000 tons of tinplate annually for the salmon industry and another 15,000 tons for the canned fruit and canned milk industries. Under the new process it will be possible to make aluminum plate in the province.

When aluminum is made cheaply we shall see rolling stock on the railroads made of that light and rustless metal. Perhaps we shall see railroad cars tired with rubber tires made from coal, and the problem of the railroads with their heavy haulage and noise solved by science. That will be a better and more forward-looking solution than tearing up the tracks and throwing thousands of railroad employees onto the relief lines—the only suggestion yet made by statesmen and high-priced railroad executives.

This afternoon I had a visit from an old acquaintance. I didn't recognize him at first. Three years ago when last I saw him he was a railroad employee with 27 years' good service. For the last two years he has been on relief—a victim of the economic defeatism of our rulers. He came to tell me that in his 65th year, he and another chap have decided to go tramping. "May as well see the country and starve as sit around here and starve," he said. He has given up hope of getting his railroad job back.

It's a good thing to see men with brains and knowledge enter public life. They are much more needed in legislatures than men with money. There is no hope in further grinding the faces of the poor to preserve the sacredness of interest contracts. Hope lies in a new scheme of life.

Daily Menus

By DOCTOR FRANK McCOY

Dr. McCoy's menus suggested for the week beginning Sunday, March 17, 1935.

SUNDAY: Breakfast—Eight-ounce glass of orange juice or tomato juice thirty minutes before breakfast. Coddled Eggs; Melba Toast. Lunch—Potatoes on the half shell, String Beans; Salad of Lettuce with Olive Oil if desired. Dinner: Roast Pork, Spinach, escalloped Celery; Salad of Tomatoes; Baked Apple.

Dr. F. McCoy

MONDAY: Breakfast: Cottage Cheese and sliced Pineapple. Lunch: Buttered Beets, Squash; Salad of chopped raw Cabbage. Dinner: Carrot Soup; Broiled Steak, cooked Beet Tops; Salad of stuffed Beets; Cup Custard.

TUESDAY: Breakfast—French Omelet, small piece of broiled Ham; Melba Toast, Applesauce. Lunch—One pint of Buttermilk with 10 to 12 dates. Dinner—Roast Mutton, baked Carrots and Turnips grated together without removing peel; Salad of shredded Lettuce; Prune Whip.

WEDNESDAY: Breakfast—Waffles (browned through), coddled Eggs; Stewed Raisins. Lunch—Stewed Corn, cooked Lettuce or other greens; Ripe Olives. Dinner—Molded Cheese Salad (protein part of meal in place of meat) small Green Peas, French fried Parsnips (prepared like Potatoes); Baked Apple.

THURSDAY: Breakfast—Poached Egg on Melba Toast; Stewed Prunes. Lunch—Combination Salad with *Cream Cheese Dressing. Dinner—Vegetable Soup; Salisbury Steak, cooked Tomatoes, Spinach; Celery; No dessert.

FRIDAY: Breakfast—Wholewheat Muffins, Peanut Butter; Pear Sauce. Lunch—Generous dish of Junket, 1 or 2 Apples. Dinner—Tomato and Celery Soup; Baked White Fish, Asparagus; Salad of chopped raw Cabbage.

SATURDAY: Breakfast—Baked Eggs, Melba Toast; Stewed Figs. Lunch—Cornbread; Spinach; raw Celery. Dinner—Broiled Lamb Chops, Green Peas in Turnip cups; Salad of Head Lettuce with Peanut Butter Dressing; Dish of Berries (no sugar).

*Cream Cheese Dressing: Mash with a fork the desired quantity of cream cheese, adding as much thick cream as necessary to form the consistency of a salad dressing. Mix in enough cooked spinach, which has been chopped and drained, to give a good green color. A little chopped cucumber may also be added. Add a little more cream if the mixture seems too heavy. This dressing is especially good over a salad of water cress and lettuce, the piquancy of the water cress seeming to blend well with the cheese flavor.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

QUESTION: R. F. H. asks: "What is the cause of extreme acidity, which will be relieved for a time and always return. Most evident at night several hours after eating. Always feel as if I had been eating lemons or something acid. The taste of acid is pronounced even in my mouth."

ANSWER: I consider the most pronounced cause of extreme stomach acidity is the use of improper food combinations.

QUESTION: Miss Norma asks: "How can I use Epsom salts to improve my skin elimination. Will they reduce me?"

ANSWER: It is better to use a restricted diet for reducing; however, Epsom salts may be used to induce elimination through the skin. The best way to take these baths is to take a warm shower first, then rub the dry salts into the skin and follow this with a cold shower. This regimen will promote skin elimination.

QUESTION: Mr. Keith F. writes: "What are the symptoms of tapeworm?"

ANSWER: Many times a tapeworm may be present without causing any symptoms, and it is probably not a serious trouble. If any symptoms appear, they may include a large appetite, nausea, digestive pains, losing of weight and sometimes anemia. The usual treatment for tape worm is to cleanse the alimentary canal by means of a fasting diet for a few days, using enemas. The patient is then given a preparation to assist in causing the tapeworm to be expelled. If you will consult your doctor, he will give you the name of a preparation to use for this purpose.

Dr. Frank McCoy's great book, "The Fast Way of Health," gives you the mechanics of health in plain, easily understandable language.

Horoscope

By MARY BLAKE

On March 16 you will have to be mentally alert when entertaining company. Wool gathering proclivities are very likely to lead to embarrassing situations. There will be a good deal of money circulating freely.

Married and engaged couples, as well as those expecting to become affianced, may avoid quarrels on this date, if they will only stop to realize that there are "two sides to every question."

If a woman, and March 16 is your birthday, you probably have the good fortune of having both family and friends regard you as being thoroughly dependable. You possibly may find married life far more congenial than a professional or business career. A home loving spirit probably would cause you to feel discontented if you did not have one of your own.

The child born on March 16, usually from the time it arrives at preparatory school age, displays such an open and frank disposition, that it gains the complete confidence of all with whom it is thrown into contact.

If a man, and March 16 is your natal day, you have the qualifications of a natural born leader. You can direct much more readily than you can carry out others' orders.

SIDE GLANCES—By George Clark

"They want me to come over and put some life into their party."

On This Date

A Day in Canadian History —o— By FRED WILLIAMS

On this date, in 1808, the prorogation of the legislature of Upper Canada brought about the release of a political prisoner and prevented the complete exposure of a political scandal. The prisoner was Joseph Willcocks, M.L.A. for York West, Lincoln (First) and Haldimand, who was also the editor and publisher of the Upper Canada Guardian and Freeman's Journal, published at Niagara, who had been formally charged on the floor of the assembly of having asserted in public conversation that members of the house had been tried by Governor Hunter. The charge was referred to a committee which found "that the expressions said to have been made use of by Mr. Joseph Willcocks are false, slanderous and highly derogatory to the dignity of this house." The committee recommended a trial, which was held on February 11. Willcocks was found guilty of the charge against him and it was unanimously resolved that he should be committed to the common jail of the Home District, which he was.

Willcocks had to remain in jail under the warrant of the Speaker of the Assembly just as long as the legislature was in session, but the moment the lieutenant governor prorogued he was freed automatically. For a while thereafter he preserved the peace and was re-elected by his constituents, but in October, 1809, he was indicted before the grand jury of the Home District for having published a libel against the governor. He at once applied for a change of venue, which was refused; but the action was not proceeded with. Thereafter he was an active member in the Assembly doing good work until, in the session of 1812, he blocked Brock's proposal for nal, published at Niagara, who had Corpus act and for military preparations—yet Brock had faith in him and gave him an important commission to investigate reports that some of the Indians on the Grand River were neutral and would not fight.

As a matter of fact, at the outbreak of the war Willcocks proved his loyalty without question. He fought with honor at Queenston Heights, but he developed an intense hatred for General Sheaffe and soon after the fall of Fort George in May, 1913, Willcocks deserted to the enemy taking a number of men with him. He fell in action in an American uniform at Fort Erie in September, 1814. By that time he had been declared an outlaw, expelled from the Assembly and what property he had in Canada was confiscated to the crown.

The Mail Bag

LEAGUE ALREADY HERE

Editor Bulletin: "Wanderer" has allowed himself to wander into some very grave contradictions. His ideological confusion will lead him to become a recruiting officer in the next war because the present policy pursued by an individual, or an organization or a country determines future action. He desires, and wants others to be, militant pacifists, he defines as non-fighters men who will fight in order to remain non-fighters. Will fight whom?

But "Wanderer" has not the courage to follow his line of thought to its logical conclusion, and, becoming frightened at the implications of what he has already said, hastens to add that it is not his intention nor the intention of "pacifists" to refuse to take up arms to defend "his" country in a "defensive" war. "Wanderer" knows perfectly well taht there has never in history been any other kind of war than "defensive" war. Japan's open and clearly seen (to us) predatory war upon Manchuria was declared by the Jingo Press, speakers and "pacifists" through the length and breadth of Japan as a "defensive" war. No government could muster an army, conscriptive or otherwise for any war not heralded as defensive.

I agree with "Wanderer" when he says that: "in unity lies our strength" and that a league against war is a burning necessity but it has not been left to this late date to organize such a league. The World League Against War and Fascism has already been organized with headquarters in Paris, France, and sections in every country including Canada. In every city and many towns of Canada there exists Councils of this League which take in all individuals and organizations which see the war and fascist danger and the necessity of a united front of the people to combat these threatening dangers.

It may be interesting to "Wanderer" to learn that some world famous pacifists before the last war are now leading this movement, which has grown up as a result of the complete bankruptcy and impotence of pacifism to prevent or even hinder war. In fact many leading pacifists became the most outrageous jingoists upon the declaration of the last war of whom Upton Sinclair is an example.

In connection with the struggle against war, the struggle against fascism, the struggle for more bread and butter, the all-important lesson of "Wanderer" to learn is that the present policy determines the future action.

MUNICIPAL HOUSING

Editor Bulletin: Your Inquiring Reporter recently interviewed three persons whose views on Municipal Housing were published in your newspaper. All these views expressed the opinion of the possibilities but at the same time, each expressed the fear that there would be a tendency for people to abuse the privileges extended through Municipal Housing.

The best possible answer to these fears is contained in the report of the City of Winnipeg's Housing Commission which I recently submitted to Edmonton city council in its entirety.

During the years 1921 to 1923, Winnipeg borrowed $3,500,000 to construct 786 homes. The Housing Commission in 1934 reported that more than 50 percent had fully paid up and further prepaid payments amounted to $600,000 and the total number of foreclosures was one.

It is further interesting to note, at this time, that the Winnipeg Housing Commission recently suggested to council that a further program now be entered upon with an estimated expenditure of $2,000,000 contemplated. Homes to be constructed for rent, for sale or what have you.

The best business brains of the City of Winnipeg contend that city's experiment in housing has been the finest investment the City of Winnipeg ever made. The same will undoubtedly apply to Edmonton or any other city.

A clergyman had been displeased for some time with the quality of milk served him. At length he decided to remonstrate with his milkman.

"I've been wanting to see you about the quality of milk with which you are serving me," he began.

"Yes, sir," uneasily answered the milkman.

"I only wanted to say," continued the minister, "that I use the milk for drinking purposes exclusively, and not for christening."

She was visiting a zoo and eventually came to the bears.

"Are these animals carnivorous?" she asked the keeper.

He scratched his head, and then smiled brightly.

The Old God Moloch Is Our Dictator

By R. T. ELLIOTT, K.C.

After the lapse of thousands of years we are still thrilled with horror when we read that the ancients sacrificed young human life to the old God Moloch. The thrill must come from our idea that we are more righteous than the wicked people of olden time. This is a mistake. We are worse.

Month after month, and year after year, we destroy the lives of our young people of both sexes in unemployment, in relief camps, and in absolutely unnecessary hopelessness and destitution, while potbellied bladderheads fill the air with pious protestations of gratitude that we are preserving our credit.

Credit, so far as relates to public debt, is a synthetic process invented for the purpose of diverting the produce and profits of the nation into private, non-producing hands.

In effecting this purpose no limit is placed on the sacrifice of human life. Where the ancients handed over the few to Moloch—we sacrifice the many.

It is all absolutely unnecessary; and in the long view ineffective. The deflation which is now running its course in Canada has reached a stage where it is devouring the greedy as well as the helpless.

Realization of this fact, has produced Apostles of Reform; but you must be careful not to mistake them for Apostles of Remedy. Their object, when you analyze their proposed measures, is to keep the rank and file working for the privileged few to whom God has been (financially) good. There is not the slightest idea of securing to the producer and to the worker an equal proportionate share of the produced wealth of the nation with the dealer in money. There is not the slightest idea of turning all the available resources of the nation into development, construction and production so that all classes and conditions of people shall have an honest break in the division of the realized returns.

The public debt could safely, and either in one operation—or in successive operations, taking in first municipal debt, secondly, provincial debt, and finally, federal debt—be paid off in legal tender, secured for retirement by a first charge sinking fund on each specific revenue released, and repayable for cancellation by annual instalments.

This legal tender would be available for all Canadian investments—and its investment would restore the value of all homes, farms, real estate and fixed assets in Canada—at present submerged and valueless under the deflation.

You fall back on the old cry that this is dream stuff. Then listen to this one: The Chancellor of the Exchequer of Great Britain on March 6, 1935, officially stated in a public announcement to the nation, that no anxiety whatever need be felt about the falling quotations of the pound sterling in comparison with the currencies of other nations, because the pound sterling would buy as much at home as it ever did, and this is all that is needed for the safety and prosperity of the nation.

This statement by the Chancellor is the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth; because Britain and Canada and every other nation must pay for its international exchange in terms of products and commodities and services.

Should you have grasped the full import of the Chancellor's statement you will see that we are completely wrecking the lives of the Canadian people by enforcing a policy of deflation and so restricting the home supply of money or currency, whichever you like to call it, as to keep it on a par with quotations of the moneys of other nations in exchange transactions. Under this suicidal policy of a managed deflation we are sacrificing the lives of a whole generation of Canadians—except a few individuals to whom God has been (financially) good—upon the altars of the old God Moloch.

The safe and sane remedy is to put money for productive and development purposes into the hands of everyone who will work; and to get everyone to work; and to develop our great unoccupied areas.

CYNICISM IS CHURCH ENEMY SAYS PRIMATE

Great Need to Combat It Message of Archbishop Owen

One of the great problems confronting the church today was cynicism, was the assertion of Most Rev. Derwyn T. Owen, Archbishop of Toronto and primate for all Canada of the Church of England, addressing members of the church at a meeting held Thursday evening in the Masonic Temple.

"There is abroad in the world a belief that life does not make sense, that life is not leading anywhere. On every hand this cynicism is encountered, and there is great need for men and women, old and young, to combat that spirit, he said.

"To do this there must be a real belief in God. That at the heart of the universe that is a power that is on the side of goodness, beauty, truth and order, and that this power is the strongest thing in life.

BELIEF IN CITY

"In conquering cynicism it is necessary to believe in the city! That it is the purpose of God, that that city which has foundations is to be built here on earth. The city represents education, social justice and beneficent life. In order that the city be set up, it is necessary there be faith in it," he said.

"We need faith in eternal life. That city whose builder and maker is God has its foundation beneath the horizons of time. It will endure when this little planet of ours has passed its brief course. Immortality makes sense out of life.

"CARRY ON" WITH FAITH

"So carry on with your work with conviction and as you go forth a call will come to you from God to point out your mission," he concluded.

C. L. Foster, Toronto, spoke briefly on the restoration fund. The meeting was under the chairmanship of Mr. Justice Frank Ford, former chancellor of the Edmonton diocese.

LOCAL STUDENT WINS AWARD OF MINES INSTITUTE

Fraser Buckham, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Buckham of Edmonton and a student in mining engineering at the University of Alberta, has been awarded a prize by the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy, according to word received here today.

Winner of one of the three prizes offered for papers on technical subjects, Buckham's thesis on "Deep Mining" was heartily commended by the judges. Twenty-five dollars accompanies the recognition.

Dr. J. A. Allan, U. of A. mining faculty member who is attending the annual Institute gathering at Winnipeg, will receive the award on behalf of his student. Of the five years that the University of Alberta has been entered in the competition sponsored by the Institute, prizes have been won three times and honorable mention once.

Elected New Primus

EDINBURGH, Scotland, March 15—Dr. A. J. Maclean, 77, Bishop of Moray, Ross and Caithness, has been elected Primus of the Episcopal Church in Scotland, in succession to Bishop Robberds, retired.

Building In China

LONDON, March 15—The British firm of Dorman Long & Co., Limited, will build a 4,000-ton road and railway bridge across the Tsien Tang Kiang, near Hang Chow, China.

RAYMOND FLANAGAN
1 SHOULD THE CHIEF OBJECT OF MARRIAGE BE PERSONAL HAPPINESS?
YES OR NO
2 IS MENTAL TORTURE WORSE THAN PHYSICAL TORTURE?
YES OR NO
3 IS THE 'AIM OF DEMOCRACY TO BUILD UP A STRONG CENTRAL GOVERNMENT?
YES OR NO
COPYRIGHT 1935, JOHN DILLE CO.

AUTHOR'S NOTE: These answers are given from the scientific point of view. Not all moral questions can be answered with absolute scientific accuracy, but no decision as to what is morally right is possible without science. Science puts the rights of organized society above the rights of individuals.

1.—Not the conception of happiness that lovers usually have during their days of courtship as an unchanging state of effortless bliss. As E. R. Groves points out in his fine book, "Marriage," we do not apply this criterion to any other activity in life. We should expect our happiness to come from action and development not from some uninterrupted daydream. This latter is the attitude of children. It leads the couple to expect the mere relationship of itself to yield too much, with no effort on their part.

2.—While this cannot be precisely answered by experimental evidence I think it depends largely on the type of individual. Just as some people are capable of mental performances hundreds of times greater than are possible to others so their capacities from both suffering and joy are probably many times greater. Some people would joyfully exchange their mental anguish for any kind of physical pain. Others know little about mental suffering but cry like babies if they get anything worse than a mosquito bite.

3.—No, not in the sense of a despotic irresponsible government. The whole struggle of political and economic life in Europe until recently—and later in America—since the 12th century has been to break down the power of the central government. The struggle was first against the nobles and the feudal system, then against the political power of the church, and finally against the powerful guilds in the commercial cities of the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries. While it is true that government in democracies is more and more regulating the life of the citizen yet its driving motive has always been to protect the citizen from arbitrary action against him by the government and to aid him in the pursuit of happiness.

Mrs. H. Reid Again Heads Anglicans

Reinstatement of officers and discussion of the treasurer's report was the major business of the diocesan conference of the Anglican Women's Association at their session in All Saints' parish hall on Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Horace Reid was again made president, and the full executive slate, few of whom were called upon to contest office, was re-elected. Mrs. A. H. Petch is honorary president, Mrs. S. F. Tackaberry, honorary first vice-president, Mrs. M. J. Brodie, honorary second vice-president, and the executive, headed once more by Mrs. Reid, is as follows: first vice-president, Mrs. W. B. Chamberlain; second vice-president, Mrs. A. Frampton; recording secretary, Mrs. J. Regan; corresponding secretary, Mrs. H. B. Collins; treasurer, Mrs. J. Hall; Dorcas secretary, Mrs. H. Wilson; girls' secretary, Mrs. W. Hewlett; junior secretary, Mrs. E. Wilson; Little Helpers' secretary, Mrs. P. E. Orris; literature secretary, Mrs. W. Leversedge; living message secretary, Mrs. C. Gold; thankoffering secretary, Mrs. J. W. Robinson; E.C.D. secretary, Mrs. D. W. Rosser; missionary secretary, Mrs. G. McComas; social service secretary, Mrs. C. Sutherland; prayer partner secretary, Mrs. J. Gee; hospital visitor, Mrs. W. Greene.

Presented by Mrs. J. Hall, the treasurer's report was a comprehensive statement of financial transactions. Monies received through affiliation fees were, united pledge fund, social service, thank offerings united and diocesan collections, totalling $3,790.83, added to the bank balance of $2,004.65 to make a grand total of $5,795.48. Disbursements included money sent to the Dominion board through whose hands life memberships, amounting to $50.00 were sent to Africa. Diocesan board grants included social service, Dorcas and literature. Disbursements were also made through the board, including money to various branches of the work, and to the diocesan expense fund. Total expenditures were $3,827.86, and the bank balance amounts to $967.62. Pledges accepted for 1934 including $1,708 to the Dominion board and diocesan pledges amounting to $740, totalled $2,448.

Reporting for the work of the Junior W. A., Mrs. E. Wilson told of the progress in all branches of their work and of the two rallies attended in April and October of last year. She mentioned the prizes awarded to juniors for practical work and for their success in national essay competitions. There was an increase during the year of 48 members. Mrs. Orris reviewed the activities of Little Helpers' organizations in the diocese, contributions from the branches amounting to $161.51.

It was granted that $100 be loaned the Mayerthorpe parish for the building of a vicarage.

TOKYO, March 15.—Miss Sybil R. Courtice of Mitchell, Ont., was elected 1935 president of the Canadian Association of Tokyo and Yokohama at the organization's annual meeting held in the Canadian legation here.

The new president is principal of the Toyo Eiwa Jogakko (Oriental, English and Japanese Language Academy for Girls), a Canadian organization, and has been active in educational and missionary work. She has been a resident here for some time and is the second woman to head the association.

Rev. L. S. Albright, of Toronto, formerly a teacher in the Kwansai Gakuin, a Canadian school in Kobe, and connected with the United Church of Canada in Japan, was elected vice-president and Fred M. Irwin, of Stratford, Ont., an attache of the Canadian legation here, honorary secretary-treasurer.

Hon. Herbert Marler, Canadian minister to Japan, and Mrs. Marler, were re-elected honorary members, Mr. Marler consenting to continue as honorary president of the association.

Commenting on the association's activities during the past year, Retiring President Miss Emma R. Kaufman, referred to the visits of Hon. C. H. Cahan, Canadian secretary of state, and Mrs. Cahan; J. S. Woodsworth, leader of the Co-Operative Commonwealth Federation in Canada, and Mrs. Woodsworth, and Mrs. H. P. Plumtre, Canadian delegate to the world Red Cross conference in Tokyo.

I AM NOT HURT

By Helen Welshimer

I am not hurt because you put away
My love . . . in truth I've come to understand
That when you sought new conquest yesterday
On foreign fields as often you had planned,
The love which I had fashioned as a cloak,
With thought to keep you safe from cold and damp,
Had been a burden that would check the stroke
Of sword upraised against a hostile camp.

A runner must be free to move at will,
Not fettered by the weight of widened clothes.
My love, perchance, had tripped you on a hill.
But if the years that follow should disclose
The need for warmth that sometimes comes to men,
Come back, my dear, and don the cloak again!

The Strathcona High school auditorium was crowded to capacity with an appreciative audience, enjoying to the full the delightful program presented by the school students on Thursday evening. Choral music by members of the Girls' Glee club, directed by Miss Munroe, the Boys' Glee club, conducted by Mr. A. E. Roseborough, and the orchestra, under the baton of Miss Miriam Bowman, provided delightful ensemble numbers, while the solo work and readings were most enjoyable. Egon Grapentin, gold medallist in last year's violin competition in the Musical festival, was quite the star of the evening, and responded generously to demands for encores. Alfred Hagen, soloist, and Donald Adamson, who played the bagpipes, were also popular on the program. In the short and cleverly staged comedy, "The Family Tree," Alice Keith and Izzie Motocitch shared the acting honors.

University Election Exciting

With Student Union elections less than a week in the offing on the campus, great interest is being displayed as to the slate of officials that will take over the reins of office so capably managed during the past year by the retiring executive. With most of the council members graduating this spring the new council will be composed chiefly of students new to union executive affairs.

Prominent among members of the retiring council who expect to graduate in May are Arthur Bierwagen, president; Margaret Smith, vice-president; Jack Tuck, treasurer; B. Epstein and R. Collins, Literary Society representative; Kay Swallow, president of women's athletics; Don Wilson, president of men's athletics; Ev. Borgal, secretary of men's athletics, and a host of faculty representatives.

A close battle is expected for the presidential office being vacated by Art Bierwagen with two of the most popular men on the campus—Jack McIntosh and Ted Bishop—contesting the honor. Jack McIntosh is secretary of the retiring council while Ted Bishop is director of the 1934-35 year book and has held executive posts on the Gateway and previous year book staffs. It is a moot question whether or not Mr. Bishop's position as president of the Women Haters' Club will influence the feminine vote but opposition forces are placing little importance on the factor.

Vice-presidency will be decided between Margaret Aldwinkle, prominent in dramatics; Margery MacKenzie, president of the Wauneita Association, and Margaret Clayton, a leader in athletic circles. Bob Brown, manager of the Gateway, is running for treasurer against Bill Frost, president of the Philharmonic Society. The secretaryship will be held by either George Casper, Gateway sports editor and dramatic enthusiast, or Bill Begg, a leading member of the Law Society. Marion Conroy, Mary McBeth and Flora McLeod are running for the presidency of the Wauneita Association. Anathalie Heath is secretary by acclamation.

Nomination papers have been filed for Herb Gale and Don McLaws for presidency of men's athletics, Clair Malcolm and Bill Scott for secretary of men's athletics, Barney Ringwood and Alan McDonald for president of the Literary Society, Jack Garret and Cliff Elson for secretary of the Literary Society, Amy Cogswell and Mary Hewitt for president of women's athletics, Irene Barnett for secretary of women's athletics, Harper Prowse for Arts representative, G. Chattaway and Ruth Carlyle for Agriculture representative, and John Poole and E. C. Roper for Applied Science representative.

MEMBERSHIP INCREASE FELT UNITED W.M.S.

Ten per cent increase in membership, in circulation of missionary periodicals, in use of study books and in givings . . . these were held up as objectives worthy to mark the tenth anniversary of the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church of Canada, when Mrs. C. R. Crowe, of Guelph, Dominion board president, addressed the Alberta conference branch, Wednesday evening in Calgary. Coupled with these, the speaker declared must be the inspiration of a deepening devotion to God and his work in the world.

The first five years following church union had been years of adjustment, Mrs. Crowe remarked in introduction. In the following lean years, W.M.S. members had been too prone, she believed, to lose sight of lasting advancements made, in the face of falling revenues and decreasing memberships. Paralelling the financial handicaps under which they had labored were the steady increases in interest and in willingness to give of other than material gifts to missionary endeavor.

Declines in membership had been responsible for the necessary 15 per cent. cuts in salaries, and 34 per cent. reductions in maintenance, the speaker said in urging a campaign for increased membership. Russia, she pointed out, was one of the 15 countries outside Canada subscribing to Canadian W.M.S. publications, whose greater use she urged at home. Intelligent support of missions here and abroad she deemed impossible without use of the study books. Givings had lessened by $154,881 since 1926-27, Mrs. Crowe said in discussing the growing budgets only improveable by regular givings.

ENCOURAGING FEATURES

Encouraging features, however, were found in the covering of a wide field of service; some missionaries had given 40 years to the work abroad, while at home, follow-up work after students returned home from mission schools was proving increasingly valuable.

The United Church W.M.S. had entirely under its supervision ten hospitals and two hospital units, Mrs. Crowe's address revealed, and grants were made by the W.M.S. to nine hospitals of the Home Mission board as well. Oriental work in Canada assumed a new importance in the light of its influence on Japanese and Chinese living in Canada.

In conclusion Mrs. Crowe offered helpful suggestions regarding the celebration of the United church's tenth anniversary, in which the W.M.S. would participate, and spoke of the society's special planned anniversary program for next autumn.

MISSIONARIES NEEDED

The society had announced for 1936 its need for thirteen missions workers as follows: Africa, 1 kindergarten worker and 1 nurse; Honan, 2 evangelist workers; India, 1 doctor and 1 evangelist; Japan, 1 evangelist trained in girls' work and 1 educational worker; Korea, 2 evangelists; South China, 1 nurse and 1 evangelist; West China, 1 doctor.

Tests have revealed that the juice of the century plant may be used to prolong human life and that it is beneficial in treatment of kidney disorders.

FRONTIERSMEN AND V. A. D.'s PLAN DANCE

Although it is seventeen years since Mademoiselle from Armentiers cast her charm upon the "Old Bills" and "Alfs" of the Great War, to some perhaps she was Madeline, to some Marie—what matter, call her what you will—she will greet old friends at the Memorial hall on Monday, March 18, at nine o'clock when the V.A.D's and Frontiersmen will be hostesses and hosts at the annual "Somewhere in France" dance. One will meet "Old Bill" and "Alf and Bill" and Madame of the Estaminet will be there to welcome "Mon soldat." At the casualty clearing station V.A.D's will label guests with the wounded tags, and they will dance to the tunes of "Pack up your Troubles" and "Blighty"—as well as all modern fox trots—rendered by the Frontiersmen's band.

STRATHCONA BAPTISTS HEAR OF PALESTINE

Mrs. R. Campbell presided at the monthly meeting of the Strathcona Baptist Mission Circle on Tuesday. Mrs. E. Nelson and Mrs. J. C. Bowen led the devotional. Mrs. K. A. Clark, assisted by Mrs. C. E. Gainer and Mrs. T. B. McDormand, had charge of the program, the topic being "Palestine of Today." The watch tower was given by Mrs. E. L. Hill.

What's What

Question—I am attending a banquet tonight (St. Patrick's Eve). I have to respond to a speaker who, I am told, will begin his after-dinner speech with the phrase "Caed mille failte," and who will end it with the world "slainte." Please tell me the meaning and the proper pronunciation of these (to me), unfamiliar expressions. Also provide me with a typical Irish toast (in English), if you please.

OSKAR

Answer—A scholarly linguist informs us that the first phrase, "Caed mille failte" (meaning "a hundred thousand welcomes"), is pronounced as if it were spelled "kade milly faulthay," and that "slainte" (good health), is pronounced "slaunthay." In "Coriolanus," Shakespeare (who was of Celtic ancestry), has Menenius Agrippa greet the returning hero with the old Gaelic expression "A hundred thousand welcomes!" The oldest and most meaningful Irish toast is also the briefest—"Long life and more power to you!"

R. R.—Some young girls are apt to attach too much importance to casual courtesies. (The correspondent writes of them as "favors") on the part of young men acquaintances. Probably Mr. X. is not thinking of any "next move" so far as Miss R. is concerned. He is old enough to know his own mind, and, since R. R. has not heard from him during five months' time, she may take his indifference for granted. Certainly she should not write to him again, unless he takes the initiative in corresponding with her.

GROWING DEAF WITH HEAD NOISES? TRY THIS

If you are growing hard of hearing and fear Caterrhal Deafness or if you have roaring, rumbling, hissing noises in your ears go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength), and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who is threatened with Catarrhal Deafness or who has head noises should give this prescription a trial.

S. S. PRES. L. A. PLANS TEA FRIDAY

The South Side Ladies' Aid of First Presbyterian church met at the home of Mrs. Douglas on Monday. Reports of several sick calls were given. Final arrangements were made for the tea on Friday afternoon and talent money was planned for April. Mrs. Douglas was assisted by Mrs. Lowther and Mrs. Lea in serving refreshments. The April meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Cargill.

Need Building-Up?

WHEN you feel rundown, when your blood is thin or stomach gives trouble, with gas or dyspepsia, try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. If you are thin-blooded, need to put on healthy flesh—this is the tonic for you. Read what Mrs. W. Henderson of 276 Adelaide St., London, Ont., said: "I took Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery to build me up after returning from the hospital in a weakened condition. It was surprising how quickly I picked up, gained in weight and strength and was able to do my housework again." All druggists.

New size, tablets 50 cts., liquid $1.00.

Girls; They Look Alike Talk Alike, Think Alike

The most standardized product of this country today is girls. They are all just as much alike as peas in a pod or as if they had been turned out by the same nut factory. They wear the same model of gowns. Duplicate hats. They have the same number of hairs in their eyebrows. They use the same color lipstick. They are on the same diets. They have the same line of conversation and exclaim "how perfectly marvelous," or that everything they like is "swell," or that something "slays them," in chorus.

Dorothy Dix

"Everybody's doing it" is the slogan by which they live and by which they regulate their morals and their manners, so that it becomes a matter of shame to a girl to loathe liquor and cigarettes when the other girls are smoking like furnaces and drinking like fish. She feels herself disgraced. An outlander. She is an alien.

In their slavish imitation of one another girls take no account of their individual peculiarities and defects. If "they" are wearing a certain type of dress, every girl has to have one of that cut, whether she is fat or thin, tall or short. If pillbox hats are the thing, no girl ever takes a look at her nose before perching one over her right eye.

Girls with roseleaf skins and girls with saleratus biscuit complexions buy the same shade of pink. Girls with dimpled shoulders and girls whose backs are racks of bones wear the same decolletage. During the time when skirts were at their shortest I saw a pitifully crippled girl with her legs in steel braces, but she had on a knee-length frock because all the other girls were wearing them that high.

Apparently the thing that girls are more afraid of than they are of anything else in the world is independence and originality. Yet what we call personality consists in being different, in being individual, in being yourself. It consists in looking differently, acting differently, having a different point of view from the crowds. Personality is the thing that makes a man or woman stand out from the mass instead of being submerged in it, yet girls dread it as if it were a blight instead of the making of their fortunes.

In their mania for making rubber stamps of themselves girls throw away the opportunity of making the best of themselves. Many a girl, for instance, would be a beauty who is now homely, if only she had the courage to wear the clothes that suited her particular style and do her hair in the way that became her instead of disfiguring herself by wearing the clothes that the other girls are wearing, but that are a misfit on her, and having her hair bobbed in a way that makes her look like the wrath of God because all the other girls have that sort of haircut.

We see fat girls who make caricatures of themselves by wearing fluffy-ruffle flapper dresses. We see girls with thick lips emphasize their coarseness by daubing them up with lipstick until they look like slices of bloody meat. But nobody can stop girls with committing these crimes against themselves. They have got to do what all the other girls do.

Worse still, girls not only dress alike, but they try to eat alike, with as little regard to their natures and temperaments as they pay to their figures and complexions. If it is the mode of the moment to be gay and vivacious, every girl jumps around like a monkey on a stick and screams at the top of her voice and giggles like a laughing jackass, no matter whether she is Flighty Fanny or Puritan Priscilla. If it is the fashion to be sophisticated, every girl poses as being blase and having heard and seen it all and found life dust and ashes, even though she is on her tiptoes with excitement all the time and goggle-eyed with wonder.

If it is the thing to be tough, even though she is as innocent and tender as baby lamb, she boasts of getting drunk, tells stories that would bring a blush to the cheek of a brass image and uses oaths that would make a roustabout weep with envy.

And these poor, misguided young creatures do not know that in copy cutting others they are casting their trump card, which is their own personality, into the discard.

They don't know that the big girl looks like a performing elephant who tries to be cute. Or that the quiet, domestic girl would be like a lighthouse on a stormy sea if only she would keep her apron instead of wearing spangles. They don't know that all imitations are poor stuff, that all mass production lacks character and interest, and that they make the mistake of their lives when they standardize themselves.

If you were to put 100 twittering yellow canaries in a cage and one blackbird, it would be the blackbird that we would notice and remember. DOROTHY DIX.

A BEDTIME STORY

Story by HAL. COCHRAN Pictures by GEORGE SCARBO

Wee Dotty eyed the midgets who had come from eggs. "Gee, they can do most everything," she shouted. "We can have a little show.

"Imagine! There's a dancing girl, and I'd just love to see her whirl. I'll bet she knows more 'bout the art than we will ever know."

"There's nothing gained, if nothing's tried. Come on, lads, let's get busy. It won't take us very long.

"Our actor friends can sit and rest and watch us, while we do our best. We'll show them that, though we are little, we are pretty strong."

* * *

The giant then directed all the Tinymites. They heard him call, "You'll find some nails and hammers in the basement of my shack.

"And, too, get saws that you will need. With all those things we'll show some speed. Then, when you are through with my fine tools, be sure and put them back."

Real soon the clatter and the din of hammers made the giant grin. "You tots," said he, "are clever! You are doing very well.

"You work as if you're having fun, and soon the small stage will be done." "You bet it will," said Windy, "and I'm sure it will look swell."

"I want to watch the juggler. Gee, I'll bet he's clever as can be," said Duncy. "I can juggle, too. I'll join him in his stunts."

"Ha, ha," laughed Scouty. "Hark to that! Poor Duncy's juggling would fall flat. The thing for you to do, lad, is just sit and watch, for once!"

* * *

Then the old giant said, "Well, tots, apparently we've lots and lots of real good fun in store for us. Now, listen to my plan.

"At my house I have boards galore, with which we'll build a little floor. In other words, we'll make a stage as quickly as we can."

"A good idea," Coppy cried.

To Silence the Clock's Ticking

If the ticking of the clock annoys you at night, silence it in this way! Invert a glass or glass bowl over the clock. You will not hear the ticking. This is well to remember when an invalid must have a clock in his room. The face of the clock will remain as visible as ever if the glass is clear and clean.

Minute Make-Ups

The coiffure contour is becoming higher and higher, especially for evening when hats do not have to be considered. This coiffure follows Greek lines and the roll or twist takes the place of a coronet braid and makes the arrangement one that is not easily disturbed.

Good Taste

By Francine Markel

In a home where there is a waitress serving dinner, does she go to each guest with the food or bring in a platter and lay it on the table?

I. D. R.

Answer—She goes to each guest with a serving dish containing each separate item of food and stands at the left of each guest, who helps him or herself.

USE OPEN ROASTER

A fine cut of beef should always be roasted in an open roaster. The cheaper cuts are for pot roasting and braising. No water should ever be added during the cooking process. The liquor in the roasting pan is used for basting.

Piles Go Quick

Under Dr. Leonhardt's Internal Method

Large numbers of sufferers from itching, bleeding or protruding piles have learned that quick and lasting relief can be accomplished with an internal medicine, when salves do not help and wish is to escape operation.

Bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The veins are flabby, the bowel walls weak—the parts lifeless. To end Piles an internal medicine should be used to stimulate the circulation and help to heal the affected parts.

Dr. Leonhardt was one of the first to discover a real internal Pile remedy. He called his prescription HEM-ROID, and prescribed it for large numbers of patients with a fine record of success and then decided every Pile sufferer should be able to get HEM-ROID tablets from their own druggist with money-back if not joyfully satisfied with the help one bottle gives.

So isn't it wise when other ways fail to go to Merrick Drug Stores, who say, "No matter what kind of Piles you have, one bottle of HEM-ROID tablets must show you the safe, clean way to get rid of your Pile misery or money-back."

COARSE GRAIN PRICES FALL OFF SHARPLY

WINNIPEG, March 15. — Coarse grains futures prices fell sharply on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today, with heavy liquidation apparent. The wheat futures pit was almost deserted as traders turned to the generally-quiet commodities.

Wheat prices held steady in quiet trading, closing ⅛ cent lower, May at 83⅜ and July 83 cents.

No reason was advanced for the liquidation. Rye led the decline, off more than two cents before partially recovering. Barley and flax were off more than a cent, and oats a half-cent.

Export sales of Canadian wheat were confined to small, scattered lots.

March future at Liverpool, up ¾d earlier, closed ¼d higher, but other options closed ⅜-⅝d lower. Chicago was firm, up a cent at one time. Buenos Aires at noon was ⅛-¼ cent higher.

Livestock

By Dominion Livestock Branch

EDMONTON STOCK YARDS, March 15.—Receipts today were 272 cattle, 86 calves, 77 hogs and 13 sheep.

Today's receipts consist mostly of indifferent quality stuff. Considering the quality of the offerings, trading continues keen, with prospects for a good cleanup. All sales indicate that values remain fully steady to firm.

Following are current prices:

BUTCHER CATTLE—
Good-choice fed calves	$5.25 to $6.25
Fair to medium	4.00 to 5.00
Good to choice steers	5.25 to 6.25
Fair to medium	4.00 to 5.00
Common to fair	2.50 to 3.50
Good to choice heifers	4.00 to 5.00
Common to medium	2.00 to 3.50
Good to choice cows	2.75 to 3.50
Common to medium	1.50 to 2.50
Canners and cutters	1.00 to 1.25
Bulls	1.25 to 2.00
STOCKERS AND FEEDERS—
Good steers and heifers	$3.00 to $4.00
Plain to medium	2.00 to 3.00
VEAL CALVES—
Good to choice calves	$5.00 to $6.00
Common to medium	2.50 to 4.50

With insufficient sheep to make a market, prices are quoted steady.

AT CHICAGO

CHICAGO, March 15.—Hogs 8,000; heavy weight 9.35; packing sows 8.80; pigs 8.75.

Cattle 2,500; calves 500; 14.25.

Sheep 10,000; lambs 8.35; ewes 5.85; feeding lambs 7.00.

AT WINNIPEG

WINNIPEG, March 15—Cattle 120; choice steers 7.00. Calves 25; good vealers 6.50. Hogs 105; bacons 7.50; sows 6.25. Sheep nil; market not established.

Whitney Letter

NEW YORK, March 15—Looks lower. The statement was made yesterday that Wednesday's moderate price improvement was viewed as a temporary interruption in a down trend and that lower prices over the week end were anticipated. As a result of the market's performance yesterday there is no valid reason for altering the outlook as expressed.

The market, as measured by the industrial averages is not yet down to the 95 mark and until it gets down to the 95 mark and we are afforded an opportunity to scrutinize the tape action when it gets there, I for one am giving absolutely no consideration to the purchase of stocks. Accordingly, I would advise you to do the same thing.

As expected, the treasury department announced the call for payment on the entire outstanding first Liberty loan bonds aggregating approximately $1,933,000,000. The terms of refinancing are not known. It appears reasonable to assume however that the refinancing will be done at the rate as low if not lower than the last federal government project.

The government has been rather successful in its refinancing program thus far but that is no assurance that its efforts will continue to be attended with success in the face of wanton extravagance by the government itself and the absence of constructive action by congress.

CHICAGO, March 15—Although Washington reports only 8,656,000 Canadian wheat imported for consumption and duty paid since July 1 to March 9, Canada makes the exports to America since August 1 to the end of February (including quantities from interior elevators and Pacific coast) durum wheat 7,515,000 bus., feed wheat 8,280,000, feed oats 2,631,000, barley 6,339,000 and rye 574,000.

Foreign markets were firmer yesterday. There is more confidence in the U.K. It is generally realized that there are only two real export barkets to draw from—the Argentine and Australia. Both these countries have smaller crops than a year ago and export sales so far are ahead of last year at this time. With Canada practically withdrawn from the international market temporarily, the situation from a buyer's point of view is very strong, unable to buy, due to the unfavortake the wheat that the continent is especially if the Orient continues to able credit situation.

If the continent should commence buying next month as some predict, and Canada remains well above the world price level, then the southern hemisphere should do an active business and place a large proportion of the surplus on European markets before the native crops are harvested in Europe.

China took 349,000 of Argentine wheat this week. Total shipments to non-Europe are 1,516,000 since Jan. 1, 12,268,000 a year ago 9,320,000.

MINE SECTION TORONTO MART STAGES RALLY

TORONTO, March 15.—The mining section of the Toronto Exchange staged a fair rally in the last hour today after drifting slowly downward throughout the early part of the session.

Pickle Crow, San Antonio and other issues closed firm to strong and Sylvanite, Macassa, McWatters, Central Patricia, Sheep Creek and Bradian also improved.

Bralorne, Lake Shore, Hollinger, McIntyre, Wright-Hargreaves and Pioneer had gains at the close while Teck was a little down and Dome closed 5 cents up. Wayside lost 2 cents and other penny stocks finishing on the down side included Bobjo and Howey.

She's Real Champion of Lumberjeans

A champion, and a real one! Six feet, two inches in height, and she can fell trees! She is Miss Ruth Hoerschgen of Cataldo, Idaho, pictured after she had won the "lady lumberjacks" championship at Dalles, Oregon, by felling a sixteen-inch tree in one minute, fifty seconds.

STOCK MARKET IN COME-BACK

NEW YORK, March 15.—The stock market was lifted out of its reactionary trend by quiet buying in industrials and specialties today, despite a disappointing slide in the cotton market.

A number of yesterday's depressed issues came back moderately, evidently finding a cushion of short covering. Several issues were up a point or two at the close. The turnover was about 770,000 shares.

PRIEST TELLS OF HARDSHIPS IN RUSS LAND

Rev. Fr. Skalski Exiled Four Years Into Siberia

Because he could not pay a tax of 425,000 doubles levied against his church in southwest Russia by the Soviet government in 1929, he was imprisoned and exiled in Siberia for more than four years, Rev. Fr. O. O. Skalski told a Bulletin reporter who interviewed him at Archbishop O'Leary's residence Friday.

Speaking in halting but exact English, which he had learned in his school days in Germany, Fr. Skalski outlined the sufferings endured by himself and his fellow churchmen in Russia since the Soviet sway commenced. Ordained in 1906 in Zytomierz, capital city of a province in Poland, which was taken over by Russia in 1922, Fr. Skalski rose to rectorship of the cathedral parish which had a population of 100,000 souls.

RELIGION NOT FREE

"Religion is not free in Russia," vehemently states the priest. "On the surface it appears free. But religion is taxed heavily until it is extinguished. The government levies taxes which increase proportionately year by year until the burden becomes impossible. The first year I had to pay only 75 roubles but at the end of four years they made me pay 300,000 roubles on my church and an income tax of 125,000 roubles. We paid this tax but we could pay no more." (The rouble has purchasing power of a dollar.)

"No persons under 16 years is allowed to attend church nor are baptisms or communions allowed. Knowing I was holding services for the last time, I openly violated the regulations in order to give my flock the spiritual comforts so dear to them. Following this incident, I was arrested, put in jail for four months without trial, and finally sent to Siberia."

SIBERIAN PRISONERS

Interned in a prison camp, Fr. Skalski, together with other religious prisoners, spent four years under conditions almost intolerable. Cutting wood from morning till night, the refugees existed on one full meal a day together with two light collations. No clothes were provided except animal skins and there was absolutely no care for the sick.

SENT TO POLAND

In February, 1934, Father Skalski, together with 35 other exiles, was exchanged to Poland for 36 communistic agitators who had been apprehended by the Polish government. Representatives of the latter country met the Russian deportation at the border, clothed and fed them, and took them to Warsaw. From the Polish capital, Father Skalski proceeded to Rome, where he was received in special audience by the Pope, whom he had known when the latter was papal legate to Poland before being made a cardinal.

Pope Pius immediately recalled Father Skalski, whom he had subsequently honored with the papal medal, "Pro Ecclesiae Pontifice," and received him in a private audience that lasted for an hour. Deeply interested in the trials of the Russian churchman, His Holiness suggested Western Canada as a field for future labor after Father Skalski had voiced a disinclination to remaining in Rome.

REFLECTS SUFFERINGS

A man of great stature, the priest's face is lined with passivity and peacefulness that has come with years of suffering and humility. Whenever, and if ever, he is allowed to return to Russia, he will again take up his pastoral duties at Zytomierz, Father Skalski declares.

PRESSING FOR GRAVELLED ROAD

Pressing for construction of an all-weather highway from Vegreville to the Brosseau bridge over the Saskatchewan river, a delegation from the north eastern section of the province interviewed Hon. J. J. MacLellan, minister of public works on Friday.

The delegation, thoroughly representative of the area and totalling about 15, was introduced by A. M. Matheson, U.F.A., Vegreville.

Urgent need of construction was pointed out by spokesmen. The tourist facilities of the country, the productivity of Cold Lake and the rapidly increasing population were all instanced as important reasons for construction of the highway.

It was pointed out that the cost of the proposed highway, which is 33 miles long, would be about $5,000 a mile.

In reply, Hon. Mr. MacLellan promised to take the matter under consideration, although he would make no definite promises.

Good Guesswork Lands Fan Mail

HOLLYWOOD, March 15—Letters whose addresses consist of odd drawings, a large nose or mouth, an ace of clubs, a bottle of gin, or perhaps a few seemingly meaningless words, find their movie star recipients through the deductions of T. A. Shipman. Years of work as a postal sorter in the motion picture capital have made Shipman wise in the ways of fans.

Across the face of the "sixth month, opposite of day," envelope Shipman scrawls "June Knight." The envelope with the "Wall-Ace-Berry" drawing obviously goes to Wally Beery at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. The cartoon of the exaggerated nose OK of course, eventually reaches Jimmy Durante, and Joe E. Brown gets the envelope bearing the large mouth.

Greta Garbo gets many envelopes upon which are drawn an eye, a tank, an eye, a "go" traffic signal and a house—"ay tank ay go home"—and Jack Oakie gets lots of drawings of an automobile jack, or a jack from a deck of cards, the letter "O" and a key.

VET SURGEONS PLAY PART IN PUBLIC HEALTH

Dr. R. C. Wallace Talks to Members Here for Refresher Course

The rapidly growing part which veterinary surgeons play in the safe-guarding of public health was emphasized by Dr. R. C. Wallace, president of the University of Alberta, in an address to members of the Veterinary Surgeons' Association gathered here for a "refresher" course this week.

The course, conducted by the University, was attended by some 20 to 25 veterinarians, coming from all sections of Alberta. Among those who gave lectures were Dean A. C. Rankin of the faculty of medicine; Dr. M. R. Bow, deputy minister of public health; Dr. R. M. Shaw, assistant professor of bacteriology; Dr. R. B. Jenkins, Edmonton medical health officer; Prof. J. P. Sackville, professor of animal husbandry; Dr. P. R. Talbot, provincial veterinarian; Dr. B. I. Love, secretary of the Alberta Veterinarians' Association, and Dr. J. Gordon Anderson, Calgary, member of the association's executive.

SPECIAL TRAINING

The special training of a veterinary doctor fits him to play a part in public health which can be undertaken by no other man, Dr. Wallace said. He referred to the most important phases of the veterinary's public health service as meat, dairy and sanitary inspection.

In diagnozing of diseases of animals which are communicable to man and diseases which are transmitted through food mediums, the veterinary's work was a highly specialized profession and its importance in the community was becoming recognized, Dr. Wallace said. The president welcomed the doctors to the university and placed at their disposal all the institution's facilities during their course.

Dean Rankin dealt with the bacterial food poisoning, the most common forms being ptomaine and protein poisoning. These ills are contracted through meats, he said, necessitating the most thorough and skilled meat inspection.

NEW DISEASES

Professor Shaw dealt exhaustively with new diseases, communicable from animals, giving the latest information and tests for their detection. He spoke especially on undulant fever and tularaemia. The latter disease, he said, is contracted from rabbits and prairie chickens. There are more cases at present in Alberta than in any other province, he stated.

The milk supply of the city of Edmonton was equal in purity and qualiyt to that of any in the Dominion, Dr. Jenkins said, in a lecture on pasteurization. Pasteurization, he said, is the greatest preventive of milk-borne diseases. The vets made a visit to the Woodland dariy where H. C. Graham of the city health department demonstrated pasteurization methods.

Dr. Bow spoke of milk as a vehicle of infection and outlined the efforts being made to secure pasteurization in all the municipalities of the province. Milk and meat inspection is becoming increasingly extensive in all section, he said.

Among diseases of man which are borne by milk he listed tuberculosis, typhoid fever, septic sore throat, scarlet fever and diphtheria.

HARBORS GERMS

Dr. Talbot dealt with diseases of the udder of the dairy cow, and spoke of the udder as a means of harboring germs detrimental to public health.

Prof. Sackville spoke mainly on feeds and feeding of livestock, outlining nutritive deficiencies common in Alberta.

The necessity of proper inspection of meat by qualified men was emphasized in a paper presented by Dr. Anderson. He spoke of bacteria and parasites of cattle which are communicable to man through the medium of meat.

Dr. Love of Edmonton gave an exhaustive paper on contagious abortion in dairy cattle, which is responsible for undulant fever in humans. Dr. B. E. Barlow of Bassano, president of the veterinarians' association, was in charge of arrangements for the course.

WOLVES' BAND FIGHT FIREMEN

SOFIA, March 15—The Bulgarian fireman's lot is not a happy one these days. Added to the menace of winter cold, and of fire itself, he is faced in isolated villages with attack by wolves.

At Varna fire-fighters found a large band of wolves warming themselves around a burning house. A fire chief who tried to enter the house with hose and axe was attacked and severely injured. Other wolves attacked his horse.

Woman Candidate Hopes To Become Halifax's Mayor

HALIFAX, March 15—Having had "a narrow escape from becoming a lawyer", only to become successively elocution teacher, housewife and joint operator of a restaurant, Mrs. Marie Dean is out looking for a new job now. She wants to become the next mayor of Halifax.

If she gets the job, she will be the first woman to fill the chief magistrate's chair in the 186-year history of this old citadel city. Whether or not she does, old timers believe that she is the first woman ever to toss her hat in the Halifax civic ring.

Forty-seven years old, Mrs. Dean is a native of the United States, but her marriage to Robert W. Dean made her a Canadian. Together they run a restaurant, supplying food to the city's jobless wards at 12½ cents a meal.

Despite this circumstance, she doesn't think much of direct relief. "It's a vicious system", she says. "The majority of the unemployed have a hopeless outlook. Give them some work and the dissatisfaction will be lessened". She believes a three-year works programme should be financed by a bond issue.

The Navajo Indians believe that a "spider woman" taught them the art of weaving, and for many years every blanket was woven with a spider-hole in the centre as a tribute to her.

Your Children -

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Those who saw "Lives of a Bengal Lancer," viewed the flinty Colonel Stone with indignation. Any father who could treat his young son as he did—a callow youth sent out to his father's regiment in India—wasn't human, that was all.

O. R. Barton

Yet he was in the position of almost any parent who has had "public relations" with his own child. The professor who has his own boy in class, or the woman personnel-manager whose daughter has a job in the stocking department.

Favoritism is ruinous because it reacts most decidedly on the child involved. Even the same treatment given others is usually misinterpreted. And naturally the parent in such a position resorts to harsher measures than actually necessary to free the offspring of the stigma of "pull" with the mater or the old man.

CHILD MAY BE BENEFITED

In a way every parent is in the same position, morally. He or she might ask himself if he is treating the children enough as young subalterns who are just units in a regiment after all—the regiment of life and people, and give-and-take, and do-your-best.

Isn't it possible to leave love and emotion out of it once in awhile FOR THE GOOD OF THE CHILD? To lay aside that yearning and show Son Thomas or Daughter Kay that life won't always wrap its arms about them and croon over their troubles?

Naturally this stoical attitude can be overdone. There are too many homes today in which parents make it quite evident that they wash their hands of the affairs of the young folks. No one can dispute this fact. Indeed there is an appalling lack of contact and confidence between adolescents and parents as it happens.

On the other hand there is the home where the child has never been permitted to be free of parental emotion. No matter what happens he feels that he is excused or forgiven or supported.

EMOTIONALLY INFANT ADULTS

For this reason many of us have grown up, emotional babies, feeling sorry for ourselves and expecting everyone else to be as sorry for us. We are told that something like 90 per cent of our adults are still emotional children mentally, that we look on duty and the world with the same slant we had in our protected and favored childhood.

It is just a thought but, I believe, an important one. It might be well, even at the risk of some heart-aches like that of the old Colonel, to try to view our children like the rest. The professor in the school room, the manager in the store. There can be love and commeraderie in plenty to make up the prescription, but there should be more. The prescription to save the patient needs a blend of steel too—the steel of the world he will face, the disinterested world where he won't be daddy's son or mama's boy any longer.

MRS. MARY HOWSON PASSES

Mrs. Margaret Forbes, 10216 114 street has received word of the death of her mother, Mrs. Mary Howson at Viceroy, Saskatchewan, after an illness lasting about two years. Mrs. Howson came from the east as a bride to Birtle, Manitoba in the spring of 1885 and had seen many changes since the pioneering days. After the death of her husband in 1909 Mrs. Howson moved with her family to southern Saskatchewan when they again helped to open up a new district.

Three sons are still residing at Viceroy and two daughters in southern California besides Mrs. Forbes of Edmonton.

Of the 9,000,000 women in Turkey, upwards of 8,000,000 belong to the peasant class.

Popcorn Served With Soup Delights Children

By MARY E. DAGUE

Popcorn instead of crackers with the soup and a salad surprise that was named for President Roosevelt's own little granddaughter, Sistie Dall! Can you imagine more exciting items for a children's company supper or luncheon?

Salad Surprise Anna (you know Sistie was named for her grandmother and mother) was the invention of a New York chef. Right now it is especially adapted for the home-maker on a moderate budget because it uses canned tomatoes, and fresh ones are pretty dear at the moment.

Cream of corn soup is good to start this meal, and does well with the hot buttered popcorn, too. And a perfectly scrumptious finish from any ten-year-old's point of view would be ginger-bread and cream cheese.

SALAD SURPRISE ANNA

Four cups canned tomatoes, 8 whole cloves, 2 small onions chopped fine, 1 bay leaf, 1 cup chopped celery tops, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 lemon, 2 tablespoons vinegar, 2 tablespoons granulated gelatin, ½ cup cold water, 1 teaspoon peppercorns.

Put tomatoes, cloves, onions, bay leaf, celery tops, salt, peppercorns and grated lemon rind in a sauce pan and simmer fifteen minutes. Strain. Or you can use three cups of well seasoned tomato juice cocktail. Soften gelatin in cold water for five minutes and add to tomato juice which has been reheated to the boiling point. Add vinegar and lemon juice and stir until dissolved.

And here comes the surprise. Fill individual molds with the jelly and when partly set, imbed in the centre some shreds of celery, apple and white of hard-cooked egg arranged in the form of a daisy; add a slice of egg yolk for the centre of the flower. Let stand on ice for several hours to chill and become firm. Unmold on a bed of crisp lettuce and serve with mayonnaise.

CREAM OF CORN SOUP

Two cups canned corn, 2 cups boiling water, 2 tablespoons minced celery leaves, 2 thin slices onion, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon white pepper, 4 tablespoons whipping cream, 4 teaspoons minced parsley, popcorn, 2 cups milk.

Combine corn, celery leaves and onion with boiling water and simmer twenty minutes, crushing corn with a wooden potato masher while cooking. Rub through a sieve. Melt butter, stir in flour and slowly add milk stirring constantly. Add salt and pepper and bring to the boiling point. Add corn and heat. Whip cream until firm, seasoning lightly with salt and pepper. Drop a spoonful of whipped cream on each plate of soup and sprinkle with parsley. Serve with popped corn.

Tomorrow's Menu

A Red Head's Problems Over Colors Are Many

By GLADYS GLAD
"America's Most Famous Beauty"

The charming and talented Vi Bradley, whose grand voice has made her one of the most popular of radio stars, has very beautiful auburn hair. This well-known songstress claims that the famous painter, Titian, was the lad who first glorified red hair, and ever since, titian-haired damsels have evoked "oohs" and "ahs" of admiration.

VI BRADLEY

I can't blame any woman for longing to possess auburn hair and its usual accompaniment of green or gray eyes and delicate, white skin. Red hair is really very beautiful when properly cared for, but as Vi Bradley can tell you, the beauty problems of the redhead are many. The hair itself, first of all, requires a good deal of care. For only when it is properly treated does red hair become a shining aureole of loveliness.

That's not the only problem that faces the titian-haired lass, however. For according to Vi the redhead must be extremely watchful of the colors she wears. Vi Bradley herself looks her loveliest in bronze, coco brown, green (as near emerald as possible), and a medium gray. And these, of course, are her favorite shades.

The girl with red hair and rosy complexion generally demands colors entirely different from those suited to the redhead with fair, pale skin. The former must not stress reds, as they will over-emphasize the floridness of her coloring. She should stick to cool greens and blues, creamy white, dusky browns, capucine, violet and ivory. The other type, however, can wear the more colorful corals, russet, dull black, violet, dark blue, flame and aquamarine tints.

The lovely Vi Bradley also believes that every redhead must be careful of the shades of cosmetics that she uses. Vi herself chooses her cosmetics with the unerring eye of a painter. In the daytime, she generally uses a rather deep, yellowish-red lipstick, and just the faintest touch of rouge of the same basic shade. Her powder is of a rachel or soft peach shade. She uses just a bit of make-up for daytime wear, for she thinks that too much color on a redhead gives her a garish appearance. For evening, however, she likes more rouge, and a bright, moist lipstick. To add depth and sparkle to her eyes, Vi uses a lustrous green eyeshadow cream, and also uses a dark brown mascara, in order to bring out the length of her lashes.

Hollywood Gossip

INTIMATE GLIMPSES AND INSIDE STUFF ON THE MOVIE COLONY

By DAN THOMAS

This, ladies and gentlemen, is the opinion of Nelson Eddy. And having been an important figure on the concert stage as well as a keenly interested student of grand opera for several years before answering the call of Hollywood gold, Eddy should know whereof he speaks.

Of course, his statement is bound to draw a barrage of criticism from grand opera circles, but that makes no difference to him. In fact, I believe he is getting quite a chuckle out of visioning the expressions on the faces of pompous opera stars when they read that the "lowly" motion picture is going to exert a tremendous influence upon their exalted "kingdom."

"For the last 20 years or more grand opera has stagnated," declares the singing actor, whom you may remember as the man who sang "Carlo" in "Student Tour" and who soon will make his appearance as Jeanette MacDonald's leading man in "Naughty Marietta."

"It has needed a certain amount of modernizing, but there has been no person willing to take the first step in that direction.

"Now our film producers have stepped forward. And I feel quite sure that their methods of presenting opera on the screen plus the training they are giving to present and future opera stars will completely rejuvenate that branch of the theatre."

CLOSING DOWN ANYOX PLANT CATASTROPHE

B.C. Told 2,500 Would Go On Relief in Copper Town

VICTORIA, March 15—Permanent closing down of operations of the Granby Consolidated Mining, Smelting and Power Co., Ltd., at Anyox, B.C., would be a catastrophe, Mortimer H. Lamb, secretary of the British Columbia division of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy, Thursday, told the mining committee of the provincial legislature.

Mr. Lamb stated a memorandum on the subject had been sent to the Dominion government but had met with little support. He stated the company planned to close the plant in June.

An eight-cent price for copper would save the situation and prices might improve by June, he declared. Meanwhile, if some arrangement could be made whereby co-operation on the part of the provincial and Dominion governments would ensure continuance of operations without profit, the province would be saved a large increase in unemployment relief costs.

He said abandonment of the plant would throw 1,000 men out of work and put 2,500 persons on relief. He said the company had arranged to move the entire population from the plant to Vancouver.

Many other persons would be indirectly affected. If the plant were demolished, $12,000,000 worth of equipment would be thrown on the market, he added.

Tram Strike At Dublin Is Eased

DUBLIN, March 15.—The government stepped in yesterday to provide relief for footsore Dubliners, who have been walking to work since a tram and bus strike opened two weeks ago.

The Department of Commerce and Industry announced it is providing emergency passenger service.

Saturday Gift Show At Rialto

All boys and girls attending the Saturday show at the Rialto will be given free the new Boys' and Girls' Newspaper, sixteen pages full of comics, detective stories, puzzles, stamp information, magic tricks and how to do them, adventure stories, comics, sports, junior housekeeping and a hundred and one other articles dear to the hearts of boys and girls.

RIALTO

The first feature has been billed especially for Irish theatre-goers and lovers of the Irish music and humor. It was booked especially by Mr Long to celebrate the famous Irish holiday of St. Patrick's Day.

"Lily of Killarney" is the name and it is starring John Garrick and Gina Malo. Full of Irish tunes and airs it is a beautiful picture and singing of "Father O'Flynn" by the assembled "Cronies" is very appealing and touching.

The lovable character is ably portrayed by Stanley Holloway who is outstanding throughout the picture.

The other part of the double feature is "She Had to Choose," starring Sally Blane, Buster Crabbe and Regis Toomey. This entertaining feature is a story of youth, love and laughter, being played by all youthful stars who fill it full of pep and enthusiasm.

HIGHLIGHTS TONIGHT

A specially arranged fantasy based on traditional Irish airs, played as a harp solo will be one of the features on the NBC-WEAF net at 6:00 p.m. Lucille Manners, taking the place of Jessica Dragonette will have as her solos "If Love Were All" and "Old Folks at Home." Other numbers are "Rollin' Home," "Eileen" and "Would God I Were a Tender Apple Blossom."

"Confederate Girl," a story of the race track will be the First Nighter play when the "Little Theatre off Times Square" is broadcast over an NBC-WEAF chain at 8:00 p.m.

NBC will cover New York's waterfront in a novel broadcast over the WJZ network at 9:30 p.m. with Cameron King, ace announcer at the mike. King will handle the broadcast from the ships, Graham McNamee from the shoreline. Mobile radio units will visit Fulton Fish Market on the East River, a sailor's rooming house, the foot of Wall Street, the Battery, ferry boats plying between New Jersey and Staten Island, the weather bureau, Ellis Island, Holland Tunnel, the S.S. Olympic and the piers of the North River. Frequent flashbacks will be made to the studios in radio city for dramatizations of things nautical.

INDIVIDUALISM SLIPPING SAYS DR. WALLACE

World Growing More to State Control Asserts Lecturer

That during the past thirty years there has been a steady change from a purely individualistic viewpoint to one of increasing social consciousness was the opinion expressed by Dr. R. C. Wallace, president, University of Alberta, during an address given at the "Ladies' night" of the Lions' club held in the Rose Room of the King Edward hotel, Thursday evening.

Held under the chairmanship of J. D. Wallace, president of the club, the members sang Irish songs, wh'le two vocal numbers were given by Mrs. L. E. Drummond.

YOUTH STANDS ALONE

Outlining the difference in the advice given to young men of the present day to that of 30 years ago, Dr. Wallace stated, that where young men of the past generation had been taught to use their own individualistic appeal, initiative and sense of responsibility, today they were reminded that they would have to play their part in bearing the heavy load of the world's business.

"Today we tell young men that their job is to see how well they can shoulder their part of the burden, fulfill their responsibilities and make the world a better place," said Dr. Wallace.

This change, stated the speaker, had taken place because it was realized today that the purely individualistic appeal which was formerly in existence had left a world which was ailing and weak.

STATE CONTROL TREND

"We are now playing our part as citizens of the state," said Dr. Wallace, who also stated that the world was growing more and more towards state control, although it would be a brave man who would prophesy how much progress would be made in this direction during the next 25 years.

Among the young people of today, said Dr. Wallace, there was less selfishness and more concern about social relationships. "Today young people think of the state as a complete social system," said the speaker.

In this new found social consciousness, although it had many excellent points, there was danger of entirely losing a sense of individualistic responsibility, said Dr. Wallace, who stressed the need of retaining a balance between individualism and social relationship.

There was another serious aspect facing people today, said Dr. Wallace, and that was the growing reluctancy of being left alone, and in this way thrown on one's own resources.

"The best things in life come to one during solitude," said Dr. Wallace. "We must beware of a sense of being lost if we find that we have an hour or two to spend alone and must not fear to look into ourselves and live easily with ourselves."

This Stude Won't Be Football Hero Long

* * *

Champ Ice-Cream-Eater

One student, a towering football hero, had made an idle boast that he could polish off a brick of ice cream without assistance. On being challenged, in a moment of indignation, he had raised the quota to three and called for wagers. One was forthcoming.

A time limit of 35 minutes was set. The first brick was taken out of the freezer and disappeared in four minutes. A plea by the central figure in the case to allow the last two bricks to soften while he was eating the first was disregarded and the second brick was served up fresh from the cooler. It was eaten amid a fast gathering audience in seven minutes. The challenger, now distinctly worried, depended on strategy to save the day but he failed. As a last hope, the third brick was chosen with foresight. It consisted of a rich cherry and nut mixture.

Hitting his stride, and with victory in sight, the hero of the piece, cheered on by admiring throngs, clipped ten minutes off the set time to down the third brick as the twenty-five minute mark passed.

205,446 Drivers Licenses In Effect

There are at present a total of 205,446 automobile drivers' licenses in effect in this province, according to information given the legislature by Premier R. G. Reid at the request of Hugh J. Montgomery, Liberal, Wetaskiwin.

Of the total, there were 10,866 issued in 1934, in which year there were suspended 176 licenses.

In 1934 there were 82 convictions of drivers not having licenses, and 24 for not having licenses with them.

A total of 3,376 chauffeurs' licenses were taken out last year and 10 were suspended and one cancelled.

MAYOR URGED TO GO EAST FOR PARLEY

Declaring the Montreal mayors' conference to be of vital importance, Ald. A. Bisset, Edmonton's representative at the dominion parley, telegraphed Mayor J. A. Clarke Friday urging him to attend. The mayor announced on Wednesday he would not be a delegate.

Ald. Bisset's wire reads, in part: "Let nothing prevent your attendance here even if you have to call a moratorium on city business during absence. This conference vital. New York dailies interested. Conference must be thoroughly representative and no municipal business at home for the time being has the importance of the business of this convention. Aldermen are all right in their place, but we want the mayors here."

COOL WEATHER TO CONTINUE

Brilliant sunshine with a stiffer bite in the air was the weatherman's program for Friday, while continuing cool temperature is forecast.

After four-fifths of an inch of snow fell yesterday, most of it melting in the early stages of the snowfall, the sky cleared to the accompaniment of a drop in temperature.

The low point was two above zero reached at 5 p.m. today, a rise to 9 above being recorded at 9 a.m. Yesterday's highest was 35 above, at 6 a.m. The morning barometer reading was 27.53, up, and a light west wind prevailed.

Lower temperatures were reported throughout the northern part of the province this morning, Grouard being the coldest, reporting 20 below. Clear skies were reported throughout this territory.

Gleaned From Today's News

W. Lovell, Vegreville, will leave from St. John on board the Canadian Pacific steamship Montcalm on March 22 for an extended visit to Great Britain

To spend the spring and summer in England E. L. March, his wife and daughter, Castor, will sail on the Montcalm from St. John on March 22.

J. McCaig, Canadian Pacific Railway solicitor, Calgary, successor to George A. Walker, K.C., is a business visitor in Edmonton conferring with officials of the company here.

The city power plant reports a surplus to date this year of $32,373 as compared to $32,349 for the corresponding period last year. For February the surplus was $70,780 as against $66,620 for February, 1934

The speakers at the Canada First Club meeting to be held at Conservative headquarters on Monday evening will be James H. Ogilvie, Conservative candidate in West Edmonton, and James A. Buchanan provincial organizer.

Continuation by the dominion government of efforts to secure the carrying out of the 1933 World Wheat Agreement and to endeavor to secure its renewal is advocated in a resolution placed on the legislative Order Paper by Col. F. C. Jamieson, V.D., K.C., Conservative, Edmonton.

J. E. Brownlee, U.F.A., Ponoka, and former premier of Alberta, will continue the debate on the budget in the legislature on Friday afternoon. He adjourned the debate on Thursday night. This will be the first time he has spoken on the floor of the House this session, heretofore only rising to vote.

Maybe it was the mild weather that led an unknown citizen to think that skating and hockey was all finished. But whatever the reason, two sections of fence from a Norwood skating rink were stolen Thursday night. The report of the theft was made to police by J. Coleman of the city engineer's department.

An amount of $182.80 was advanced by the provincial government for persons appointed by the Dominion Poultry Marketing Board, to cover travelling expenses for a meeting held in this city on Oct 25 last, according to information brought down in the legislature at the request of Harvey Bossenberry, Liberal, Pincher Creek. The amount was refunded by the Marketing Board on Feb. 9.

Whether a further plan for the marketing of eggs and poultry will be submitted to the Federal Marketing Board was occupying the attention of the Alberta Poultry Marketing Board Friday morning at a meeting held in the Board's offices, Northern building. At press time no announcement was made by the directors, but it is understood there is little likelihood of any proposal being made in the near future.

THE INQUIRING REPORTER

The piebald appearance of the Edmonton post office today inspired The Bulletin's Inquiring Reporter to ask: "Would the spending of a few thousand dollars to clean the face of the old post office building be justified?" He received the following answers:

SID PARSONS, unemployed bricklayer: "Absolutely. This work should be done. The front of the old building looks like an abandoned market garden. The money would be well spent. It would give employment to a number of men, and would also lengthen the life of the building

• • •

JAMES MOONEY, stone mason: "I consider it a shame the work has not been done long ago. The appearance of the old part of this building is a disgrace. Representations should be made to the proper authorities to have the work done. It would be good business. It would give employment and accomplish a work that is long overdue.

• • •

MIKE JONES, stone cutter: "I understand that representations have been made to the proper authorities to have this work done, but no action has been taken. It is work that should be done. It is needed both from the standpoint of preserving the building, adding to the beauty of the street and providing much-needed employment.

• • •

TOM EVANS, carpenter: "Of course the work should be undertaken The look of the building is a perfect disgrace. But I guess the work will be undertaken when a building boom is on us, and not now when work is so badly needed.

STOLEN AUTO IS RECOVERED

Another auto, the 25th in three weeks, was stolen Thursday night and recovered by police early Friday morning. Owned by R. M. Halpenny of 9318 107 avenue, the car was taken between 8:30 and 9 p.m. from in front of his residence. Police found it later near the corner of 95 street and 104 avenue, where joy-riders had abandoned it.

Stolen Wednesday night, J. A. Sinson's auto, license number 3-284, is still missing.

Police Court

Nick Buchniak sold a second hand car for $40 to a local auto wreckage this week and now faces a charge of false pretences. Police allege the car did not belong to him. On arraignment he entered a plea of not guilty and the case was adjourned to Monday.

Another young woman who along with three others stirred up a rumpus in a 96 street dance hall Thursday night and then made the mistake of visiting a cafe was fined $20 and costs for intoxication. Her three friends were lucky enough to leave the eating house before the arrival of police.

Steve Shandro, chief clerk for the Canadian Pacific Steamships, Edmonton, is a business visitor in Red Deer. He will return to the city on Saturday evening.

William Ogden, sergeant-at-arms for the Canadian Legion, has been confined to his home for the past few days through an attack of influenza

Irish favors and other specialties connected with St. Patrick's Day celebration will be the feature of the regular whist drive and dance sponsored by the Canadian Legion at the Memorial Hall on Saturday evening.

H. F. McKee, manager of the special relief department, has returned to the city after a two-day business visit to Calgary where he studied the direct relief system in operation in that city. Mr. McKee will prepare a report for commissioners in this connection.

Seeking the Morgan cup, emblematic of the intermediate championship, the Kerrobert Tigers will arrive in Edmonton over the Canadian Pacific Railway on Saturday morning to play a three-game series with Vegreville Rangers. The party will leave Edmonton in a special motor bus for Vegreville on Saturday afternoon.

Indicative of increased rail traffic is the announcement made Friday morning by G. D. Brophy, district passenger agent for the Canadian Pacific Railway, that the company would operate the Mountaineer this summer after a lapse of three years. This crack through train will be run from Chicago to Vancouver, the running time scheduled for the trip being set at 70 hours, according to Mr. Brophy.

Replacement of a considerable amount of wooden watermains with cast iron piping has been completed by the city waterworks department, it was reported Friday by Supt. R. J. Gibb. This work is carried on during the winter months owing to the fact that 90 per cent. of the workmen engaged would be on relief if winter work was not supplied, Supt. Gibb explained.

ALD. FRY PREFERS "PLAY SAFE" PLAN

As an alderman, he would not take a chance on the city's power plant breaking down, without sufficient reserve to avoid interruption of service, Ald. J. W. Fry told delegates to the Federation of Community Leagues, Thursday night. He was at present inclined to favor a continued hydro-interchange, for this reason.

Ald. Fry addressed the Federation, giving an outline of facts surrounding the city's present agreement with the Calgary Power Company. He also gave information which has come before the civic power committee which is studying the situation to decide whether or not a new agreement should be entered into. L. Lloyd Jones, president, was in the chair.

The first business in the management of a utility was to provide continuous and dependable service, Ald. Fry stated, revenue being the secondary consideration.

To be independent of an interchange agreement with a hydro company the city's steam plant would need to be extended at a cost of $1,200,000, Ald. Fry said.

To a suggestion by a delegate to the Federation that, of the $112,000 paid each year to the Calgary Power company, $80,000 goes directly out of the city, Ald. Fry replied that there would be a similar outflow through interest on capital borrowed for plant extensions.

Legislative Group Opens Inquiry Into Provincial Relief

Heads Group Of Highland Games Ass'n

JAMES A. MacKINNON

Liberal candidate for West Edmonton at the forthcoming Federal election, who Thursday evening was elected president of Highland Games association to succeed T. H. Campbell, who has retired. The annual athletic event will take place on May 24 at the South Side Athletic grounds.

A meeting of the publicity committee of the Edmonton Exhibition Association will be held in room 702 McLeod block on Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

Opening Session of Probe By Agricultural Committee All in Favor to Relief Administration.

A new "member" appeared in the Legislature this morning—the member for the relief camps of the [illegible].

Leaning airily against the mahogany table where the mace usually reposes with a list to starboard and a faraway look in his eyes as if he had spent his monthly stipend at 20 cents a day in a nearby beer parlor was a dummy, attired in the overalls, boots, cap, sweater and smock and mitts of a relief worker. At his feet was a model of a relief camp made by the men at the Pincher Creek camp to while away their time and satisfy the creative urge in their enforced [illegible].

The Agricultural Committee under Chairman A. B. Claypool, U.F.A. member for Didsbury has opened an enquiry into provincial relief that will last for several days, and stir up a lot of interest and diverse opinions. Around the chamber were numerous men and women representing the various relief organizations, waiting their opportunity to ask quest[illegible].

PRINCIPAL WITNESS

The opening session was all favorable to the relief administration. Relief Commissioner A. A. McKenzie was principal witness. He brought with him a farmer from Orkney and a camp foreman from Cadomin to testify to the excellent food, organization and good feeling that exists in the camps for homeless single men.

On Monday the enquiry will resume after a subcommittee to be named by Chairman Claypool has first investigated the numerous

Charles Dickens' DAVID COPPERFIELD

ADAPTED BY BEATRICE FABER from THE METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER Picture

WHAT HAS HAPPENED BEFORE

Little David Copperfield, fatherless, had lived with his mother in a pleasant cottage at Blunderstone, England. His mother had married Mr. Murdstone, who had so terrorized her she had died a year later. David has been sent to London to work in a warehouse and to lodge with the gay, irresponsible Micawbers. In the latter's house, now, Mr. Micawber, with loud cries, is about to commit suicide.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

THE DONKEY-CART MAN

With a rush, Mrs. Micawber, David and the children ran down the stairs.

At sight of them, Mr. Micawber picked up a paper and waved it dramatically. "A summons! This is the end. Oh, Master Copperfield, innocent bearer of most fatal tidings! A summons for debt! He's waiting outside to take me to prison!"

Mrs. Micawber instantly collapsed against the grate. Mr. Micawber pulled at his neck-cloth and flourished a large razor. "You see before you a beggared outcast whose doom is sealed!" he roared.

"Farewell, Emma! Farewell, my children!"

Clicket popped her head in the door. "It isn't an officer! It ain't nobody! He's gone!"

With magical suddenness, Micawber was quite calm again. "Emma, my love," he said coolly, "he's gone." He closed the razor and put it away. "My life, the danger is over. All is well."

Mrs. Micawber looked at him dazedly, then rushed into his arms. "Wilkins! The cloud is passed."

Micawber, quite himself again, smiled brightly. "And now, my dears, what about a little dinner?"

Mrs. Micawber made a small deprecating sound. "The only thing, my love, is that, with the exception of a heel of a Dutch cheese, which is not really adapted to the wants of a young family, there is really—well, not a scrap of anything in the larder."

"Oh, ma'am!" David exclaimed in concern, "I have—if you would allow me, two or three shillings."

Mrs. Micawber looked at him. For a moment she was almost beautiful as a tender smile trembled on her lips. She and Mr. Micawber exchanged a glance.

"Oh, no," Micawber said. "I couldn't think of it. But you have, I'm sure—I can see it in your face—a discretion beyond your years. So you can render us another kind of service if you will, for which we shall be ever grateful."

"Oh, sir; pray tell me," David said eagerly.

"Well," Mrs. Micawber replied, her voice quivering a little, "we have already parted with much of the silver plate, but," she continued, bringing forth some silver spoons, "perhaps with these, if you would be so good, you will find the pawnshop at the foot of the road."

David, understanding quite well, took them. "Certainly, ma'am; I will do my best." And he hurried out on his errand.

In the days and weeks that followed, David's only relief from the oppression of the warehouse was to hurry home each night to the Micawbers. They had taken him to their bosoms, so that he almost felt like a member of the family. And in spite of the confusion and noise of the household, there was a warmth and friendliness about it he had not known since the day he came home to find his mother married to Mr. Murdstone.

Towards the close of a winter's day he was working rapidly to finish his allotment of bottles. The cold of the water had penetrated his hands, and he stopped for a moment. As he swung them to restore the circulation, Mealy Potatoes noticed him.

"Quit yer leafin'. Git back to work." He gave David a vicious shove towards the tub.

Amid loud jeers, David picked himself up painfully and resumed work, the hot tears scalding his eyes. And for the rest of the day he worked steadily and quietly, keeping to himself as much as possible.

Just as the bell rang that announced the end of the working day, David looked up, to see Clickett standing in the door. "He's been jugged, Micawber has," she stated in a loud whisper. "Taken off to debtor's—prison. And Mrs. Micawber's gone to keep him company."

"But don't you worry. Debtor's prison ain't like the real prison. They walk about and enjoy themselves. There's lots of families stay there for years—till they pay up."

David shook his head mournfully. "Then I'm afraid they'll be there a long time."

Every day thereafter found him at the gate of King's Bench Prison, visiting the Micawbers. The months dragged by, then, one spring day, David found Micawber in high spirits again.

"My dear Copperfield," he said, hurrying forward, as David entered the gate of the prison courtyard. "Excellent news! After many long months, the somewhat grudging generosity of Mrs. Micawber's family has made it possible for us to liquidate the debt and escape this durance vile—in short, tomorrow we—scoot!"

David's face glowed. "Oh I'm glad."

"You have a good heart," Micawber said gaily. "The heart is the thing. And that portion of the Micawber anatomy you have forever." He patted David on the shoulder. "We have just been celebrating. Go up to our room and join Mrs. Micawber in a cup of cheer."

David found Mrs. Micawber, surrounded by the children, to be in quite bright spirits, and just a little happier for the beer she had been drinking.

"May I ask ma'am what you and Mr. Micawber intend to do now?" he inquired politely.

Mrs. Micawber sipped her drink. "My family are of the opinion that Mr. Micawber should quit London and exert his talents in the country. Mr. Micawber is a man of great talent. My family hopes that something might be done for a man of his ability at Plymouth—in the Custom House. They think it indispensable that he should be on the spot—"

"— to be ready—" David prompted.

"—Exactly. To be ready in case of anything turning up."

"And do you go too Madam?" David asked, his face drooping.

Instantly, Mrs. Micawber was seized with hysteria. "I never will desert Mr. Micawber," she sobbed. "He may have concealed his difficulties from me—he may have been too sanguine in expecting to overcome them—" she took a deep breath—"—he may have disposed of, at perhaps half their value, the pearl necklace and bracelets which I have inherited from Mama—but—", her voice rose to a loud wail—"I never will desert Micawber! No, no, no, I never will desert him!"

At this moment, Micawber hurried in. He noticed his wife's agitation and without a word, folded her to his bosom. David quietly crept out.

Micawber sought him out on the courtyard steps a little later. "Mrs. Micawber is feeling very low," he explained. Then he noticed David's woebegone expression. He put his arms around him affectionately. "What is it my little friend? Come then, unburden your heart."

"It is only—that I shall miss you so very much." David was holding back the tears with difficulty. "You have been so good to me—you and Mrs. Micawber—and as long as I had such friends, I could not despair."

"But now that you are going," he continued, "and there will be nobody—well—"

Micawber raised his hand impressively. "My motto has always been, 'Nil desperandum.' In short never despair.' The Custom House will, in all probability, secure me great political eminence and soon, my dear Copperfield, when we have our own home in Plymouth you shall be our honored guest."

"Thank you very much," David said simply. He looked away for a moment, then composed himself.

"I have an aunt in Dover. I thought—perhaps—"

"The very thing, my dear Copperfield! Your aunt will welcome you with open arms."

David hesitated.

"But Peggotty told me she's very 'cantankerous.' Perhaps she's shut me out. And Dover's a long way."

"True—too true. Nevertheless—as the Bard says: Nothing attempted, nothing gained." Micawber waved his arms. "But should this formidable aunt repulse you, young Pilgrim, write me a letter." For him the matter was now disposed of. "We are friends for life, my dear Copperfield!" he said embracing David heartily.

After seeing the Micawbers off the next day, David quickly made his decision. He would go to Dover, as Micawber had suggested.

He was on the Blackfriar's road, near the Obelisk, dragging his luggage box along, when he spied a long-legged young man beside a donkey-cart.

David addressed him timidly. "I was wondering whether you could move my box to the Dover coach office. I can pay you sixpence."

The young man grasped the box and put it in the cart. "Have you got the money to pay me? Let me see now."

David produced a handful of coins. With one deft movement the young man snatched them, then jumped into the cart and started off into the fog.

"Stop! Give me my money." David called despairingly, but only a jeering laugh answered him.

(All of David's possessions and money gone, and not a friend in the world! What is he to do? How will he reach his Aunt in Dover? Be sure to read tomorrow's exciting installment.)

CONTRACT BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE BULLETIN

By E. V. SHEPARD

FAMOUS BRIDGE TEACHER

AN EXPENSIVE HABIT

An official of one of the largest corporations in the country has the expensive habit of doubling opposing calls upon the slightest excuse, usually resulting in added scores for those doubled. Here are two samples of such doubles made of consecutive contracts last evening. My partner and I had misfit hands for several deals going down on each occasion. We needed these two doubles to enable us to pull out with a slight profit on the rubber.

North:
♠ 7 3
♥ Q J 2
♦ A Q 10 6 4 2
♣ K 3

West:
♠ 10 6 2
♥ A 8 4
♦ 8 5
♣ Q J 10 9 6

East:
♠ Q J 9 8
♥ K
♦ K J 9 7 3
♣ 7 4 2

South:
♠ A K 5 4
♥ 10 9 7 6 5 3
♦ None
♣ A 8 5

Bidding went: South, 1 heart; West, 2 clubs; North, 2 diamonds, which East doubled; South 2 spades, to show my second suit; North, 2 no trumps, East doubled, South 3 hearts; North 4 hearts, which East doubled. It had become a habit with him.

The opening lead was the Q of clubs. Dummy won. Two leads of spades were followed by dummy ruffing a low spade. My last spade went on a lead of the ace of diamonds. I won a club trick and dummy ruffed a low club. The Q of hearts was won with East's K, giving the defenders their first trick. I ruffed the K of diamonds. Opponents won their second and last trick with the ace of hearts. No wonder that West asked what his partner had for a double.

North:
♠ A 10 8 4
♥ A 10 9 6 5
♦ None
♣ K J 10 6

West:
♠ K J
♥ None
♦ 10 9 8 6 5 4 2
♣ 9 5 3 2

East:
♠ 9 6 5
♥ J 7 3
♦ K Q J 7 3
♣ 7 4

South:
♠ Q 7 3 2
♥ K Q 8 4 2
♣ A Q 8

Bidding went: South, 1 heart; West, 2 diamonds; North, 5 hearts, which I raised to 6 hearts, and East doubled. Where he expected to win a trick is a mystery. Some players always double a small slam on hopes.

The opening lead was the two of clubs. The Q won the trick. Three trump leads stripped opposing hands of hearts. We then ran off three club tricks. Upon the last one I discarded a spade. I already had discarded one of dummy's spades on my ace of diamonds, before leading clubs.

The only trick which I expected East to win was with the missing K of spades, so I led a low spade from dummy. When East played low I played my Q, only to find that West held the K.

TERRITORIAL DEALS PROVE BAD FOR B.C.

Legislative Member Advises Caution Regarding Alaska Highway

VICTORIA, March 15.—British Columbia had fared badly in territorial dealings with the United States, according to Clive Planta (Ind., Peace River), who spoke in the legislature yesterday advising caution in negotiations for an Alaskan highway.

"British Columbia lost its shirt when we matched wits over the territory that is now Washington and Oregon. We lost our hat in the Alaskan Panhandle deal; our boots in the Alaskan-Yukon boundary settlement; and if we do not watch out we will lose the rest of our garments on the Alaska road," declared Mr. Planta.

He suggested that the legislature go on record as in favor of boundary revision being made a precedent to any international consideration of a north-south highway through British Columbia.

He advocated such a highway, if it passed close to the eastern areas of the province, including the Peace river area, via Prince George, Finlay Forks, Telegraph Creek and Atlin.

Gets One Year For Auto Death

WINNIPEG, March 15.—Convicted of manslaughter, Peter Kushner today was sentenced to one year in jail. The charge followed the death of Paul Pozdrowski, struck by an automobile last Nov. 18, allegedly driven by Kushner.

SILKEN SPINDLES

By Laura Lou Brookman

BEGIN HERE TODAY

STEVE MEYERS, who also works in the mill, asks Gale to marry him. She promises to give him an answer in a few days.

Later that evening Gale goes skating on the river, goes through the ice and is rescued by BRIAN WESTMORE, whose father, now dead, built the mill. Brian asks Gale to wait while he gets his car but when he returns she is gone.

Brian has come home after two years in Paris, convinced he can never be an artist and eager to go to work in the mill. VICKY THATCHER, daughter of ROBERT THATCHER, general manager of the mill, schemes to captivate Brian.

Brian sees Gale in the mill and recognizes her. Next evening he asks her if he can walk home with her. Gale refuses but Steve sees her talking to Brian. Steve is jealous and he and Gale quarrel.

Lonely, she goes skating again. Brian suddenly appears and says, "I was hoping to find you here."

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XV

HAND in hand, Gale and Brian Westmore skated up the river. The click of steel runners on ice was like silvery music. Ahead the mirror smooth surface of the river glistened—a star-lit pathway against ebony shadows. Wind brushed against them, cold, invigorating. Gale, matching long strokes to those of the young man beside her, was caught by the spell of the rhythm. She felt excited and warm and very much alive.

She turned her head and saw that Brian was looking down at her. "Why did you do it?" he asked.

"Do what?"

"Why did you run away the other night when you said you'd wait?"

"I—changed my mind," Gale told him.

"And you've run away from me twice since—at the mill. I thought I was never going to see you."

He could not see, in the darkness, how her cheeks had crimsoned. "I couldn't talk to you at the mill," she said. "I couldn't walk home with you."

"Why not?"

"Because you're Brian Westmore, one of the owners, and I'm—just one of your employees."

"What difference does that make?"

"That's nonsense," he said abruptly. "Nothing but nonsense."

"Oh, no, it isn't. It's—the way things are, that's all. You saved my life the other night and I'll never forget it. I'll never be able to thank you—"

"One way might be not to run every time you see me coming."

She laughed. She hadn't meant to, but there was something in the way he said it that made it very funny.

"I want to talk to you," Brian went on. "I want to know lots of things about you—your name, for instance."

"Gale Henderson."

"Nice name," he answered. "Gale—yes, it suits you. And you're about 19 years old—"

"Twenty-three," she told him.

"What?" He appeared startled. "As old as that? My, my, how time does go by! So you're 23 years old. And you work in the silk mill and you don't like men who come pestering around, asking to walk home with you—"

• • •

He was teasing and she knew it. Somehow he didn't seem to be Brian Westmore, owner of the mill, any longer. He was just a young man with a pair of dark eyes that laughed at you, demanding to be laughed at in return—a young man who was an uncommonly good skater, whose long, sure strokes carried Gale on against the wind, cheeks glowing, eyes bright, her heart beating that incessant tattoo.

"You're an awfully good skater," he told her.

"Not as good as you are. I'll bet you can cut spirals and fancy figures."

"I used to be able to when I was a kid," he said. "I've probably forgotten how now. Every winter I always think of this river and the fun I used to have here."

"You're really going to stay at home now?"

"Yes. Didn't I tell you that the other night?"

"You said you wanted to get a job."

"I've got one—in the mill. Oh, it isn't much of a job. I guess they're afraid to trust me because there's so much I've got to learn yet. You know I envy you!"

"You envy me?"

He nodded. "Yes, because you know what it's all about. I wanted to start in the way any beginner would, but Thatcher didn't seem to like the idea. He said I should learn the business end first. He's right, I suppose—But I know I'd like the other a lot better. I'd like to be out among the machines—"

"It's no picnic," Gale assured him.

"No, I suppose not. But I'd like to try it just the same. I'd like to work at something, instead of sitting at a desk and reading papers and trying to get through my head what other people are talking about."

Gale looked up quickly to see if he was joking now. He wasn't, apparently.

She said, "Maybe we ought to turn back now."

"If you want to," he agreed.

• • •

They swung around in a broad arc. The wind was behind them, so that they moved almost effortlessly. Only the sound of the runners, the click-click of steel on ice, broke the stillness. Overhead the sky was a spangled tapestry, blue-black woven with stars.

Suddenly the majesty of the night was overwhelming. Gale felt she could not speak. She wanted to glide on like this. On and on. With the wind whispering over her shoulder, and her hands in Brian Westmore's her body swaying to the rhythm of those gliding strokes. She wanted to go on—

It was Brian who broke the spell. "Cold?" he asked, looking down at her anxiously.

"No, I'm not cold."

"Something hot would be good for you, though. There's a place a couple of blocks from here where we can get coffee and sandwiches."

"I'd rather not," Gale told him.

"But you'll get chilled. I don't want you to hurry away like you did the other night. I want to talk to you. A cup of coffee—"

"I can't go with you," Gale said, "but I'll tell you what you might do. If you'll build a fire we could sit and talk for a little while."

"Good! Over there by that bend looks like a good place, don't you think?" He swung her toward the shore. "Careful. Better let me go ahead—"

Once again Brian gathered leaves and dead branches and presently the knife-like flames were leaping and twisting, sending up a wavering gray ribbon of smoke.

There was a log for Gale to sit on. She said, smiling, "This is just like the other night—only lots nicer. For one thing, I'm not soaking wet and I haven't just been fished out of an ice bath."

"Nit-wit that I am!" Brian exclaimed, "I haven't even asked if you caught cold."

"I didn't," she told him. "I got into dry things and went to bed and woke up next morning feeling first rate."

"You certainly look it right now," he said admiringly. "First rate!"

She couldn't help noticing the warmth of his tone. And being 23 and under the spell of the night, the bloom on her cheeks brightened and her eyes, when she raised them, held a starry light. Her voice, though, was casual.

She said, "Look—that branch has burned in two—"

Brian busied himself with the fire. "You're a queer girl," he said, "but I like you. Maybe that's why I like you. You're different from anyone I know—"

• • •

Suddenly the words broke off. He was staring at her. "I've seen you before," he said with conviction. "Somewhere. I don't mean here the other night, or at the mill. It was somewhere else." He paused, frowning. "I have seen you—haven't I?"

"Maybe." She smiled at him, a provocative three-cornered little smile.

"I don't think it was here," Brian went on slowly. "And I can't remember the place, but I've certainly seen you. It couldn't have been—no—" He sat back, studying her. "Where was it?" he demanded.

"Professor Felsmier's class."

"Professor Felsmier—?"

"Yes. History VI, I believe it was. Tuesday and Thursday mornings at 10:30. You sat in the second row from the front and I was three seats back, across the aisle."

"You were at State?"

"Yes."

"Why didn't you tell me?"

"Why should I?"

Brian was staring at her. "Listen, I don't get this," he said. "You were at State when I was there and now you're here, working in the silk mill—"

The girl nodded. "I had to quit," she said. "Two years ago. My father worked in the mill and he was taken sick. He hasn't been able to do anything since. I thought I was going to be a teacher when I went away to school, but there weren't any jobs so I took what I could get."

Both of them were silent a moment. Then Brian said, "We're in the same boat—for different reasons. I thought I could be an artist, but I wasn't good enough; you wanted to be a teacher. It's tough, giving up something you've set your heart on, but you get over it."

"Yes," Gale said. "You do."

Their eyes met and held. Brian Westmore said slowly, "I think you're swell, Gale. I think you're the swellest girl I've met in a long time!"

She said, "I can't stay any longer," and got to her feet, "Father's alone," she explained, "and I promised I wouldn't be away long. I shouldn't have stayed as long as I have."

Brian began tramping out the fire. "All right," he said, "we'll go. But I want you to promise me something. Promise you'll meet me here tomorrow night."

(To Be Continued)

ROSICRUCIAN INSTALLATIONS ON MARCH 21

The vernal equinox, on March 21, when the sun enters the astronomical sign of Aries, upon its celestial journey around the zodiac, marks the beginning of the new year commemorated by the Rosicrucian order AMORC, philosophical fraternity, with an Edmonton chapter.

Russell Cherry, secretary of the local lodge, explains the order and its New Year by referring to the Orient for centuries celebrated March 21. The ancient Egyptians declared that advent an occasion for festivities and partook of a symbolic feast of corn bread and grape juice, representing the principal elements in man's nature.

"The traditional history of the order, records its establishment during the reign of Pharaoh Amenhotep, fourth in 1350, B.C., who is said to have instituted the ancient ceremony and feast day. The Imperator declares by proclamation from the Grand Lodge of the Order in San Jose, California, today, the exact date of the ceremony, March 21.

Newly appointed officers of the local lodge will be installed following the ancient rites and an invitation to all Rosicrucians to attend at 9533 Jasper avenue, is extended by the Imperator.

SINKING FUND BOARD OKAYS NEW PURCHASES

A large number of bond purchases comprised of Alberta and City of Edmonton bonds, were authorized by the sinking fund board at its regular meeting, at city hall, Thursday morning.

Fund trustees were informed that no further communication had been received from Vancouver on Edmonton's proposal to exchange Vancouver bonds held by Edmonton for other debentures held in the coast city's sinking fund. Proposed cut of 50 per cent. in interest rates as supported by Mayor G. G. McGeer was the reason for this action.

Purchases authorized by the board included a total of $26,000 Province of Alberta bonds with a yield rate ranging between 4.50 and 4.92 per cent. and maturing between 1948 and 1956; also a total of $20,500 City of Edmonton bonds with a yield rate between five and 7.26 per cent. and maturing between 1941 and 1944.

Tory Organizer In City Today

Ruben W. Ward, Calgary, recently appointed organizer for the Conservative party in Alberta, arrived in Edmonton Friday morning for a conference with leaders of the party here. Mr. Ward spent the morning attending to private business. He will meet members of the executives of the party during the afternoon.

Judge Disagrees Murder Acquittal

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., March 15.—Syzman Syp was acquitted of a charge of murdering William Salt, watchman at a road construction camp, by a jury here last night. "I disassociate myself from the verdict. The responsibility is yours," said Mr. Justice Makins to the jury when he discharged the prisoner. It was alleged Syp clubbed Salt Jan. 4.

Man, 82, Too Old To Drive, Ruling

DENVER, March 15.—A man 82 years old is too old to drive an auto, Municipal Judge Alvin H. Pickens ruled in suspending the driving license of B. H. Gilden. The aged motorist had become involved in a minor accident.

Eight of the 20 women who have been members of the House of Representatives were sent there to finish the unexpired terms of their husbands.

Lloyd George Files His 'New Deal' With Cabinet

WELSH WIZARD SAYS SCHEME NON-POLITICAL

Urges Ruthless Steps to Restore Prosperity For Britain

LONDON, March 15. — David Lloyd George, the wartime prime minister, last night answered the government's challenge on his new deal by forwarding his proposals in detail to the prime minister.

Shortly after the former prime minister started his campaign for national recovery government ministers said they were prepared to examine his proposals and adopt any that might be considered desirable—but that so far they did not know what he was talking about.

WANTS TO APPEAR

The proposals, contained in a memorandum of more than 100 typewritten pages, were sent with a letter in which Mr. Lloyd George said he assumes that the government will afford him the opportunity of appearing before a cabinet committee to which he understands his proposals will be submitted for examination.

"The memorandum represents the views of experts drawn from all parties," said the "Welsh wizard" in his letter, "and regarding some, I have no notion of which party they belong to.

"We have all striven to make a contribution to the national effort to solve the grave social and economic evils."

The terms of the memorandum will not be made public until the government has framed its reply. Mr. Lloyd George has in general terms condemned the government for "waiting for prosperity" and urged that with money and material cheap and labor abundant, heroic steps should be taken without delay. He said he would make "ruthless use of tariffs to draw other nations into all-embracing low-tariff agreements.

Our King and Queen on their Silver Jubilee

The two young men, greatly different in temperament, nevertheless were true companions.

Vigorous, active, always alert and quick-witted, Prince George's impetuosity was balanced and held in check by the calm sobriety of his elder brother, seventeen months his senior. Prince George worshipped his brother and had great respect for his judgment.

Both lads started school together, and both went into the navy at the same time. As midshipmen they joined the H.M.S. Bacchante for a three-year cruise that took them more than 50,000 miles. They visited Canada, still holding the rank of midshipmen, in 1883.

Today's picture is one of the few taken of the two brothers together. It shows Prince George (right) as a naval lieutenant, the Duke of Clarence in army uniform. The picture was taken in 1887, just five years before the untimely death of Prince Albert Victor, in January, 1892. His death perhaps played a part in changing history; certainly it changed suddenly the course of life for Prince George.

Seldom had anyone allowed himself to think of George as King. It was always Albert Victor. Now George was the rightful heir to the throne; in a few years must he be taught all that his brother had learned throughout the 27 years of his life.

Meanwhile life was very enjoyable to the two bosom brothers.

GIROUX MOVES HOISTING OF GAS INCREASE

Grouard Liberal Disapproves of New Government Bill

Disapproval of the amending bill to the Fuel Oil Tax Amendment Act was voiced in the legislature on Thursday night by L. A. Giroux, Liberal, Grouard, who moved that the measure be "hoisted." His motion was defeated on a verbal vote.

Toward the end of the evening sitting, Premier Reid moved second reading of the bill. It would move on to the committee stage he said, where it could be thoroughly discussed and he was merely bringing the matter up now to give some information to the house, which had been asked for, namely, the anticipated revenue.

It was estimated that the yield would be $325,000 in the next year, which was approximately the amount estimated to be dropped by reason of lowering the automobile taxes.

Mr. Giroux then moved to "hoist" the bill. No division was taken.

The amending bill provides for raising the gas tax from six cents as it is now, to seven, effective on April 1.

Second reading also was given to the following bills.

No discussion took place on any of these, all being brief measures and having been explained when introduced.

No Hogs, Therefore No Cholera Sent

WINNIPEG, March 15.—D. E. E. [illegible] acting veterinary [illegible] for the Dominion Department of Agriculture, stated yesterday [illegible] had been shipped from Manitoba to Brockville, Ont., since last December. His statement was in reference to report [illegible] cholera-stricken hogs had been slaughtered in Brockville, the cholera allegedly being brought from Manitoba.

EATON'S "DX" PRIZE AWARDS ANNOUNCED

With two first prize winners, namely, C. D. Perkins, 12005 71st street, and C. D. [illegible] avenue, the Eaton's "World Explorers' Club" has announced the judges' decision in its long distance radio competition.

During the contest, which required entrants to obtain as many verification cards as possible from a given list of stations in all parts of the world, the winners of the two Sparton Triolian radios which constituted the first prizes, turned in cards from approximately thirty different stations each.

Stations heard from by the two prize winners included: Melbourne and Sydney, Australia; Berlin, Germany; Lisbon, Portugal; Medellin, Columbia; Rome, Italy; Havana, Cuba; Caracas, Venezuela; Madrid, Spain and Guayaquil, Ecuador.

In addition to the chief winners, other prizes were won by J. D. Braun, Radway, Alberta, second prize; E. McKeever, 9405 76th ave., third prize; J. Funnel, Marwayne, Alberta, while four additional prizes were won by J. Sinclair, J. Twist, G. M. Foley and M. Foster.

During the contest, which lasted from November 5 to February 18, weekly prizes for the greatest amount of mileage from Edmonton on cards turned in were awarded.

The contest, in which there were many entries, was open only to residents within a certain radius of Edmonton.

VENOIT EXPLODES AGAINST GRAFT IN POSTAL BRANCH

OTTAWA, March 15.—The federal treasury has lost revenue, and friends of the government have made fortunes through an agency selling used postage stamps to collectors, it was charged last night in the House of Commons by Hon. Peter Veniot, former postmaster-general. The agency was opened in 1932.

"I am not blaming the minister," said Mr Veniot, "but the policy adopted by the government of running this department not in the interests of the public but of certain friends who are making graft out of the postoffice."

Postmaster-General Arthur Sauve said he did not know what Mr. Veniot was talking about but would investigate.

PROCEEDS POCKETED

Up to 1932 said Mr. Veniot used stamps were sold to philatelists by the department itself. Since then the agency has sold the stamps, pocketing the money. He claimed "large fortunes" had been made by the agency "providing immense profits to those fortunate enough to be friends of the government and be able to get hold of the stamps."

The post office vote of $30 000 000 passed the house of commons last night. The minister, never known for loquaciousness, angered Mr. Veniot two or three times with his replies, but harmony reigned most of the time. Once, Mr. Veniot reminded Conservatives that when he was postmaster general his estimates were held up 21 days and he felt at times like retaliating.

Postmaster General Sauve told the house 880 post offices have been closed since the Bennett government took office in 1930. He was unable to say how many offices had been opened.

J. F. Pouliot (Lib., Temiscouata), claimed some of the offices had been closed through politics. He read the following table of postmaster dismissals.—

Province	Dismissals Political	Dismissals Total
Nova Scotia	129	184
New Brunswick	81	118
P E I	8	10
Quebec	297	421
Ontario	12	50
Manitoba	12	30
Saskatchewan	13	30
Alberta	2	21
British Columbia	0	7

The postmaster general said there were 12 033 postoffices in Canada. Of these, 11,213 were offices where the postmaster received less than $3 000 a year and, therefore their appointments were directly under the postmaster-general. The remaining offices were under jurisdiction of the civil service commission.

Pension Cutting Is Enumerated

OTTAWA, March 15.—A total of 25,858 veterans have had their pensions reduced with a saving of $2,661,450 to the dominion treasury since 1931, a return tabled in the House of Commons said yesterday. In the same period 5,727 pensions have been cut off. From these eliminations the savings have amounted to $2,571,372.

Science Provides Housewife with Better Care of Perishable Food

Refrigeration By Electric Method Will Defeat Microbe Army

The following article deals with the important part electrical refrigeration plays in safe-guarding the health of the modern household. Everybody should realize the harm to health caused by stale foods.

A casual glance at workers in offices and factories, at trained athletes on the football gridiron and baseball field, at children in playgrounds, and at babies in their nurseries give little indication of the important part pure food plays in the lives of all of them.

These foods that drive athletes to feats of endurance, sustain efforts of clerical workers, and build and create healthy life in children and infants, must be more than nourishing, more than appetizing and tasty. They must be free from the menace of microbes and bacteria which are continually free to attack them before they are consumed.

It is into this world of microbes that householders must gaze if they are to gain any conception of the dangers which lurk in old, stale foods which, particularly in warm, summer weather, are most susceptible to disease-bearing germs.

Those inclined to scoff at depredations wrought by microbes should inspect accurate, scientific data on the subject, which states definitely and specifically that incalculable harm is caused to health by consumption of stale foods which have been kept at household temperatures.

Through lenses of their powerful microscopes investigators have probed into the microbes' domain and have arrived at very definite conclusions.

FOOD SPOILAGE A CONTINUAL THREAT

They state that the invisible world is populated by these tiny plants known as microbes, which, in their early stages, are invisible to the naked eye. They are found everywhere, in the air, water, soil and foods. They are divided into two types, some useful, others harmful.

The harmful types cause food spoilage and consequent illness, and are a continual threat. They poison foods and claim thousands of lives yearly.

Microbes grow rapidly in warmth and dampness and spoil foods as they multiply. Milk, fresh meat, poultry and fish and many fresh fruits and vegetables should be kept at a temperature of 50 degrees Fahrenheit, or preferably lower, to check the growth of the microbes that cause souring and decay.

Harmful microbes grow in foods kept at more than 50 degrees and smell, sight or taste will seldom detect their presence. Cooking will not always destroy them in foods it having been found that meat spoilage bacteria can live through five and a half hours of boiling.

Cold, dry temperatures, however, have the same effect on microbes that winter has on larger plants and keeps the microbe army in almost perfect check.

After using an electric refrigerator for a week or so a householder realizes the convenience of shopping only once or twice a week and of having a supply of tempting food on hand at all times, instead of buying in small quantities . . . a meal at a time

MODERN GUARDIAN OF HEALTH

Thus the electric refrigerator becomes a "local store"—the dependable source of supply where perishable foodstuffs are always available and always in good condition. There is always the assurance of knowing that when friends drop in unexpectedly one is always able to provide an interesting and appetizing repast. One is always able to enjoy the advantage of obtaining foods when they are at their best for many days.

There is a new freedom from the bother of old-fashioned refrigeration methods. No wiping up of spilled water or cleaning of drainpipes is necessary. There is no waiting for the ice man to call. One may stay away for a day, a week-end or even longer . . . for you may be quite sure that food stored in an electric refrigerator will be fresh and sweet when one returns.

COCONUT FROSTING

Three egg whites, stiffly beaten; one cup confectioner's sugar, one-half teaspoon vanilla, fresh grated coconut. Add the sugar and vanilla to the beaten egg whites. Beat with a rotary beater until frosting will stand in peaks. Spread on cake and sprinkle thickly with fresh grated coconut while frosting is still soft. This makes enough frosting to cover the top and sides of two nine-inch layers.

UNCOOKED ICE CREAM

BASIC RECIPE

1½ cup sugar, 1 1-3 cups top milk or evaporated milk, dash salt, 2 eggs, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 cup whipping cream.

Dissolve ⅓ cup sugar and salt in milk. Beat egg whites until stiff. Beat in the 2 tablespoons sugar. Beat the yolks until thick and mix with the above. Beat cream until thick but not stiff. Stir all together gently. For plain ice cream add 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Freeze with the Temperature Selector set at No. 1 until frozen for about one inch from edge of the tray. Stir once and when frozen reset the Temperature Selector to No. 3 or 4. Serves 6 to 8.

VARIATIONS OF UNCOOKED ICE CREAM

Strawberry—Add sugar of basic recipe to 2 cups crushed strawberries and ¼ cup orange juice. Unless berries are sweet add 1-3 cup more sugar.

SCALLOPED OR SOUFFLED VEGETABLES

TO SCALLOP

Mashed white potato or cauliflower, Hubbard squash or sweet potato and apple, parsnip or white potato and turnip.

Mash the vegetable or put it through a potato ricer. To each cup of vegetable add one well-beaten egg, one tablespoon milk, ⅓ teaspoon salt, ½ tablespoon melted butter.

TO SOUFFLE

To one cup of strained or riced left-over vegetables add one-half cup of thick white sauce, the well beaten yolks of two eggs, seasonings of salt, pepper, and melted butter, and finally fold in the stiffly-beaten egg whites.

Place in a buttered baking dish or individual ramekins, set in a pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for half an hour or until lightly browned.

WITCH'S PUNCH

Two 4-inch sticks of cinnamon, 1 cup water, ⅓ teaspoon powdered mace, 1 teaspoon whole cloves, 1 quart cider

Boil the spices in water until the liquid is reduced to about 1-3 cup. Strain and add this to one quart of chilled cider and serve in small glasses as a cocktail. This may be served for a first course at a dinner or it may be used as a beverage at a card party. Serves 6 to 8

DATE REFRIGERATOR PUDDING

Mix all together lightly, and pack in a square pan or in one of the Westinghouse refrigerator pans which has been lined with waxed paper. Allow to stand in the food compartment for 24 hours at least, though a longer time is even better.

Turn out of the pan, cut in slices, and serve with whipped cream which has been slightly sweetened and flavored with vanilla. Serves 6 to 8.

Milk Supply Is Protected By Sanitation

Edmonton's 50 dairies have built up a remarkably efficient, modern and sanitary system for providing its citizens with 80,000 pints of milk and cream daily, cold or warm, throughout the year with Sundays and holidays thrown in for good measure

From the time the milk is taken from the various dairy stables to the moment when the bottle of freshly milked fluid is reposing on the kitchen table, milk is carefully guarded against contamination and germs by modern machinery and methods

A complete staff of city health inspectors under C. Ellinger keeps a constant check to see that the food is kept up to standard

The health inspectors, once a year, inspect the large herds for tuberculosis. Properly sterilized [illegible] pails, milk cans and other utensils must be used.

The milk shipped to the city milk plants is tested weekly and the shipper is prohibited from selling milk for some time if his product does not come up to the high standard required by the [illegible] and health authorities.

For the retailing of milk alone huge staffs are required by the larger dairy firms operating in Edmonton. One has a crew of 100 men and another 80 to deliver the milk from door to door.

Why Your Home Should Have An ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR

IT SAFEGUARDS HEALTH—
There are innumerable reasons why your home needs an electric refrigerator but the most important is that it safeguards health. Food and milk keep fresh and pure with no danger of flies or of the bacteria which multiply to millions in warm wilk

IT IS ECONOMICAL—
Then think of what an economizer it would be. Those left-overs could be made into appetizing dishes instead of being thrown out. There would be no problem of ice bills to say nothing of bothersome water-pans and sawdust. Those bargains seen by the thrifty housewife could be seized and kept safely until needed. The cost of electricity would be paid for many times over by the food, ice-money and labor saved

BETTER MENUS FOR EVERYONE
Variety is said to be the spice of life and think of the numerous frozen desserts, crisp salads, refreshing cold drinks and other dishes, tempting to anyone's appetite, that could be made in a moment's notice. Menu planning would be a delight instead of an everlasting problem.

TIME AND LABOR SAVED—
Time, worry and labor would be saved by this wonderful mechanical device, ending trips to basement or ice shed, long hours over a hot stove and anxiety about the purity of ice and preserved foods.

ADDS BEAUTY TO YOUR HOME—
As a nice piece of furniture nothing could add such a touch of clean, compact beauty, harmonizing with any kitchen colors, as a snowy white electric refrigerator that is so easy to run and keep spotlessly clean.

THE GUMPS

The Worst Is Yet To Come

—By Smith

THE SHADOW OF DOUBT HAS AT LAST CROSSED BIM'S MIND— MAMA'S ANXIETY OVER HIS HEALTH HAS HIM WORRIED— AND HE'S GOING TO ANDY FOR ADVICE—
I DON'T KNOW WHAT IT IS, ANDY— I JUST HAVEN'T BEEN QUITE UP TO PAR LATELY— EVERYBODY SAYS I LOOK BAD— I SEEM TO BE LOSING MY APPETITE— I'M AFRAID I'M GOING INTO SOME SORT OF A DECLINE— MAMA THINKS I OUGHT TO SEE A DOCTOR—
SO THE NIGHT LIFE IS TOO MUCH FOR YOU— YOU CAN'T TAKE IT, EH? HA! YOU OLD FRAUD— YOU CAN'T FOOL ME— YOU'RE GOOD FOR A HUNDRED YEARS YET— WHY, WHEN JUDGEMENT DAY COMES AROUND THEY'LL HAVE TO TAKE YOU OUT AND SHOOT YOU—
WHAT DO YOU THINK, MIN— THEY'VE BEEN TRYING TO KID OUR POOR UNCLE INTO BELIEVING HE'S AN INVALID— DID YOU EVER SEE HIM LOOKING BETTER IN HIS LIFE?
DON'T LET ANYBODY PULL THE WOOL OVER YOUR EYES, BIM GUMP— WHEN PEOPLE START TELLING YOU YOU'RE NOT LOOKING WELL— AND ASKING YOU TO TAKE OUT MORE LIFE INSURANCE, THERE'S SOMETHING BEHIND IT ALL— MARK MY WORDS!

B.C. PREMIER DENIES HE WILL RESIGN

VICTORIA, March 15.—Premier T. D. Pattullo late Thursday summoned newspaper correspondents to his office and in a verbal statement denied rumors that there was defection in the Liberal caucus with a reputed request for his own resignation.

The premier also stated that the government stood ready to offer Vancouver practically all the financial aid it seeks, excepting the right to defer interest payments, and that the government intended to go through with construction of the Fraser river toll bridge. There has been considerable opposition to the toll feature.

NOT RESIGNING

"I am not resigning," the premier said concerning rumors to that effect. "This is a capable government and we are going to carry on. It is a forward-looking and safe government.

"I have told our municipal members that the province will do practically everything asked by Vancouver, save permit the postponement of bond interest. I have asked the Dominion to share with us in assuming the cost of direct relief in Vancouver and if the Dominion does not do so, we will have to do it alone. The other remedies asked will be given, but we can not permit postponement of interest.

TO BUILD BRIDGE

"The Fraser river bridge bill was passed by the caucus two weeks ago, when it entered the house. The bridge bill is going through and you can say with certainty that the bridge will be built.

"We propose to amend the bill to meet the objections of up-country members that the tolls might be lifted. The amendment will provide that the tolls must be put aside into a special fund for sinking fund purposes and can not be paid out."

Hon. John Hart, minister of finance, was with the premier when he spoke to the newspapermen.

HOUSE GROUP OPENS RELIEF INVESTIGATION

persons who want to bring their grievances before the legislature. Numerous members, including W. R. Howson, the Liberal leader, have intimated that they will have witnesses to call.

The committee decided to hear the representatives of recognized societies, leaving individual cases to be first passed on by a subcommittee.

SCHEME OUTLINED

Capt. A. A. MacKenzie, commissioner of relief, outlined the scheme of relief in the province. In the improvement districts relief is directly under the control of the department, administered through the R.C.M.P., who have power to issue immediate relief in urgent cases. Inspectors visit the various areas to check up on the administration.

"One of the greatest difficulties," said the witness, "is to classify who are 'homeless single men'." A number of hotels, halls and garages had been purchased or leased to house men in the cities, and camps had been erected in various places in the rural districts.

"I am sure," he said, "that no one who has had pioneering experience in this country could find cause for complaint in the camps."

"Is there less allowed for clothing this year than last for single homeless unemployed?" asked Chris. Pattinson, Labor member for Edson.

GRANTING TOO MUCH

"Our experience indicated we were granting them too much," said the witness.

"We found men taking away as much clothing as they could stagger out with. They sold it—sometimes gambled it. So we had to reduce it."

"We give them to start off: 2 pairs socks, 2 sets underclothes, a smock, boots, cap, mitts and the use of rubber boots. After that they get $1.25 clothing allowance each month. If they want extra clothing after that it is charged against their 20 cents a day.

Hugh Farthing, Calgary: "Is it true that some of the men have to sleep together?"

Mr. MacKenzie: "In the older camps they do. There are separate mattresses and a 2 by 6 board in between."

WOULDN'T BE ALLOWED

Mr. Farthing: "That seems utterly wrong to me. It wouldn't be allowed in any private camp and it shouldn't be forced on men in the relief camps."

Mr. MacKenzie: "I am between two fires. I am blamed for accommodation not being good enough, and on the other hand for making it so comfortable they do not want to go to private employment."

Witness said he had a number of jobs both for men and women on farms that he could not get filled. Wages offered were not standard wages, and farmers often expected more from men from the relief camps than they should.

P. Enzenaur, U.F.A. member for Alexandra, said his hired help liked to sleep together, and the food he had seen in the relief camps was better than in the average farm home.

RELIEF MEASURE

Mr. MacKenzie: I don't want to leave the impression that the farmers are exploiting the men from the camps. The men are sent out as a relief measure and the farmer is given to understand that he cannot expect a heavy day's work from him.

To Mr. Montgomery, the witness said that all men handling food are first examined by the clinic in regard to the usual medical examination. Every camp has recreational facilities.

In cold weather the men are called out to work and then sent back. Those who don't turn out are docked their 20 cents for unwillingness.

Mr. P. J. Rock, a farmer of Orkney, told of the good work done by the men in the two camps near his farm. The food was good and the men were never required to work in cold weather.

"I've often had meals there and they're as good as I get at home," he said. The men were well clothed but if they had mackinaws they could work on days when otherwise they had to quit. The work they did was useful road work and well done.

Mr. Letcher foreman of Camp 59 on the Coal Branch said the two camps near Cadomin were well-conducted, and the general feeling of the men was good, though some complained. There were first aid men at both camps, 57 and 59 and a doctor 1½ miles away.

NO COMPLAINTS AT 59

At Camp 57 there had been a strike a month ago, but though both camps were the same, there were no complaints at Camp 59. The ages of the men ran from 18 to 60 but the majority are young men.

Mr. Laing a relief delegate wanted to cross-examine the witness, but when he started to speak several of the U.F.A. members objected.

A discussion on Camp grievances arose when Mr. Rock was recalled to give his version of how a camp strike arose. He said that when some of the men had to lift heavy rocks out of the river and got their mitts wet "three agitators" got busy and got the men to strike. The police were called in, the three "agitators" were told to get out and 21 of the men went with them.

BROAD TERM

Witness admitted that "agitator" is a broad term that can be applied to anyone who cherishes a grievance, and said that a lot of the success depends on the fitness of the foreman.

Farmers in the district supplied teams, their own feed and came three miles to work on the job with their teams for six hours a day at 45 cents an hour.

The committee will resume enquiry into relief on Monday and Wednesday next.

Mr. McKeen, of Grande Prairie, asked that Superintendent McKee, of the Edmonton Relief Department, be requested to appear, and W. R. Howson, Liberal leader intimated that he had a number of witnesses to call, including the Mayor of Beverly.

Special Issue Jubilee Stamps Is Sauve Plan

OTTAWA, March 15.—A special series of six stamps will be issued to mark the silver jubilee of King George's accession to the throne, it was announced yesterday by Postmaster General Arthur Sauve.

The one, two and five cent stamps will be of regular size and the three, 10 and 13 cent stamps of double size. They will bear new designs and portraits and will be part of a special issue throughout the empire. No date has yet been set for the issue.

NOVA SCOTIA MINERS STRIKE

NEW WATERFORD, N.S., March 15.—More than 900 miners went on strike last night and tied up No. 12 colliery because the Dominion Coal Company refused to pay wages to a number of men who lost time following a series of mishaps.

Three Million Immigrants In Last 24 Years

OTTAWA, March 15.—In the last 24 years almost 3,000,000 immigrants came to Canada, but the peak year was 1913-1914 when a total of 567,240 new citizens arrived in this country. This was disclosed in the House of Commons yesterday by Immigration Minister W. A. Gordon, answering a questioner.

Premier's Condition Is Reported Better

OTTAWA, March 15.—Following an interview with Prime Minister R. B. Bennett who has been ill since Feb. 24, Sir George Perley, acting leader of the government, said last night the patient had spent a comfortable day and was in greatly improved spirits. It was the first visit the Prime Minister had received from any of his colleagues since Monday when his physician ordered a complete rest.

B.C. HOSPITAL OFFICERS ARE UNDER ARREST

Manager, Accountant Reported Short $15,000 in Accounts

VANCOUVER, March 15—George S. Haddon and Frederick Biggins, officials of the Vancouver General hospital, were arrested Thursday in connection with the discovery of shortages in the hospital accounts.

The discrepancies were stated to have totalled approximately $15,000. They were released on $5,000 bail in each case.

The men were discharged by the Hospital Board Monday following the auditors' report. Haddon was formerly business manager at the hospital, and Biggins was accountant.

The Board has ordered a complete examination of the hospital accounts be made by an independent firm of auditors.

SOCCER LEADERS SURE WINNERS

GLASGOW, March 15.—Leading Scottish soccer teams should have little trouble in improving their positions on the league ladder Saturday. With the exception of Celtic, Hamilton Academicals and St. Johnstone, clubs in the running for the championship play before home crowds.

Glasgow Rangers with a four-point advantage over Celtic at the top of the first division, meet the lowly Queen of the South and may widen the margin over the runners-up, who visit Dunfermline. Third-place Hearts are at home to the famous amateurs, Queen's Park, and are likely to annex both points, while Aberdeen entertain Albion Rovers at Pittodrie.

Two tight battles will be those between Clyde and St. Johnstone and Motherwell and Hibernians. The four sides are bunched in the standing and dour struggles are in prospect.

Third Lanark, leaders of the second division, should have little trouble disposing of Brechin City at Glasgow.

Golden Miller Winner Of Grand National Trials

CHELTENHAM, England, March 15.—Dorothy Paget's big gelding Golden Miller came off best in a gruelling trial for the Grand National steeplechase Thursday.

Golden Miller, winner of the Grand National last year and warm favorite for this year's race, trounced other Grand National candidates in the Cheltenham gold cup over a course of three miles and three furlongs, which compares with the four and a half miles of the Grand National itself.

The winner started odds-on favorite at 1 to 2, Thomond II at 3-2 and Kellsboro Jack at 100-7. Golden Miller's time was six minutes, 30 seconds.

Amerk "Revolt" Is Now Denied

NEW YORK, March 15.—Members of New York Americans of the National hockey league met Thursday and signed a statement denying they are in a state of "revolt," or that the club is indebted to them for back salary.

The meeting followed publication in the daily news of a copyrighted story that the players were rebelling against unpaid salaries and lack of proper medical care.

Thursday's statement was signed by 15 players, managers, trainers and other attaches of the club.

STOKE-ON-TRENT, England, March 15.—Only police force in the United Kingdom who were owners of a public house, the constables' association of this town, sold the inn recently to a brewery company. The "pub" is located with the sports police club.

N.H.L. ALL-STARS NAMED

NEW EDITION HAS YOUNGER HOCKEY ACES

Several Veterans Missing On 1935 Choice By Sport Scribes

By ELMER DULMAGE

TORONTO, March 15.—An all-star National Hockey League team without a Chuck Gardiner, a Ching Johnson, a Bill Cook or a King Clancy—a team that in effect marks the end of the old order—was announced by the Canadian Press as the result of the fifth annual poll of sports writers in N.H.L. cities.

It featured younger stars without departing from a traditional stand that all-stars must be seasoned campaigners, preferably hardened fighters who have been at or near the top for more than one short season. And the writers looked eye-to-eye but seldom in lining up two teams:

HERE THEY ARE:

CLOSE BALLOTING

Once the 1934 all-star forward line of Charlie Conacher, Frank Boucher and Harvey Jackson had been swept back into line by an overwhelming majority, there was confusion in the ranks. The result was the closest balloting since the Canadian Press inaugurated the poll in 1931.

Charlie Conacher

Jackson was given an unanimous call for left wing and the burly Conacher, league-leading scorer for the second straight year, went back to right wing with 32 out of a possible 33 votes. Boucher was elected centre on the first team for the third consecutive time, obtaining 22 first-team ballots.

Eddie Shore, once again the Boston powerhouse, went back to his place at right defence for the fourth time in five years. He was displaced a year ago, largely because he saw such little action as a result of his long suspension following the Ace Bailey accident.

Earl Seibert and Art Coulter, both finishing their fourth season in the big show, crowded into the all-star cast for the first time with Seibert, a Kitchener, Ont., boy, just a stride ahead of Coulter and Cyclone Wentworth.

Earl Seibert

It was the first all-star venture for the three and their rise eliminated three of the greatest defence figures the sport has had in the last decade or so—Clancy, Johnson and Lionel Conacher.

Behind the freshened rearguard the writers placed Lorne Chabot, secured last fall by Chicago Black Hawks to replace Gardiner. On the second team was placed Cecil (Tiny) Thompson, of Boston, a ranking puck-stopper for many years.

But the selectors apparently recognized no present-day netman was entitled to step briskly into Gardiner's shoes, and Chabot's margin over Thompson, Roy Worters of New York Americans and Alex Connell of Maroons was narrow.

Joe Primeau, second-choice centre in 1934, was out of action too long with injuries to make a good defence and the position fell to Cooney Weiland of Detroit Red Wings, who obtained far more votes than any other pivot with the exception of Boucher. Russ Blinco, blond Maroon youngster, was third in the balloting.

Joe Primeau

Dit Clapper took over right wing on the second team, ousting Bill Cook, who had been chosen on these teams each year. Clapper topped Larry Aurie of Detroit and the elder Cook by a decisive margin.

The left wing duel was closer. Aurel Joliat of Canadiens, winning by a slender margin over Johnny Gottselig of Chicago Black Hawks. The voting for coach was as usual—Lester Patrick first and Dick Irvin second. This was the fifth straight time the Ranger and Leaf pilots have been named to lead the All-Stars.

Winnipeg Monarchs Lose At Wembley

LONDON, March 15.—Winnipeg Monarchs lost the concluding hockey match of their long tour of Britain and Europe last night to a combined team made up of players from Wembley Lions and Wembley Canadians, 3-2.

Of the 48 games they played on their tour, Monarchs won 41, lost four and tied three.

RAISING GOOD HOCKEY STARS PAYS PROFITS

Ottawa Developed Nearly Quarter Million in Ice Talent

Development and sale of high-class hockey players comes under the head of lucrative business.

Owners of the Ottawa hockey club of the National Hockey league, now sponsoring the Eagles in St. Louis, have sold nearly $200,000 worth of talent that, except in one instance, was home recruited and developed in the last few years.

The first big sale made by the club was made to Montreal Maroons, who paid $22,500 for the services of Reginald Hooley Smith, signed by Ottawa from Toronto Granites, Olympic champions of 1924.

CLANCY BIG TRADE

Their next trade of major consequence was the sale of Frank "King" Clancy, dashing defence player, to the Toronto Maple Leafs for $35,000 and players. Clancy was picked up from Ottawa amateur hockey and developed on the Ottawa N. H. L. team.

Sid Howe was signed to his professional contract by the Ottawa team in 1929, from the Rideau team of the Ottawa City League. Ralph "Scotty" Bowman was signed prior to last season from the Niagara Falls amateur team. Both were recently sold to Detroit Red Wings for $50,000.

ANOTHER $8,000

A few days later, Frank Finnigan, recruited from Ottawa amateur ranks and developed to professional stardom by the Ottawa club, was sold to Toronto for $8,000.

Ralph Cooney Weiland, secured in a trade from Boston, was sold by Ottawa for $7,500; Joe Lamb brought $5,000, when first sold to Boston; and the club got $3,000 for the veteran right-wing, Cy. Denenny, another Ottawa product. These are in addition to minor sales and to the value of players secured in the various trades.

VARSITY MAKES AWARDS TO FEMININE ATHLETIC STARS

Kathleen Swallow Named Outstanding Athlete Of Season

Concluding a year of extensive athletic activity, female athletes of the University of Alberta gathered Thursday afternoon to receive awards in recognition of their respective talents. Honored as the outstanding athlete of the year, Kathleen Swallow, president of women's athletic association, recevied a white blazer in recognition of her contributions to sportive progress on the campus.

Awards for senior basketball team membership were presented to Betty Burke, Kay Swallow, Jane McDonald, Gay Ross, Margaret Sutton, Winnie Algar, Irene Barnett, Ruth Carlyle, Margaret Clayton and Amy Cogswell. For their contributions to senior hockey, Nancy Evans, Jane Laidlaw, Mary Hewitt, Margaret Stone, Norma Christie, Barbara Burns, Margaret Findlay, Alice MacDonald, Jean Smith and Thelma Barley, were recognized.

Other awards were presented to Bea Gillespie, Jennie Filipkowski, Irne Barnett, Polly Piercy and Myra Erdman, for track; Barbara Jarman for badminton; Barbara Jarman and Kay Swallow for tennis; Phyllis Mullen and Rosamund Dobsen for swimming.

SOUTH AFRICA IS WINNER OF KING'S AWARD

Cop Trophy Empire-Wide Competition For Boys and Girls

LONDON, March 15. — South Africa was announced Thursday night the winner of the King's trophy, awarded annually by the National Rifle Association to the winner of the Empire-wide miniature rifle competition for boys and girls.

More than 27,000 boys entered the 1934 competition, New Zealand heading the list with 10,000, South Africa entered 8,311, the United Kingdom 6,000, Canada 2,819, Australia 345 and India 138.

South Africa took the major prize with an average of 81 points out of a possible 100 for 3,012 boys qualified for the King's trophy shoot. Britain was second with an average of 77. New Zealand third with 75. Canada and the others failed to post a qualifying percentage.

CANADA LOSES

In the honors list of the best 100 units in the Empire, Canada took 22 places, those Canadian teams with 90 points or better being the Queen's own cadets of Winnipeg, taking second place; the Magog, Que., high school girls, placing seventh; the Sacre Coeur cadets of Victoriaville, Que., placing 10th; Trinity College, Port Hope, Ont., placing 11th; the Hamilton Collegiate Institute, 12th; the Haig cadets of Windsor, N.S., 19th; the Commercial Academy, Quebec City, 21st, King's Collegiate, Windsor, N.S., 22nd; the 2nd Machine Gun Cycles of Winnipeg, 25th; the Magog cadets, 27th and the Woodbridge, Ont., cadets, 30th.

Many Ski Stars In Race Meets

BANFF, March 15.—Al Lindley of Minneapolis, one of the continent's outstanding polo players and downhill ski racer, is entered for the Canadian Rockies downhill and slalom racing championships to be held at Mount Norquay ski camp on Sunday.

Mr. Lindley, who at present is skiing around Mount Assiniboine, south of Banff, gave a great account of himself two years ago in the F.I.S. championship ski races held at Innisbruchk, Austria. He will also compete in the Rankin ski event to be staged at Skoki camp on March 27th. Another entry pleasing to the ski runners of the Canadian Rockies who are holding Saturday and Sunday's meet, is that of Miss Mary Read, of Philadelphia. Miss Read distinguished herself in ski races at Kitzbuehil, Austria, recently.

Dillon Honest In Goal-Scoring

MONTREAL, March 15. — Members of the hockey fraternity today were saying nice things about Cecil Dillon, smart forward of the New York Rangers of the National hockey league.

Dillon was credited with a goal and Lynn Patrick an assist when Rangers recently played in St. Louis. The statistical department of the league received a letter from Dillon in which he wrote "Patrick, not myself, scored the goal. I merely furnished the pass."

All Saskatchewan Titles Go North

The final route of the southern teams was registered at the stadium here last night as Saskatoon Nutana Midgets defeated Moose Jaw Midgets 5-4, to win the two-game series 8-4.

Hockey laurels thus rest in the senior division with North Battleford Beavers, who beat Weyburn in the finals; with Saskatoon Wesleys in the junior class, Kerrobert Tigers in the intermediates division, Prince Albert St. Marks, juvenile winners and Saskatoon Nutanas, midget champions.

To Sail Soon

SAINT NAZAIRE, France, March 15.—The new French ship Normandie, rival to the Queen Mary as the world's largest liner will leave the shipyards here April 20 for Le Havre. From there it will make its maiden voyage to New York.

PATS and PANS by —BILL LEWIS

Dear Uncle Ezry:

You can sit down and write in your little diary, if you should happen to have such a thing, that the most surprised bunch of hockey players in this whole wide Canada today are the Kimberley Dynamiters. . . . And if you do it, you can be sure no truer statement ever went into said diary. . . . You'll notice they call themselves Dynamiters and figure that should be powerful enough to blast all opposition from their path, which is supposed to lead to the Allan cup. . . . Now the Allan cup, you know, is emblematic of the Canadian amateur hockey championship, at which other teams are also taking a few covetous peeks.

Well, everything was going alright with these Kimberley boys until last night. . . . They won the championship of B.C., then moved on into Calgary, where they beat our Edmonton Superiors last Tuesday by 3-1 in the first game of their interprovincial series. . . . This cheered them no end. . . . "Aha!" they cried, "we're past another province." . . . This, mind you, without thinking about the one or two remaining games they still had to go through with the Superior boys.

As I just hinted, everything was okay with the Kimberley system of figuring until last night. . . . Then what happens? . . . Well, Mr. Stuart's Superiors go out and beat 'em! . . . The score was 3-1. . . . Can you tie that—in your red bandana? . . . No wonder the Kimberley boys were shocked. Hadn't they licked the Superiors in Calgary? . . . Why in heck, then, couldn't they win again? . . . The answer to all those questions is, of course, that the team we call

RED DEER HAS TRIUMPH OVER LACOMBE, 6-5

Winners Take One Game Lead in Big Five League Playoff

RED DEER, March 15.—Red Deer had the best of a scoring fest in defeating Lacombe 6-5 here on Thursday night in the first game of the semi-finals of the Big Five hockey league playoff. The second game of the series will be at Lacombe on Saturday.

The locals assumed a two-goal lead in the first frame and their aggressive play and strong defence held the visitors scoreless.

Lacombe scored first in the second round after five minutes of play, but at eight minutes Scotty Lee rapped in two pretty solo counters and Red Deer was ahead 4-1. The northern team came back with a goal before the second period closed. Red Deer outplayed the visitors for most of the period and hemmed them behind the blue line for a good part of the time.

A goal early after the face-off gave Red Deer a three-goal lead in the third period, but Lacombe retaliated with a brace of counters, and by the time the period came to an end Red Deer's lead had been pared down to one.

Vet Umpire Is Seriously Ill, Report

HENRY (HANK) O'DAY

Reported seriously ill, Henry (Hank) O'Day, former National league umpire and manager of the Chicago Cubs and Cincinnati Reds, was confined to a Chicago hospital, suffering from a stomach ailment. O'Day, now 75 years old, was one of the greatest judges of balls and strikes in the history of the game.

DEALS ARE MADE IN SOCCER LOOP

LONDON, March 15.—Dr. J. Marshall, prominent Scottish footballer transferred from Glasgow Rangers to the Arsenal club this year, has been signed on by West Ham United. Marshall, whose transfer was widely commented on at the time, failed to fit in the Gunner's high-powered and high-priced forward line is expected to prove a big asset to the Hammers.

Several important transfers have been made during the week, Saturday being the last day for the signinp of players to play this season.

Tottenham Hotspurs, fighting desperately to remain in the first division of the league, have signed Andy Duncan, formerly of Hull City, and Huddersfield Town went to Ireland for new blood. Hyslop, McAllister and Kennedy, all members of the Portadown club, have signed transfer forms to play in the remaining games this season. Portsmouth has obtained the services of Strong, Chesterfield goal-keeper.

Stettler Beats Galahad By 8-5

STETTLER, March 15.—Stettler Red Wings beat Galahad by an 8-5 score in an interesting game and both teams gave a creditable performance considering poor ice conditions.

White, assisted by Gorrells, got the first Stettler marker, while Pearn made it two and then Gorrells rapped in the third marker, while W. Spencer got Galahad's lone first period goal.

W. Spencer and Commons got Galahad's last two goals and Pearn and Seaby got another to make the final count 8-5.

LINEUPS

Galahad—Goal, McKernan; defence, Stinson, Stauffer; forwards, E. Stinson, N. Beebe, Commons, W. Spencer, D. Spencer, Ward, Jackson.

Red Wings—Goal, R. Wilson; defence, Piccard, Milligan, White; forwards, Seaby, Pearn, Patrick, Watson, Wilson, Gorrells.

Victory Of Soops Forces Deciding Contest Tonight

DYNAMITERS WELL OUT-PLAYED

By BILL LEWIS

With a whip-lash attack that crackled through the visitors' defence often enough to bring three goals, Ira Stuart's Superiors last night humbled Kimberley Dynamiters 3-1 and squared their inter-provincial senior hockey series at one victory each.

This triumph for Superiors avenged the opening-game whipping they received at the hands of the British Columbia champions in Calgary Tuesday and forced a third battle to decide the team to move into the next round of the Allan Cup playdowns.

The clubs will play this deciding game at the Arena tonight at 8:30 o'clock, with the victors earning the right to meet North Battleford Beavers next.

SOOPS HAVE EDGE IN TWO PERIODS

Given a beautifully hard sheet of ice to play on, Soops looked like an entirely different team than the one which floundered in the sloppy going of Calgary's Victoria rink. The Arena ice-makers took advantage of the drop in temperature to produce a grand surface and the effect on the local players was electric. They skated man to man with the widely-heralded speedsters from the B.C. mountains—often out-skated them—and certainly out-played them by a good margin in two periods, the first and third.

The crowd of over 2,500 fans that turned out, not knowing just what to think of the locals' chances, were left in no doubt by Alberta's Allan Cup standard-bearers. The players hustled every minute and fought with a determination bred of knowing they had to fight to avoid elimination. Result of this was that they impressed upon pew-holders the fact that they are still very much in this struggle for playdown advancement.

LOCALS NEVER TRAIL

Soops never trailed in the battle with the invaders from the west. They took the lead first, and though they saw it tied up before the opening period ended, fought through a scoreless second frame before once more going in front 2-1 and then finishing off with still another goal for good measure.

It was really a good hockey game to watch, for, despite close checking on both sides, the rival aggregations had the throttle wide open and skated at an exceptionally fast pace throughout. There were enough break-away plays, sparkling saves and good combination to produce thrills aplenty for the crowd.

There was some further excitement in the third period when play became rather robust, to say the least. Lefty Grove had a cut opened down the back of his head in a mix-up with the Kimberley goalie, Hornquist. Judge of play Clarence Campbell charged a penalty against each one but was over-ruled by Referee Leo Desireau and they remained on the ice. Later, Hornquist was slightly hurt when Grove collided with him, while Johnny Lammie, of Soops, and Clarence Reddick, of Dynamiters, were also injured before the period was over.

WINNING MARKSMEN

Jimmy Anderson, Buster Brown and Grove scored the winners' goals, while the first-named also had an assist to his credit. Jimmy Graham assisted in the scoring of a pair of markers, and Purcell in one. As a matter of fact, the whole team played effective hockey all the way.

Although Dynamiters blazed in a lot of shots in the opening half of the first period, all of them were from long range and none found the mark, but the locals, on the other hand, were getting in closer for their drives. The first real chance fell to them when Graham and Joe Brown broke away with only one man to beat. However, the former's pass was wide and no score resulted until the 15-minute mark was reached in the session.

This initial Superior counter was a pretty piece of work and came when Jack Forsey, of Kimberley, was serving a penalty. Soops were staging a gang attack on the Dynamiters' goal and, when Graham whipped a pass out of the corner to Shorts Purcell, the latter immediately slapped it over to Anderson, who lost no time in driving the rubber beyond Hornquist for the tally.

This lead did not last through the frame, though, for Kimberley evened up just before the breather when they were playing short-handed due to Moore's penalty. The locals were pressing hard when Kozak broke away with only one man to beat. He slipped a pass to Hugo Mackie and the stocky centre raced in fast, faked and then tapped the rubber behind Don Stuart for the marker.

The middle stanza brought no scoring but there were a number of close calls at both ends. The first of these came early when Anderson passed to Grove, but the latter couldn't get his shot away when right in close. At the other end of the rink, later on, Moore was left uncovered and received a pass-out to have Stuart at his mercy. Don came through with a spectacular stop, though, to save his mates on this occasion. Kimberley had the bulk of play in this session but could not get the disc past Stuart despite repeated power plays that finished up deep in Superior territory.

THIS BROUGHT WIN

The third period started with Grove and Hornquist getting into their tangle and, shortly after, Graham had a fine chance when he worked in close on a brilliant rush but Hornquist blocked the shot. Finally, after six minutes of play, Bus Brown scored what proved to be the winning goal. Graham carried the puck in fast, laid a perfect pass on Buster's stick and the latter finished off in high-class style by rifling a stinging shot into the rigging. The two got a great hand from the crowd for this fine effort.

There was plenty of rough stuff following this but no more scoring until less than two minutes from the end of the contest, when Soops marked up their third goal to make the outcome certain. This came when Anderson sped in to hammer a drive on Hornquist's pads and Grove was right on the job to crack the rubber into the cage.

SCONA SQUAD WINS SCHOOL HOCKEY TITLE

Defeat Garneau by 6-4 Score in Second Series Game

After years of taking it on the chin, but still gamely coming back for more, Scona high school's senior hockey team won the city championship when they trampled over Garneau 6-4 in the second and last game of a best-two-out-of-three series. Coach Niddrie's smooth squad took the first game 3-1.

Shooting themselves into the lead during the first five minutes of play, and then gradually increasing their advantage until the start of the third period when they dropped back and played defencive hockey, the Scona crew really set out to make it two straight. Garneau tried everything to stop the onslaught but they sorely missed Dougie Hargraves on defence and could do nothing about it.

ALL PLAYED WELL

Every man on the Scona team was in the game and it makes it tough to name the star. Watherspoon was a standout with a brace of counters and an assist. Taylor went down in records as scoring one goal himself and assisting in two. Podersky and Brown were aces for Garneau.

After battling through the first period Scona found the net three times to Garneau's two. Watherspoon scored twice, one on a pass from Taylor. Wener tallied on Mould's pass out from behind the goal. Brown soloed to score and Podersky passed to Miller for the loser's pair.

It was the rousing second frame scoring spree that put the Niddrie men over the top. Taylor, Wener and Watherspoon all teamed up for a smart triple play and a goal. Wener banged in Taylor's pass and McKay and Anderson battled their way in on top of the goal to score Scona's sixth and last marker.

SUTTON SCORES

Late in the middle frame Sutton wound through the entire Scona team and finished off his smart play with driving the rubber almost through the net. From then on Scona dropped back to protect their three-goal lead. Garneau cut it down to two when Sutton made good on Podersky's pass, but they could do no better than that.

LINEUPS

Scona: Gaunce; MacDonnell, Mould, McKay, Anderson; Taylor, Watherspoon, Wener, Carse, Jones, Tinkham and Martin.

Garneau: Smith; West, Sutton; Brown, Campbell, T. West, Oakes, Miller, Harley, Podersky.

Referee, Bill Carse.

Jamaica's Eleven Has Fine Innings

KINGSTON, Jamaica, March 15.—Led by the brilliant George Headley, Jamaica's "Black Bradman," the picked West Indies eleven scored 235 runs for the loss of two wickets Thursday as they opened their fourth and final test match against the touring Marylebone cricket club team.

Headley had 132 not out when stumps were drawn. His partner, J. E. D. Sealey, also showed complete mastery of the M.C.C. bowling, with 60 not out.

Superiors Battle Kimberley; Junior Game On Saturday

Seniors Clash in Third Tilt Tonight—Junior Game Also Here

Edmonton's junior and senior hockey brigades are still fighting desperately for inter-provincial honors in the Allan Cup and Memorial Cup playdowns, despite their stinging defeats in the first games of a best two-of-three series.

Ira Stuart's Superiors vaulted right back into the play-off picture, forcing a third game tonight, for they triumphed 3-1 over Kimberley Dynamiters in the second clash yesterday. The final game will be played this evening at the Arena, starting at 8:30 o'clock.

JUNIOR GAME HERE

On the junior front Canadians were humbled—yes, by an overwhelming score—but that great fighting band of pucksters rest until Saturday when they again take up the battle with Saskatoon Wesleys in the second game here. They are confident the score will be in their favor Saturday.

It was a rugged battle last night, won by Superiors in their hunt for revenge, and with the stakes higher tonight the game is expected to be more keenly fought.

Although both teams had players on the injured list after last night's game, they are thought to be able to play at full strength again this evening.

Lefty Grove and Lammie are the more serious injured on the Superior team. Grove, with a gash on his head, caused when he was struck by the Kimberley net guardian, while Lammie suffered a body injury. Both are expected to be in action tonight.

Kimberley also has injured players. Their big "tough" defence star, Reddick by name, necessitated doctors' treatments, but is also expected to be in action. It's to be a desperate struggle.

Saturday night Canadians are hopeful of staging a comeback in their second game. Although they feel the sting of their first defeat, there is no great worry in the Canadians' camp. They are confident of turning back the Saskatoon aggregation, but they will be forced to fight their best, nd that is a lot better than they showed at Saskatoon.

Ticket sales for the senior game tonight and the junior clash Saturday opened at Mike's this morning and a rush for both games is expected.

Port Arthur Wins In Senior Final

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., March 15.—Port Arthur Bearcats defeated Winnipeg Falcons 3-0 here last night in the first of a three game series in the Allan Cup playdowns between the Thunder Bay senior hockey league champions and the Manitoba winners. The second game will be played here Saturday.

Amateur Boxing Tourney At Memorial Hall This Evening

Fourteen bouts, contested between the best in Northern Alberta, is the amateur elimination tournament scheduled for the Memorial Hall this evening. The action will get underway promptly at 8:00 o'clock and the meet is held under the direction of the Edmonton Amateur Boxing and Wrestling Association.

According to R. G. Stevenson, secretary of the association, there will be more than 14 fine bouts and the winners of tonight's jousts will advance to the provincial finals at Calgary. The finals will be held in the southern city on April 1 and 2.

All contestants are requested to report at the Memorial Hall not later than 6:00 o'clock this evening. They will all weigh-in at this hour and will undergo the usual doctor's examination. It is essential that contestants be on time.

There has always been real fighting enjoyment in past amateur tournaments for the Northern Alberta titles, and the rivalry shown by the boys has been keenly contested.

BOSTON CLINCHES LEADERSHIP

Triumphs 5-4 Over New York

Bruising Bruins Battle Toronto for Sure In Play-offs

NEW YORK, March 14. — Boston Bruins clinched the right to meet Toronto Maple Leafs for the National Hockey League championship by defeating New York Americans 5-4 last night, while Detroit Redwings were flying to a 4-3 win over Chicago Hawks. It was Boston's tenth straight game without a loss.

Max Kaminsky

The Amerks' final home game of the season was saved from being a dismal affair for the 8,000 fans by two come-back bursts, one which tied the score in the second period and another which barely failed to knot the count in the semi-final minute.

The final burst brought three goals in 25 seconds while Babe Siebert of Boston was in the penalty box. Peggy O'Neill of Saskatoon scored the first on a break-away play engineered by Max Kaminsky and that proved to be the winning counter as the next two plays brought New York goals by Art Chapman of Winnipeg and Lorne Carr.

In the first period Eddie Shore was credited with a goal when Al Murray shoved the puck into his own net trying to clear, and Jerry Shannon made it 2-0 for Boston. Red Conn and Carr evened the count in the middle of the second, only to have Nels Stewart and Charlie Sands build up a 4-2 lead for the Bruins.

LINEUP

Boston: Thompson; Shore, McInenly; Kaminsky, Clapper, Barry. Subs: Shill, O'Neill, Stewart, Beattie, Haynes, Shannon, Sands, Davie, Siebert.

SUMMARY

First Period: 1—Boston, Shore 7.08. 2—Boston, Shannon (O'Neill) 9.29. Penalty: Shannon.

Second Period: 3—Americans, Conn (Emms-Oliver) 7.36. 4—Americans, Carr (Chapman-Schriner) 10.21. 5—Boston, Stewart (Sands-Shore) 14.59. Penalties: O'Neill, Smith, Haynes.

Third Period: 6—Boston, Sands 6.28. 7—Boston, O'Neill (Kaminsky) 18.05. 8—Americans, Chapman 18.18. 9—Americans, Carr (Chapman-Schriner-Himes) 18.30. Penalties: Haynes; Emms, Siebert.

DETROIT O'S WIN PLAY-OFF BERTH

DETROIT, March 15. — "Mud" Bruneteau last night started Detroit off on an overtime period four-goal scoring splurge that gave them a 5-1 victory over London Tecumsehs. The win, witnessed by 10,358 fans, gave Olympics a playoff berth in the International league.

In the first period Cooper scored for Detroit and Eric Pettinger, London's Regina playmaker tied it up in the second.

SEMI-FINALS ENGLISH CUP ON SATURDAY

Elevens Are Ready For Games at Leeds and Birmingham

LONDON, March 15.—Semi-finalists for the English cup are putting finishing touches to their plans for the big games scheduled for Saturday at Leeds and Birmingham.

West Bromwich Albion meets Bolton Wanderers on the grounds of Leeds United, while Burnley and Sheffield Wednesday clash at the Aston Villa enclosure.

Hoping to qualify for their fourth cup final the Wanderers will field the same team that defeated Everton in the sixth round. The following players make up the team: Jones, Smith, Finney, Goslin, Atkinson, G. Taylor, G. T. Taylor, Eastham, Milsom, Westwood and Cook. Nine of these players will play in their first semi-final. Finney possesses two cup-final medals and Cook one.

Sheffield Wednesday officials are optimistic. All members of the team are fit and the following are expected to take the field: Brown, Nibloe, Catlin, Sharp, Millership, Burrows, Hooper, Surtees, Palethrope, Starling and Rimmer.

The Wednesday is generally admitted to be the more scientific side, but Burnley's hopes are based chiefly on stamina and forceful methods. The following are expected to play: Scott, Richmond, Waterfield, J. Brown, Wallace, Robinson, Hancock, G. Brown, Smith, Hornby and Downes.

Oilers Move Up

TULSA, Okla., March 15.—Scoring twice in each of the first two periods, Tulsa Oilers walloped Kansas City Greyhounds last night in an American Hockey Association match 4-1. The victory gave Tulsa possession of second place in the race.

BASEBALL

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—The hond-out of Hank Leiber, which got a lot of publicity because neither he nor Manager Bill Terry did any serious talking about it, has come to an end. After several days of training with the regular enrolled members of the squad and appearing in exhibition games, he signed up yesterday.

ORLANDO, Fla. — Manager Casey Stengel remained discreetly silent, but Joseph Gilleaudeau, vice-president of the Dodgers, had it figured out that Brooklyn would win 95 games this season. Figuring Van Lingle Mungo as a 20-game winner, Gilleaudeau rated the list of hurlers as follows: Dutch Leonard, 17; Ray Benge, 16; Johnny Babich, 15; Watson Clark, 10; Frank Lamanske and Bob Logan, a total of 12; and Tom Sachary, five.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. — Rumors were revived here of the possibility of Oscar Melillo, Browns' veteran second baseman, being traded to the Boston Red Sox.

Manager Rogers Hornsby flatly denied any such deal was pending, but added "if the Sox have anything to offer that might strengthen us we'll consider the matter."

The Sox tried to trade for Melillo last winter, but now, with Max Bishop attempting a comeback at second base, they may have no need for a second sacker.

LAKELANE, Fla. — Mickey Cochrane is making a very careful estimate this week of the potential reserve talent among the rookie fielders who came up for a spring trial with the Detroit Tigers this year.

He put Bob Seeds, Dixie Howell, Salty Parker and Corporal G. C. Owens from Fort Bragg in the Yannigan lineup and watched them perform against the regulars for several innings. Howell had three hits in three trips and a perfect day afield.

the Soops were the better players last night. . . . Simple, isn't it?

No foolin' Unk, the Soops were worth their win, every bit. . . . This win put them up even with the Dynamiters in the series and now, if they can win tonight's game, it will be them instead of the B.C. boys that will be marching along that Allan cup trail. . . However, neither one of them is a cinch, so leave the bankroll in the pouch and don't say after it's over that I told you to do any betting.

One of the side attractions at the Arena last night, by the way, was the between-periods performance of "Heartless Harold" McMasters, who is also known to himself as the "Alberta Assassin." . . . The sometime boxer-wrestler who is an indoor and outdoor "advertising agent" during working hours, left the sandwich-boards at home last night. . . . Instead, when he came out to skate, the heartless one carried a neatly painted placard announcing it was his farewell appearance for the season, which was undoubtedly news to everyone but he and the placard painter. . . Harold was apparently determined to make his last appearance his best, so he added a little something extra to his various tricks, most of which consist of headlong or backward falls on the ice, not always intentional. . . . He will have to make a few more "farewell tours," though, to be in the same class with some of the artists of the theatre and concert stage that used to come to the Opry House. . . . All for now.

Goldie Is Star For Canadiens

Goldsworthy Again Stars As Montreal Six Beats Faltering Rangers

MONTREAL, March 15—A second-period scoring burst that netted five goals in 10 minutes and wiped out a two-goal deficit was sufficient to give Montreal Canadiens a 5-4 victory over New York Rangers before 5,000 fans here last night.

Goldsworthy

Two goals in the closing minutes of the game almost tied the count for Rangers. They slammed home the two goals in half a minute to make the count 5-4.

Seven goals were marked up in a hectic second period. Frankie Boucher opened the scoring and was followed by Cecil Dillon.

A penalty to Earl Seibert gave Canadiens their chance as Nels Crutchfield took advantage to start a scoring spree that ended 10 minutes later after five goals had been shoved home. Leroy Goldsworthy of Edmonton got two of them, Jack McGill one and Wildor Larochelle the other.

With five minutes to play and with Harold Starr resting on the penalty bench, Bill McKenzie worked his way through the whole Canuck team alone to make the count 5-3. Half a minute later, Lynn Patrick took Ott Heller's pass to beat Cude and bring Rangers back in the game.

Detroit Humbles Chicago By 4-3

CHICAGO, March 15.—Out of the Stanley Cup playdowns themselves, Detroit Red Wings downed Chicago Black Hawks by 4-3 Thursday night and ruined the Stanley cup-holders' hopes of earning the right to meet Toronto for the National Hockey League title.

Cooney Weiland

A free-for-all fight after four minutes of the second period resulted in major penalties for Ebbie Goodfellow of Detroit and Art Wiebe of the Hawks.

The score was tied three times before Aurie, Detroit winger, on a close pass from Cooney Weiland beat Lorne Chabot in the final period.

Paul Thompson scored first for Chicago and Scotty Bowman tied it three minutes later. Johnny Gottselig beat Goalie John Roach at 9:45, while Weiland scored in 15:45.

In the second period, the Wings took a lead on John Sorrell's goal in 12:15. Gottselig banged in his second goal in the last period.

LINEUPS

FALCONS UPSET BISON'S HOPES

FORT ERIE, Ont., March 15. — Playoff hopes of Buffalo Bisons were dealt a rude blow last night as Cleveland Falcons upset the Bisons 4-3 in a fast, rough game. The defeat left Bisons two points behind Cleveland in third place, tied with Syracuse Stars, who have one more scheduled game to play than Buffalo.

The Bisons came from behind with a rush in the third period, trying vainly to cut down an early Cleveland lead. They tied the score on goals by Cliff Barton and Tiny Teasdale, only to have Roger Cormier score the winning goal for Falcons at the 12.55 mark. Cormier also scored in the first period with other Cleveland goals coming from Mike Brophy and Bud Cook. Roter Roth scored the other Bison goal.

Boston Cubs Win Over Beavers, 10-3

BOSTON, March 15. — Having clinched first place in the Canadian-American hockey league campaign, Boston Cubs played all out last night anyway and overwhelmed the second-place Quebec Beavers 10-3 at the arena.

For Boston, Blake scored twice, Motter twice, Carrigan twice, and Halliday, Giroux and Jackson once. Wilson, Bourgeault and Field counted for Quebec.
